Today

From Tropics North.
The Borah Four Point.
But Other Things First.
Bear, Trout, and Coolidge.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 13.

MANY INTERESTING things, much strange and beautiful country seen, many interesting newspapers read, traveling on the Seaboard and Pennsylvania railroads from Miami to New York.

In two days and one night you travel from the flaming flowers, heavily loaded coconut trees of Florida, through Georgia's cotton fields, with plants often as high as a man's shoulders, on through the political machinery of Washington and to the real north which begins at Philadelphia.

"ONE CROP" condition does not exist everywhere in the south. Crossing the Florida line into Georgia, south of Savannah, you see on one side of the track the usual big cotton field, beside it an equally big cornfield.

On the other side of the track a young orange grove, with stacks of hay piled up between the rows of trees, the hay grown until the trees attain full size, and adjoining the grove a big field devoted to sweet potatoes, and next to that a cow pasture.

There in a half dozen fields, is everything that human beings actually need, cotton for clothing, oranges for health, beef and milk for strength, potatoes for bulk and starch.

FLORIDA CLAIMS the world's most fertile soil, Egypt or Mesopotamia not excepted, and proves it this fall with the world's biggest sweet potato or "yam," described by the editor of the Clermont Press, grown by E. W. Pope.

This potato is 35 inches, almost a yard long, wide in proportion and "long enough to wrap clean around a baked possum."

OFF TO the northwest, Nebraska reports a return of the prairie hen, once so numerous as to be almost a pest. The "prairie chickens" had practically disappeared.

Two men on horseback would drag a long wire between them along the prairie brush, a third man walking behind them, slaughtering the birds as they flew up. Better than Scotch grouse, partridge or any other game bird, the prairie hen could be brought back in millions with a little common sense.

THE SPEECH that Calvin Coolidge made for the Republican party is more important than these trifles, but you have read every word of that. You will bear in mind the Coolidge statement that "our tariff and trade regulations in general are more favorable to the rest of the world than their tariffs and regulations to us. About two-thirds of our enormous imports and all our exports are free of duty."

It is important for American workers to remember that to get rid of the tariff would make them compete on even terms with European labor that is paid with cheap money, also with Chinese and Japanese labor, paid so little that you might call it slave labor, pay only sufficient to feed the worker.

PRESIDENT HOOVER has a twelve-point program, and Gov. Roosevelt a twelve-point program. Before stopping to consider Senator Borah's abbreviated four-point program, you might like to hear about the most bitterly disappointed man in all our depression.

His name is Robert Reidt, his business predicting disaster. He had arranged positively for the world to end yesterday, October 11, and was not guessing, for he had "checked the Book of Revelations" with numerology and astrology, and it worked out perfectly. But the world did not end.

AS A FISHERMAN you will be interested in the fourteen-inch rainbow trout that came up in the Hood River, Oregon with the hooks of two fishermen in his mouth.

He had taken both their baits in swift succession, trying to swallow too much. That is what some of the gentlemen in Wall Street did recently. They also were "hooked" with their friends.

JOHN PIEME, who has a homestead of 240 acres near Calusa, Cal., will start a rattlesnake farm. Chinese pay from seventy-five cents to two dollars for rattlesnakes, depending on the size, and use them "medicinally."

Florida Everglades are the place for a rattlesnake farm. Howard Hill, a good Floridian, will tell you that a first-class Florida rattlesnake could eat for breakfast as many snakes as Mr Pieme could raise in a year.

Mr. Hill, of Opalocka, Fla., a few days ago killed a rattlesnake as big around as your thigh, long as a fair-sized boa constrictor He rattled "like a gentleman," to give a warning, and was only three feet away.

Florida calls the rattlesnake "a gentleman" because he gives warning, unless you step on him when he is asleep. He "bites low," and a boot eighteen inches high is enough protection anywhere, unless you touch a rattlesnake on top of a log.

STUDYING BIRTH statistics, A. F. Dutton shows that the child of a father seventy years old has fifty times better mental chance than one whose father is under forty-five. A father of sixty gives his child a ten times better chance than if the father is under forty

The father of Pitt, who was chancellor of the exchequer at twenty-one and prime minister at twenty-five was fifty-one, and Samuel Johnson's father was fifty-three

Plato knew about this more than two thousand years ago.

QUIZ CALLS UTILITIES RECORDS

Philadelphia Company Books Subpenaed By Committee

By MARK SHIELDS

All books and papers of the Philadelphia Company having to do with rates and operating costs have been subpenaed by the Senate Utilities Committee.

Together with these documents the committee is asking for any accounts, private or general, on which the name of the late Arthur W. Thompson appeared when he was president of the Philadelphia Company.

Subpenaed to produce the books are C. J. Braun, treasurer of the company; C. S. Mitchell, controller, and Winfield B. Carson, secretary.

The witness will appear before the committee at its next meeting in Harrisburg for questioning by committee members and O K. Eaton, chief counsel of the Senate inquisitors.

MEETING DELAYED

The next meeting of the committtee is set for October 21, the session scheduled for tomorrow having been postponed because of a death in the family of Senator William S. Rial, chairman of the committee.

Meanwhile, Eaton is in Harrisburg studying the records of previous hearings and the charges, with supporting evidence, furnished the Senate by Gov. Pinchot in a series of messages and public statements.

From the Public Service Commission the committee has requisitioned all documents pertaining to applications for independent bus permits in the Pittsburgh district within the past 10 years

Eaton, in advance of the production of the books and the appearance of witnesses, declined to

Racketeer, Ex-Aide Of Tunney, Slain

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Oct 13.—(AP.)—Bullets, believed to have come from racketeers pistols, killed John Grosso, former sparring partner for Gene Tunney and Jack Sharkey, as he sauntered home from a dance early today.

The killers assailed him on a brightly lighted street, leaving him dead of four wounds Grosso 26-year-old heavyweight, had entered racketeering in the last two years, police said.

Mob Hangs Chinese Accused in Slaying

HARBIN, Manchuria, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—An infuriated crowd last night lynched the Chinese bandit accused of killing Mrs. C. T. Woodruff, an Englishwoman, yesterday, as she tried to prevent kidnaping of her three children.

Mountain Climber Killed On Pyramid

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Rand Herrom, American mountain climber, plunged to instant death from the top of the Great Pyramid today while trying to climb it.

Troops Fire on Pickets Fleeing Barracks

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Troops hurried out into the country today on a report that 200 strikers had loaded a barn with ammunition. Thirty men fled from the barn, but were nearly all captured after an exciting chase over ditches, hog wallows and hedges.

Nothing was found in the barn, but 12 more strikers were arrested after Mrs. Frank Fesser drew attention to the house by a verbal attack on thet roops for running off the men who had rented the barn as sleeping quarters, she said.

Half a dozen shots were fired by the guardsmen at the fleeing miners. No one was injured.

Previously, miner pickets slipped up behind a guardsman of the 106th Cavalry at the Peabody Mine No. 58, at Hewittville, today, struck him on the head and disarmed him.

This incident followed the shooting earlier of Ike McGuire, a miner. At St. Vincent's Hospital, the soldier, E. D. Hancock, of Springfield, was suffering from a scalp wound.

Stranded, She Charges

MARJORIE BROWN JOSCAK . . . TESTIFIES IN DIVORCE SUIT

Mrs. Joscak, daughter of Harry Brown, downtown theater manager, who today in Judge Dithrich's divorce court testied in her suit against Joseph K. Joscak, Jr., show business figure, that he stranded her in California, struk her and had never supported her.

SEEKS DIVORCE FOR ABUSE

Marjorie Brown Joscak, daughter of Harry Brown, manager of a downtown theater, has been married for 10 years, but they haven't been happy years.

She so testified before Judge W. Heber Dithrich today in her uncontested divorce action against Joseph K. Joscak, Jr., who is in the show business.

Shortly after their marriage he abused her and struck her; he left her stranded in California last January and she had to wire home for money, and he never supported her, were the charges she made today from the witness stand.

Stiffkey's Rector Loses Church Appeal

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(INS.)—The appeal of the Rev. Harold Francis Davidson, former rector of Stiffkey Church, Norfolk, from his conviction by a Consistory Court on charges involving London girls, was dismissed today.

Davidson raised funds for his appeal by fasting in a barrel in a sideshow at Blackpool. The court's conviction provided for the clergyman's unfrocking and deprivation of his pastorate.

'WHEELING KID' GETS 4 MONTHS

The Wheeling Kid is going away.

They're going to take him to Erie County and put him in jail for four months.

The Wheeling Kid stood up in Federal Court today, and when they called his name—John Duffy—admitted he had tried to give Uncle Sam the cold shoulder.

Uncle Sam wanted to know why he hadn't filed an income tax report for 1929 and 1930 on a gross income of $646,000.

But all the Wheeling Kid did was to stick out his chin and plead guilty.

His attorney, Al M. Oliver, admitted that the Kid was a gambler, but he emphasized that the Kid's customers were people of means who could afford to lose. But Oliver didn't say a word about that bundle of rubber checks some of those customers gave. Those checks are still bouncing.

Judge R. M. Gibson also fined the Kid $500 and costs. The Judge granted Oliver's request that the Kid be sent to some jail other than Allegheny.

Idle Mine Reopens, Gives Work to 75

W. B. Phillips, president of the South Hills Coal Company, yesterday announced the reopening of the company's mine in Elwyn road, Baldwin Township, after an idleness of seven months. Seventy-five men are required to handle the mine's daily output of 500 tons. A retail yard is operated in connection with the mine.

Beaver Convict Escapes Rockview

Michael Gable, 29, Beaver County robber, today escaped from the Rockview Penitentiary, according to prison authorities.

Gable was sent to the penitentiary from Beaver County July 9 to serve three to 10 years for breaking and entering.

B. E. F. VETS 'MUZZLED' BY HOOVER

Visit President, But Censure Resolution Goes to Hines

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—President Hoover today finaly met a delegation of the Bonus Expeditionary Force which was routed from Washington last summer.

But the group, headed by Capt. Hoke Smith, did not present to the President the resolution of censure adopted recently at the B. E. F. convention at Uniontown, Pa.

They left after they had "paid their respects, tendered their support and pledged their loyalty to the President and the Constitution," according to a White House statement.

RESOLUTION 'OFFENSIVE'

The Uniontown resolution was handed to Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, federal administrator of veterans' affairs, after Capt. Smith had conferred for more than an hour with Walter Newton, political secretary to Mr. Hoover. Newton declared it was "offensive to the President."

Smith was reluctant to talk as he left the White House. He evaded all questions concerning his conference with Newton, which had run over an hour. Although Smith did not know it, a stenographer behind a screen took a shorthand report of this conversation.

Smith was in Newton's office so long that two of his companions became alarmed and asked Capt. Dalrymple, of the White House police, for permission to go into the secretary's office "as a bodyguard." One of the exd-service men said:

"One of our leaders disappeared mysteriously."

It was assumed he referred to W. W. Waters' disappearance here during a greater part of the day the bonus army was being evicted last July.

"The things we ask for are not within the power of the President to grant and must be acted upon by Congress."

BOY VICTIM MAY CLEAR AX DEATHS

Three Suitors Linked In Triple Killing; Two Grilled

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 13.—The love affairs of a murdered woman were being traced today while hope was entertained that her small son would live to tell what he knows concerning the ax killing of his mother, his grandmother and 11-year-old sister.

Little Billy Tressler, 9, rallied today from the wounds he suffered at the hands of the killer, to involve another man, police said, in the investigation of the killing of Mrs. Nellie Tressler, 28, his mother; Mrs. Amanda Harden, 62, the grandmother, and 11-year-old Sadie Tressler, the boy's sister. They were found slain at their three-room house here yesterday.

BOY NAMES THREE

The police said the boy told them George Lohr, about 30 years old, Philip Renda, 48, indentified as his mother's suitor, and a third man whose name the police would not reveal, were at the Tressler

7 HELD IN WAR ON BANDITS

The roundup followed a "tip" to the police that an attempt was to be made to "stickup" the William Penn Theater, in Federal street. The holdup never materialized The two police waited some time and then, they said, visited the apartment of Pearl Michaels, 27, at 524 Lockhart street, where they arrested Arthur Snyder, 38, 1204 Arch street; May Whitehead, 28, and Robert L. Whitehead, 31, both of 422 Arch street, and the Michaels woman.

Later, Maxine Bia, 17, of 524 Lockhart street, and Edward Nolen, 23, Allegheny River houseboat resident, were arrested.

The seventh prisoner, Roy Davis, 25, of Sandusky street, is believed to have knowledge of certain holdups, the police said.

In North Side Police Court today the police announced Snyder had been identified as one of a mob that held up the Acme Garage at 807 East Diamond street, stole a car and kidnaped the watchman. The others arraigned today have no connection with this gang, the police said.

Hal Roach's Plane Down at Johnstown

Hal Roach, motion picture producer, today was forced down at Johnstown when weather conditions prevented a continuance of his airplane flight from New York to California. Roach continued to Pittsburgh by train, planning to leave here tomorrow by plane upon arrival of his pilot.

Roach had completed a business survey of the country. He said conditions were encouraging and the increased production program scheduled for this year would be carried through.

Garment Merchant Dies by Hanging

In a washroom of his Model Garment Company store at 915 Fifth avenue, Leon Plotkin, 48, hanged himself today, the Coroner's office reported. A son, Arthur, who discovered the body, said his father had worried over financial troubles. He lived at 2024 Wightman street.

Fatally Shot

HOWARD B. OURSLER

Mr. Oursler, one-time secretary to Pittsburgh's Mayor Magee and the city's first supplies director, as a dry agent fatally shot at Stillwell, Okla.

'NUMBERS,' RUM RAIDS PUSHED

Acting on complaints made to Judge Frank P. Patterson, whose recent denouncement of laxity in suppressing rackets led to a clean-up drive, county detectives today madet wo raids on alleged "numbers" headquarters in Wilkinsburg, and seized 200 cases of home brew in a Bloomfield apartment.

Detective Chief George Murren said the Wilkinsburg raids would "break the back" of the "numbers" racket in that borough. John Lesko and Vincent Tolino were arrested and held for court under $2,500 bail each on charges of operating lotteries. Lesko was alleged to have operated a place at 1005 Swissvale avenue and Tolino one at 705 Wood street. Tolino was fined $50 by Burgess William M. Turner, of Wilkinsburg, on a similar charge a week ago Saturday.

John Nemo who was released on bail yesterday on a charge of violating the Snyder act, was sought in connection with the Bloomfield raid. County Detectives Frank Ritz and Michael Malone said they found 200 cases of beer at 4811 Yew street, and that it belonged to Nemo.

Boni De Castellane, Anna Gould's 'Ex', Ill

PARIS, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—The Marquis de Castellane, former husband of Anna Gould, American heiress, and for many years one of the most conspicuous figures in French society, was seriously ill today, and doctors said they could not be certain of the outcome.

FEDERAL DRY KILLED BY SUSPECT

Oursler Shot to Death On Oklahoma Job As Federal 'Dry'

Howard B. Oursler, Pittsburgh's first director of supplies, and secretary to former Mayor William A. Magee, was shot and killed in Stillwell, Okla., last night while, as a federal prohibition agent, he was attempting to arrest an alleged dry law violator, according to word received here today.

A telegram, announcing Oursler's death was received at the home of his mother, Mrs. Rebecca M. Oursler, 246 Cedar boulevard, Mt. Lebanon, confirming the identity of the agent reported slain, by an Associated Press dispatch.

POLITICIAN HUNTED

Posses, joined by Col. George H. Wark, of Kansas City district prohibition director, were reported scouring the hills east of Stillwell for Ed Dudley, Republican candidate for constable of Stillwell, who is charged with the slaying.

According to the news dispatch, when Oursler and Elmer Philpotts, prohibition agents out of Muskogee, sought to question Dudley on a street in Stillwell concerning the alleged sale of whisky, witnesses said Dudley jerked Oursler's pistol from its holster as Oursler cautioned:

"Put that gun down; it isn't worth it."

Oursler fell, mortally wounded, and died soon afterward in a hospital. Philpotts was wounded in the knee.

Oursler, 59, a past commander of Allegheny Commandery No. 35, Knights Templar, a Spanish-American War veteran and a former Pennsylvania National Guard captain, was well known in Masonic and military circles of Pittsburgh. For a time he headed the Boy Scout movement here.

MAGEE SECRETARY

As secretary to Magee, Oursler installed the paymaster plan as well as the present centralized telephone exchange. He was credited with organizing the city purchasing system and became the first director when a department was created.

Former Mayor Magee, to whom Oursler, for several years, was confidential aide, pronounced him the "best man on detail in the City of Pittsburgh.

Oursler followed various pursuits after leaving the city employ. He went to the Muskogee enforcement office last July following a four-year service in Kansas City. He recently had applied for superintendency of the Gettysburg Battlefield, it was learned.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. May Oursler; his mother and five sisters. His body will be brought here for burial.

Football Fan, 77, Tackled by Mistake

LYNN, Mass., Oct. 13.—(INS.)—John Fitzpatrick, 77, was in the hospital today with a fractured hip, received when he was tackled by mistake by a player as he watched a football game.

Poll Reflects No Smith Aid to Roosevelt

By COLE E. MORGAN
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Any advantage to be gained in New England and the East for the Democratic presidential ticket from the political reconciliation of Gov. Roosevelt and former Gov. Smith has not shown itself as yet in returns in the nationwide presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States.

New ballots tabulated today from the six New England states and New York and New Jersey showed President Hoover adding substantially to his previous majorities in each state.

As the eight states now stand, all in New England except R Island appear safe for H with 60 per cent or more o poll ballots to his credit. Island appears reasonably with a 56 per cent division New Jersey reasonably safe a 57 per cent advantage.

New York still presents a ba ground aspect, but with the vantage on Hoover's side, he ing 52 per cent of the poll vot

HOOVER WARNS AGAINST 'FALSE PROPHETS' IN TALK TO BAR

LAWYERS TOLD TO RID RANKS OF UNFIT

Form of Government on Trial, but Must Be Preserved

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—A declaration that the American form of government is on trial in the eyes of millions of citizens and threatened by "false prophets of a millennium," was made last night by President Hoover before the American Bar Association.

Addressing the lawyers and judges the President urged that they resist "the pressure of public clamor." He asserted:

"Today, perhaps as never before, our very form of government is on trial in the eyes of millions of our citizens. Economic stresses of unparalleled magnitude have wracked our people, and in their distress some are tempted to lay the blame for their troubles upon the system of government under which they live.

WARNS OF DANGERS

"It is a not unnatural instinct, however mistaken it may be. It can be a dangerous thing if wise and trusted men fail to explain to the people how often in history the people's interests have been betrayed by false prophets of a millennium, promised through seductive but unworkable and disastrous theories of government.

"Yet even here, it is better that we should witness some instances of failure of municipal and state governments to discharge responsibilities in protection and government of their people rather than that we should drive this republic to a centralization which will mean the deadening of its great mainspring of progress, which is the discovery and experimentation and advancement by the local community."

After referring to the judicial system as "the citadel of the rights of the poor against the oppression of rulers and against the extortion of the rapicious," the President demanded that the legal profession clean house. He insisted:

"In spite of the fact that crime has frequently become interstate, the suppression of crime is still most effectively accomplished locally, and fundamentally must remain the responsibility of the state and local governments.

COURT DELAYS SCORED

"Your court procedures are unwieldy. One of the most disheartening difficulties of zealous officers of government is the law's delays, during which evidence loses its value, witnesses die and criminals are encouraged to believe that through its maze of technicalities justice can be neither swift nor sure.

"There is another field of urgent reform in the fields of justice—that is, the laws, the technicalities, the procedure, the cost of civil actions, of management of estates, or bankruptcies, and of receiverships. These laws and procedures have failed to keep pace with all the growing complexities of economic and business life, and they must be simplified that their costs and their economic wastes be reduced.

"A corollary duty, one that will hasten this end, is that you shall purge your profession of men unworthy of its trust . . . they use the complexities of law and procedure."

HOOVER TO TALK IN M'KEESPORT

President Hoover, en route to Cleveland Saturday for his second major address in his campaign for re-election, will make car platform appearances in McKeesport and Braddock, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

The two stops in the Pittsburgh district are among eight scheduled by the campaign committee, the others being Martinsburg, W. Va., Cumberland, Md., Connellsville, Pa., New Castle, Pa., Youngstown, O., and Akron, O.

The President's special train on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will leave Washington shortly after daybreak. It is due to reach Cleveland at 8:30 p. m.

Supreme Court Building Cornerstone Laid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—In the presence of a distinguished audience of the judiciary and the American Bar Association, the cornerstone for the new home of the Supreme Court of the United States was laid today with President Hoover officiating.

After he had handled the tiny trowel while rain fell softly, he passed it to Chief Justice Hughes, who also dabbed mortar on the huge marble stone; and then stepped aside for Guy A. Thompson, of St. Louis, president of the Bar Association, to do the same.

Beginning while John W. Davis was delivering an address on behalf of the bar of the Supreme Court, the drizzle continued throughout the brief ceremony held across the plaza fronting the Capitol.

All members of the Supreme Court save Louis D. Brandeis were present. Aged 76, he stayed away because he feared the chill weather. In the audience that watched the ceremonies at the partially completed structure were Frank B. Kellogg, former Secretary of State; the Marquis of Reading, British statesman, and his wife, and several members of the cabinet.

President Hoover did not speak.

G. O. P. Shifts to Meet Public Appeal Charged

Market Strategy in Saturday Address, Says Lawrence

Republican political strategists have discovered a way to avert a drop in the stock market the day following each speech of President Hoover, Democratic County Chairman David L. Lawrence told the Democratic Women's Club last night in a meeting at William Penn Hotel. Citing the President's Des Moines speech, with a falling market the next day, Lawrence said his advisers had scheduled him Saturday night in Cleveland to take advantage of the Sunday closing of the market.

'EXPEDIENT SHIFTING'

Lawrence charged that the whole Republican strategy was an expedient shifting, citing the attitude on prohibition and foreign loans. He said:

"The Republicans started out in Chicago to play ball with their ally of 1928, the Anti-Saloon League, but after the Democratic convention pledged the party to outright appeal, an action which was acclaimed throughout the country, the Republican candidate made a speech in which he tried to show he is not as dry as his hand-picked delegates painted him to be.

"Next, after Mr. Hoover had all the international bankers believing he was going to be easy with foreign nations on their debts, the pulse of the nation was felt. It was found this attitude was not being received well, and he changed again in his Des Moines speech."

DAILY MEETINGS

Noon meetings are being held at Democratic headquarters, Fourth avenue. James L. Quinn, candidate for the Legislature from the Tenth District, spoke today.

James Murtha, of the North Side Democratic organization, announced that Division 370, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, had indorsed the Roosevelt-Garner ticket.

Democratic leaders are making preparations for a huge meeting next Wednesday night at Forbes Field, when Gov. Roosevelt will speak after having made a noon address in Wheeling.

SHOTS FLY AS 3 ROB WOMAN, 79

LATROBE, Pa., Oct. 13.—Three masked bandits today held up 79-year-old Mrs. Adaline Depetris, Lloydsville grocery store owner and service station proprietor and escaped with $30 after binding and gagging her.

After purchasing cigarets they bound her, and two went to the apartment above the store and bound her nephew, Lucian Bucci, 18, and stole a revolver from under his pillow.

As they fled in an auto, they fired at Thomas Marshall, a neighbor. He obtained the license number of their car.

GOV. ROOSEVELT WINS AT PITT

Franklin D. Roosevelt is going to be the next president of the United States, according to a poll of the students at the University of Pittsburgh.

The presidential poll was conducted by the Pitt Panther, humorous publication, and reported Roosevelt as receiving 1,355 votes out of a total of 2,912. Hoover received 912 votes.

Students supported William Z. Foster, Communist candidate, to the tune of 96 votes. Norman Thomas, the Socialist candidate, placed third with 487 votes. Of him the Panther states:

"Thomas was strong in the school of mines where he tied for second place with a man named Hoover."

Smith and Bingham On Sabin Program

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Two champions of prohibition repeal, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith and Republican Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, will address a nonpartisan testimonial banquet of the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform in honor of Mrs. Charles Sabin, October 26.

GOV. ROOSEVELT GOES ON AIR TONIGHT

Nominee Preparing for Trip to Pittsburgh, West and South

By RAYMOND I. BORST
International News Service.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt remained at the executive mansion today putting the final touches on a radio address he will deliver tonight over a nationwide hookup in which he will offer a concrete plan for federal relief for the needy and unemployed. He will be on the air from 10 to 10:30 eastern standard time.

The Democratic presidential nominee, his advisors said, will assert that the federal government should see to it that no one goes hungry during the coming winter months because of economic conditions. He is expected to declare in favor of increased public works as one means of providing employment for the jobless.

OPPOSED TO DOLE

Gov. Roosevelt has stated repeatedly that he is opposed to the dole but he is firmly "convinced that governments, state and federal, cannot stand idly by while men, who are willing to work, go hungry because they cannot secure employment." He also is on record as favoring unemployment insurance as one step toward guarding against a recurrence of present unemployment conditions.

Tonight's speech will be the last Gov. Roosevelt will deliver until he starts on his second campaign tour through the Middle West to St. Louis and south to Atlanta next Tuesday. In the course of his 3,000-mile swing, the Governor will deliver three major speeches over nation-wide radio hookups; Pittsburgh, October 19; St. Louis, October 21, and Baltimore, October 25.

SPEEKING PROGRAM

Brief speeches will be made in Rochester, Buffalo, Wheeling, W. Va., Indianapolis, Springfield, Ill., Louisville and Atlanta, and perhaps two or three other places, apart from his rear platform appearances. No stops are scheduled either in Ohio, where the Governor made the first major speech of the campaign, or in Tennessee, which his campaign advisors consider safely in the Democratic column.

The membership of his personal party will be about the same as on his far-western tour. Mrs. Roosevelt will join him either at Pittsburgh or Indianapolis and complete the tour. His eldest son, James, and Mrs. James Roosevelt, and his daughter, Mrs. Curtis B. Dall, also are expected to make the trip.

Some of his campaign managers are urging him to go to New Jersey for at least one speech, and if he does, it is possible he may continue on to Philadelphia.

ARLEN GUARDED AFTER THREATS

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—A police radio car maintained watch through the night over the home of Richard Arlen and wife, Jobyna Ralston, film players, as a precaution against possible kidnapers.

Arlen reported he had received a threatening letter, and was chased by a mysterious car while driving home last night. He outdistanced the machine, he said.

POSTAL CLERK GETS PAROLE

George R. Cook, employe of the Ferry Street Posttoffice, pleaded guilty in Federal Court today to stealing $5 from the Carson Street Postoffice and was paroled for two years by Judge R. M. Gibson in Federal Court. Postoffice inspectors said he had admitted taking $156 over a period of six months.

His was one of 65 guilty pleas entered today. There were 114 cases listed, of which 24 pleaded not guilty. Four were held up, while several were continued. In several cases bonds were forfeited. All but eight were liquor cases.

Peace Rules Belfast After 2 Days' Riots

BELFAST, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Peace prevailed here today after the unemployment riots of the last two days. Police arrested a dozen men for violation of the curfew law last night, but on the whole the order was obeyed without question.

THOMAS FLAYS INSULL CRASH

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—A statement issued today from the campaign headquarters of Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for the presidency, asserted that "it would seem to be a fair inference" that President Hoover was "well content" to have Samuel Insull in Europe. The statement read:

"Considering the speed with which President Hoover can mobilize the forces at his command to eject jobless veterans, or to come to the aid of tottering banks and bankrupt railroads, it would seem to be a fair inference that he is well content to have Insull at least as far away as Athens for the time being.

"Mr. Insull is now safely exiled in Athens with little likelihood that he will return before November to further complicate the political minuet now being danced by Hoover and Roosevelt. Obviously, if Insull were brought back at once the public would be reminded daily of the fantastic financial pyramiding permitted to Insull."

Attorney's Brother Declared Suicide

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—A Coroner's jury today found that Albert Mitchell, 49, brother of Attorney Lex N. Mitchell, of Pittsburgh, had committed suicide. The body was found by berry pickers yesterday, three weeks after he disappeared.

Man Loses Life Removing Tire From Auto

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Oct. 13.—(INS.)—Fred Pensyl, 42, a barber, lay dead today, victim of an unusual accident while attempting to remove a spare tire from his automobile.

He died 10 minutes later of a fractured skull.

INSULL REFUSES TO SURRENDER PASSPORT

Former Utility King Takes Matter Up With Lawyer

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Samuel Insull, under indictment in Chicago in connection with the collapse of his utilities interests, refused today to surrender his passport to the American consul until he had consulted his lawyer.

It was said at the American legation that the staff was without official notification in writing of Mr. Insull's release from detention or the reasons for his release.

COURT RULING

He was liberated on Tuesday after a brief detention by the Athens police when the courts ruled that since formal ratification of the Greco-American extradition treaty had not been completed there was no legal warrant for keeping him in custody.

Meanwhile, the Greek government had ordered an inquiry to establish the responsibility for the detention of Insull early this week, claiming he was held without authority.

The director of the Athens police will be called upon for an explanation, it was announced.

Mr. Insull's friends denied a report that he had been asked to leave Greece. No such request has been made, they said, and so far as they can see there is no reason why he should not remain here as long as he wants to.

They said also that Mr. Insull hopes the financial matters at issue shortly will be settled in the United States, enabling him to return under normal conditions. This morning newspapers said the American Charge d'Affaires had gone to Loutraki to consult Premier Venizelos about the affair.

Premier Venizelos arrived in Athens later today and expressed approval of the action taken by the Greek authorities in connection with the detention of Mr. Insull. He was visited at Loutraki yesterday by the American charge d'affairs.

LEGAL BATTLE

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—(INS.)—Laying the groundwork for their impending mission to Greece where they will fight for the extradition of the indicted Samuel Insull, two state's attorneys' assistants were ready to go into Criminal Court today for the purpose of taking depositions.

The assistant prosecutors, Charles A. Bellows and Andrew Vlachos, announced that the depositions will be taken from witnesses whose testimony before the Cook County grand jury resulted in the return of true bills, naming the fugitive Insull and his brother, Martin J. Insull.

Meanwhile, the United States Senate's investigation of the $2,000,000,000 Insull utilities debacle was in full swing. The inquiry was instituted by James E. Stewart, special investigator of the Banking and Currency Committee of the Senate, who came here from Washington. Under Stewart's direction, a corps of the Banking and Currency Committee's agents was examining court records and reports of receivers for the numerous light and power and holding companies founded by Samuel Insull.

SMITH TO MAKE SIX SPEECHES

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, beginning next week, will make six speeches in behalf of Democratic state and national tickets in New England, New Jersey and New York State, it was announced at his office today.

His first address will be delivered in Tammany Hall, New York City, on October 19, the announcement said. The next date, tentatively set awaiting word whether the Armory can be obtained that night, is October 24, in Newark, N. J.

Former Gov. Smith is scheduled to go into New England October 27, making speeches in Boston, and Providence, R. I., that day. Another speech is to be made October 28 somewhere in the Albany district, possibly in Albany or Troy, N. Y. The final address listed in the announcement is set for Buffalo on October 29.

Trapped Engineer's Leg Amputated With Knife

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—(INS.)—Iron nerve and stolid courage of railroading were brought under the public spotlight today.

Engineer Walter B. Smith and Fireman Michael Madigan were trapped by twisted steel in the cab of their locomotive as cars crashed on the Boston and Albany Railroad.

Dr. Maurice O'Connell, city hospital surgeon, passing the scene, saw an amputation was necessary. He was without his medical kit.

From the cab window, Dr. O'Connell shouted to the crowd:

"Has anyone got a jackknife?"

Several knives were thrust upward. Dr. O'Connell selected the largest and the one with the keenest edge. Smith calmly directed Dr. O'Connell in the surgery.

As the engineer was being hurried to City Hospital, rescuers were working with axes and acetylene torches to free Madigan. He, too, was saved and rushed to City Hospital.

TORTURE CAMP CHIEF TAKES STAND IN OWN DEFENSE

COURSON TELLS OF EFFORT TO SAVE BOY

Declares Stocks Last Resort to Hold Convict in Camp

JACKSONVILLE, Fla, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—George W. Courson, former captain of the guards at the Sunbeam Prison Camp, went on the witness stand today to defend himself against charges that he murdered Arthur Maillefert in a prison sweatbox.

Courson, who tips the scales at 285 pounds, settled himself in the chair and answered preliminary questions. He said he was a native of Georgia, is 57 years old, and has lived in Florida 34 years.

For 25 years of his life, he said, he worked as a railroad section foreman. He has been connected with the state prison camps for 12 years.

He said he worked his way up from a team foreman to a camp captain. He was acting captain at Sunbeam camp in the place of J. F. Baker when Maillefert died. He is the father of five children.

TELLS OWN STORY

Asked to tell his story about the death of Maillefert, Courson began:

"On the morning of June 1, Road Foreman Denmark brought Maillefert to camp.

"Jersey (Maillefert) said: 'Captain, I done served my sentence. I don't intend to hit another damn lick.'

"I told him: 'No, sir, your time is not made. You were sentenced to nine years and my job is to see you do it.'"

Courson said he tried to reason with the boy, but Maillefert continued to say:

"I've served my time."

"He said: 'If you don't kill me, you're yellow.'

"I told him I must be yellow then, because I was not going to kill him.

"If they had wanted you killed, they would have killed you before they sent you here.

"I asked him im he was sick or anything and he said: 'Not a thing wrong.'"

EXAMINED BY DOCTOR

Courson said he sent Maillefert back to the road work, but about 4 o'clock that afternoon "they brought him in again."

"I told him I was going to have to put him in the sweatbox and to make sure there wasn't anything wrong with him, I called a doctor and he told me he had seldom seen a better body on a man."

He called a guard to stand by and see the boy didn't escape. He said:

"Next morning I went to the box and found how he got the knife in the box.

"Jersey said to me: 'I'm going home.'

"I said 'No, you're not.'

"He said 'Well I'm going to hell then.'"

Courson related how he rigged up a barrel and put it on the boy, telling him he could walk about the yard, sit down in the sweatbox or amuse himself. He said he told the victim:

"I want you to be comfortable."

TELLS OF ESCAPE

Maillefert, still in the barrel, was put back in the sweatbox Thursday night.

The next day he still had the barrel on and that afternoon he got out and ran into the woods.

Courson told of the chase and of how he heard three shots, which is usually a signal to call the guard.

And then when " heard three more shots," he said, "I turned to the trusty with me and said 'I hope boy ain't hurt.'"

After Maillefert's recapture and return to camp, Courson told of talking to "Jersey" and asking him "What in the world am I going to do to you?"

"He said 'You can't do a damn thing but kill me.'

"I said 'No, I ain't, but there's one thing more I'm going to do to you. I'm going to build some stocks and put 'em on you and put you back in the box.'

"'Yes, and I'll tear 'em off and get away again,' he told me.

"I said 'No, you won't. I'll chain you so you can't reach them'."

Courson told of talking to the boy, trying "to make him do better" while they were putting him in the box.

They locked the box, he said, while the camp turned to the evening meal.

"Schneider (a prisoner) came to me after supper and told me Jersey had made a motion at him like he was going to kill himself.

"I called Lige Simmons (another convict) and told him to open the box and he hollered 'Cap'n, he's done it."

DECATUR, Ga., Oct. 13.—(INS.)—Two convicts wso escaped from the Jacksonville (Fla.) jail after testifying in the "sweatbox" murder trial of two chain gang guards, were captured near here early today by DeKalb County police.

The convicts, Cleo Drew and James Warford, were taken into custody in a stolen automobile.

Boy Near Death Holds Key to Triple Killing

Suitors of Widow Grilled in Ax Murders

home on the night before the killing.

Renda was taken into cutosdy yesterday and admitted he had visited the family on the eve of the slaying. Lohr was held after Billie Tressler made his statement this morning. He told police, they said, he was the father of a child born to Mrs. Tresler four years ago, but that he has not been at her home since. He said the baby died.

The police were searching for the third man the boy named. They said he lives in Connellsville. Billy told them, they said, that all three were at the house when he went to bed at 8 o'clock Tuesday night; this despite Renda's previous statement that he was the only other person there.

JEALOUSY MOTIVE

Investigating a possibility that jealousy may have been the motive in the killings, the police said they learned from associates of Mrs. Tressler that three weeks ago last Sunday she was visited by a married man from Youngwood; that Renda came to the house, and was told by Mrs. Tressler that the visitor was her uncle. The police said they learned the man was not her uncle.

A brother of Mrs. Tressler, Clyde Harden, 28, who lives at Cumberland, Md., also is being held for investigation. The police said he appeared in Connellsville shortly after midnight this morning and inquired of a man in the street the location of the Tressler home and the morgue where the bodies are held. The man to whom he addressed the inquiry was State Trooper Wood, who took him into custody.

Harden said he read of the killings in a Cumberland newspaper and rode on a freight train to Connellsville.

Meanwhile, little hope was entertained for Billy Tressler's recovery. The police attached much importance to his condition in attempting to solve the mystery.

The boy was clubbed Tuesday night and was not found until yesterday morning. His mother lay dead in the yard. His grandmother was slain and his sister fatally injured in the house.

DISCOVERED BY YOUTH

The tragedy was discovered by 11-year-old Orlando Molinaro. He found Mrs. Tressler's body in the yard while en route to a coal shed. He called neighbors, and they notified police.

Bloodstains were found this morning on a fence around the yard. The authorities hoped they would find fingerprints there and a fingerprint expert was to examine them. An ax, missing from the home, is being sought as the instrument of the killings.

Renda is being held incommunicado in the Fayette County Jail at Uniontown. His two daughters, Margaret, 15, and Rose, 22, also are being detained there. Police Chief John C. Wall said the girls' statements concerning the time their father returned home Tuesday night did not coincide with his.

Mrs. Tressler was a widow. Her husband, Milton, a World War veteran, died from the effects of poison gas in the Aspinwall Veterans' Hospital in 1927.

A low pressure area developed over the Ohio Valley states during last night, producing cloudiness and light rainfall over the Upper Ohio Valley and the lower lake region this morning. Over the country south of the Ohio River, and over the state of Indiana and westward the skies are mostly clear. The temperature dropped to 38 degrees over the city last night before cloudiness set in, and in the outlying districts heavy and damaging frost occurred. There was little change in temperature over the eastern and northern states since yesterday morning, while over the Central and Lower Mississippi Valley states there was a marked rise.

ROMANCE OVER, HASKELL DIES

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Police and a medical examiner disagreed today over the death of socially prominent William N. Haskell III, aged 28.

Haskell, son of the commander of the New York National Guard and recently the fiance of Miss Eleanor Gould, great-granddaughter of the late Jay Gould, financier, was killed in his family's Park avenue apartment last night.

Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, deputy chief medical examiner, called it suicide. Police Lieut. John Shields said Haskell was shot accidentally while cleaning his revolver. The bullet pierced his brain.

Young Haskell's engagement to Miss Gould was announced last February. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gould, announced last June the engagement had been broken by mutual consent.

WOMAN CALLED IN DEATH TRIAL

LOGAN, W. Va., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Mrs. Harry Robertson was a principal witness today at the trial of Clarence Stephenson, Negro, charged with slaying Mrs. Mamie Thurman, wife of a Logan policeman.

Her testimony related principally to blood-stained rags found in the Robertson home where Stephenson was employed. She testified that the Negro had suffered from a bleeding nose several days prior to the time Mrs. Thurman was killed.

Mrs. Robertson also testified to friendship of her husband, Harry Robertson, president of the Logan city commission, with the slain woman.

Robertson, who was arrested but not indicted, also will be called to the stand today, C. C. Chambers, defense counsel, said.

WALES LEADING TO WIN INGRID, SAY GOSSIPS

George 'Out of Picture' In Royal Romance Guessing Game

By H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Is it to be George and Ingrid? Or will the Prince of Wales himself bid for the hand of the pretty northern princess?

Or is it all just idle gossip?

These are the questions agitating British society over teacups and cocktails. The two royal brothers, who better than anyone else could answer them, are in Hamburg, Germany, after a visit to Princess Ingrid's native Stockholm.

As tradition forbids direct contact between royalty and the press, those interested in the futures of Britain's two most eligible bachelors must be content with the studied statements of equerries and secretaries.

PRINCE GEORGE 'OUT'

And the latest of these, emanating from Maj. H. W. Butler, equerry to Prince George, would appear to put the younger brother out of the matrimonial picture for the moment. It served also to revive confidence that some day the Prince of Wales and Princess Ingrid may march to the altar.

Long before the Prince of Wales and his brother went to Stockholm, it was gossiped that the visit would culminate in the betrothal of the heir to the British throne and the daughter of Sweden's King.

But upon their arrival in Stockholm on October 1, rumors shifted surprisingly, linking George and Ingrid.

During the 10-day stay in Stockholm, Prince George and Princess Ingrid were together continually.

They scanned with delight copies of London newspapers which printed daily pictures showing the couple sightseeing, shopping and visiting friends. Ingrid drove the young prince about in her own little car. The stage seemed to be set for romance.

But the princes suddenly left Stockholm for Hamburg, and when they arrived at Hamburg, Maj. Butler went on record with firm repudiation of the George-Ingrid engagement rumors.

INGRID ELIGIBLE

Many persons in a position to know believe there will be an early union between the British and Swedish royal families.

Princess Ingrid would be a charming addition. She is already related to the British royal family through her grand-uncle, the Duke of Connaught. In addition, she is the only available bride for the Prince of Wales who would fulfill the dictum of the late Queen Victoria—backed up by Parliament in its act of succession—that the bride of King George's successor must be a Protestant and a princess.

However, the Prince of Wales can legally ascend the throne a bachelor, and in spite of all these rumors, strong conviction remains that he may never marry. Rumors linking the heir with sundry other royal princesses, aristocrats and even commoners in various parts of the world have long since died out.

Rum Runners' Secret Radio Station Seized

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—The unlicensed secret radio station of a rum-running syndicate was seized by Department of Justice agents in an apartment house here. Joe Monas and George Butler were arrested. Experts set the radio's sending range at 10,000 miles.

Fear of 'Mr. Garbo' Keeps Greta Single

Just Couldn't Bear Screen's Favorite Taunt, She Says

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Greta Garbo, writing in this week's Liberty magazine, says she will not marry because she could not bear to have her husband known as "Mr. Garbo."

Referring to the tendency of the film colony to call the non-acting husbands of movie stars "So-and-So's Husband," Miss Garbo says:

"I should hate to have my husband lose his identity to that extent. Rather than that I should want to retire from the screen altogether. I should want to forget that I had ever been Greta Garbo."

In an explanation of her retirement from Hollywood social life, Miss Garbo writes that when her director, Mauritz Stiller, died, she was "like a ship without a rudder." She adds:

"I was bewildered—lost—and very lonely. I refused absolutely to talk to reporters because I didn't know what to say. By degrees I dropped out of the social whirl of Hollywood.

"I retired into my shell. I built a wall of repression around my real self and I lived—and still live—behind it.

"If I needed recreation, I liked to be out of doors; to trudge in a boy's coat and boy's shoes. Most hostesses disapprove of this trousered attitude to life, so I do not inflict it upon them.

"Besides, I am still a little nervous, a little self-conscious about my English. I feel awkward, shy, afraid."

In her discussion of marriage, Miss Garbo says the only good reason she can see for two persons marrying is that they can be together most of the time. She continued:

"That is impossible with me so long as I remain on the screen. The marriage contract which has to make the best of whatever is left over after the film contract seems rather a makeshift affair. I am in deadly earnest when I say that a film star's career is a whole-time job."

COBRA, BLIND, SHUNS KNIFE

WASHINGTON, Oct 13.—(INS.)—His majesty, the king cobra at the National Zoo, has avoided an operation on his eye by learning to eat in the dark.

The cobra, most deadly of all the reptiles in the zoo, is blind as a result of a film growth over his eye. Zoo attendants at first planned to operate to restore the sight of the snake when it refused food for a time after becoming blind. The cobra began groping for food recently, however, and has now learned to feed fairly well, according to Dr. William A. Mann, director of the zoo.

As long as the cobra continues to feed blind he will be left alone, Dr. Mann explained. The operation on the eye was calculated to be a dangerous proposition for the operator. A cobra bite is usually fatal.

Manchurian General Slays Aide of Pu-Yi

CHANGCHUN, Manchuria, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Li Yi-Hsun, staff officer of the Manchukuo privy council, was mortally wounded today when he was hacked with an ax while at dinner by Gen. Chen Shieh-Yuan, who succeeded Gen. Ma Chan-Shan as governor of the Heilungkiang province.

Gen. Chen also is a member of the privy council. He accused Li of forcing him to resign the governorship.

Swedish Count Again Thrown By Horse

He was thrown from his mount yesterday for the second time, while on a hunt near Milburn, Ill., and was bruised. Two weeks ago he suffered a similar accident.

MISS DRESSLER AGAIN AMONG MOVIE ELITE

3 'Best Actresses' Also Include Helen Hayes And Lynn Fontanne

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—The veteran actress, Marie Dressler, who last year was voted the award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for the best performance by an actress, has been nominated for the honor again this year. The award will be made November 15. Miss Dressler was among the three nominated. Lynn Fontanne and Helen Hayes being the other two.

Miss Dressler was named for her portrayal of the motherly nurse in "Emma." Last year it was her performance in "Min and Bill," in which she enacted the role of a waterfront character, that gave her the award. Miss Fontanne was nominated for the role in "The Guardsman" and Miss Hayes for her part in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet."

BEERY NOMINATED

Those nominated for the best performance by an actor were Wallace Beery in "The Champ," Alfred Lunt in "The Guardsman" and Frederic March in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Frank Borzage, King Vidor and Josef von Sternberg were the directors nominated for the academy award. Borzage was named for his production of "Bad Girl," Vidor for "The Champ" and Von Sternberg for "The Shanghai Express."

The three pictures nominated for the best photography were "Arrowsmith," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" and "The Shanghai Express."

The best original motion picture story will be chosen from Frances Marion's "The Champ," Grover Jones' and William Slavens McNutt's "Lady and Gent," Lucien Hubbard's "Star Witness" and "What Price Hollywood," by Gene Fowler, Rowland Brown and Adela Rogers St. John.

OTHER FAVORITES

Other nominations were:

PITTSBURGHER SHOT IN PARK

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—An unidentified man about 50 years old, believed to be from Pittsburgh was found unconscious on a bench in Central Park last night, a bullet wound in his right temple and an old-fashioned revolver on the walk beside him.

Physicians said he had slight chance to recover.

The man, about five feet seven inches in height, weighed 140 pounds, had gray hair and mustache, and wore a gray topcoat and hat, gray suit and tan shoes. A baggage check from the Capitol bus terminal, dated October 10, glasses with a tortoise shell frame, a jackknife and some change comprised his effects.

Police went to the bus terminal but found that the man's bag contained only some clothing with Pittsburgh store labels and Pittsburgh newspapers a week old.

Auto Breaks Down, Pair Flies to Altar

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—A plane carried a young Michigan couple from Manitowoc, Wis., where their automobile broke down, to the office of Justice of the Peace M. T. Haney, who married them.

Merwin A. White, 22, of Frankfort, Mich., and Bernadette Girke, 18, of Manistique, Mich., decided to drive 400 miles from Manistique to Waukegan to be married on Columbus Day, but their automobile broke down near Manitowoc. White then chartered the plane.

Two Amateur Kidnapers Indicted; Lost Nerve

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Two Brooklyn insurance brokers who had confessed they had kidnaped 8-year-old John Arthur Russell, son of a wealthy stock broker, because of pressing financial difficulties, were indicted today by the Kings County grand jury on charges of kidnaping and assault in the second degree. Bail was fixed at $50,000 each.

The brokers, Allen W. August, 35, and George T. Clarke, 26, pleaded not guilty, the latter by reason of insanity.

William S. Geoghan, district attorney for Kings County, said bot men had made complete confessions. Both August and Clarke a married and each has a son.

The Russell boy was kidna September 19 on his way h from school. He was taken t apartment and one of the kid ers telephoned the mother, manding $25,000 ransom.

The prisoners said that they learned of the police se they lost their nerve and nightfall released the boy, wh turned to his home unharmed.

QUIZ SUBPENAS PHILADELPHIA CO. RECORDS

indicate the line of questioning he will pursue.

It is in the Senate record, however, put there in the charges of Gov. Pinchot against W. D. B. Ainey, late chairman of the Public Service Commission, that Thompson, from an account in the Farmers Deposit Bank, paid the bills of Ainey while the commissioner was in a Baltimore hospital.

The total of the bills was more than $3,000. The committee, it is assumed, is interested in knowing whether these payments were drawn from any account in the Philadelphia Company, whose chief depository is the Farmers Bank.

When the charges were first broached, Frank R. Phillips, present head of the Philadelphia Company, said the company records showed no evidence of any payments on behalf of Ainey.

MANAGEMENT COSTS

Management costs of the Philadelphia Company, paid to the Byllesby interests, also will be inquired into by the committee.

The witnesses summoned are expected to be asked whether Ainey was a frequent visitor to Thompson's offices when the latter was head of the Philadelphia Company.

The Philadelphia Company, through its subsidiary, the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, has consistently opposed the plea of independent bus operators for certificates to operate in the Pittsburgh district, while continuing to charge a 25-cent fare itself. Some of the independents have promised cheaper fares if granted franchises, but almost without exception their applications have been refused by the Public Service Commission.

The Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, through the Philadelphia Company affiliated with the Pittsburgh Railways Company, has assisted the latter transit operation through its high fares and the pre-emption of routes which might have become competitive to the trolleys.

So far, subpenas have not been served on taxicab operators in Pittsburgh to testify about their amalgamation and opposition to new competitors, but that phase of the transportation question is expected to occupy the committee early in its sessions.

Today

SENATOR BORAH'S four-point plan must wait for a word about the wonderful bear shooting at Benton, Fla. Bears weigh three and four hundred pounds and are plentiful.

Also a line about the strange murder case now interesting Memphis, Tenn., in which Stanley A. Purcyear is accused of killing his wife and daughter with an ax, then killing a Negro to put the blame on him.

Somehow they dragged Mary Sunshine Walker, "a pretty young stenographer," into the case. She indignantly denies that Purcyear ever gave her a set of "flaming red pajamas." What she really got was a nightgown from Mrs. Purcyear, her "close friend."

SENATOR BORAH'S "four-point program for economic recovery," "would first adjust World War problems; second, provide expansion of the currency," providing a greater supply and wider circulation of those beautiful steel engravings manufactured in Washington; third, eliminate extravagance in government, and fourth, adjust private debts to conform to the change in money values.

THAT IS a pleasing, but somewhat difficult four-point program.

To "adjust World War problems" would seem to be "a business for itself." To "expand the currency" would give gold enthusiasts the shivers, although it is true that all the gold in the world would not pay American national, state and local tax bills for one single year and, therefore, could hardly be enough to pay for anything.

To "eliminate extravagance in government" would seem difficult, with a nation at this moment inaugurating a new Supreme Court in Washington that will cost ten million dollars, is not needed, and does away with the beautiful old Supreme Court that should have been kept under the Capitol dome.

To "adjust private debts to conform to the change in money values" has a sweet sound for debtors, not so sweet for creditors.

Senator Borah argues ably in favor of this four-point program, and does not advocate abandoning the gold standard, "although 28 nations have done so."

A nation able to do a business producing an income of ninety billion dollars a year in good times with only four billion dollars in gold could safely add a few billions to the existing supply of money and, as it were, "supply enough chips to play the national game comfortably."

EVERYBODY HAS a program, but nothing seems to happen.

Blonde Sought As Yegg Gang 'Soup Maker'

GLADYS JACKSON, 23

Task Held Boiling of Dynamite for Nitro To Crack Safes

Gladys Jackson, 23, bobbed-haired blonde, today was sought as the "soup maker" for the John Maug stickup gang, now in the county jail.

Described as attractive and a flashy dresser, the blonde was said by detectives to have been the sweetheart of Maug, reputed leader of the "mob" which had its rendezvous at 834 North Lincoln avenue.

TASK TO BOIL DYNAMITE

Her task, according to detectives, was to boil dynamite sticks, extracting the nitro-glycerine, the "soup" thus made to be used in blowing open safes.

Circulars bearing her photograph and description were broadcast by police today. They believe she fled the city soon after the first of 12 arrests, including two women, was made more than two weeks ago. All were jailed after they are alleged to have confessed 75 holdups and robberies.

Detectives today definitely charged the gang with the slaying of Constable Vernon (Port) Moses, of Ross Township, last May, when he was shot down as he questioned an automobile party.

GUNS HURLED OFF BRIDGE

The revolver used to kill Moses was one of five thrown from the Glenwood Bridge into the Monongahela River, detectives say they learned from one of the confessions.

Efforts are being made to obtain the services of James F. Fike, of Uniontown, who, with a powerful magnet, recovered the revolver used in the John Donohue murder, from the Monongahela River at Rice's Landing last summer. The County Commissioners yesterday authorized use of the magnet after a professional diver said his services would be of little value in recovering the weapons.

Grocery Is Held Up, Manager Imprisoned

Flourishing revolvers, two young white men held up C. L. Hart, manager of an A. & P. grocery, at 7213 Verona boulevard, Penn Township, today and escaped with $35. Locked in a rear room, Hart said he called to school children. They notified the clerk in a nearby store, who released him.

MRS. HEARST AIDS SALE OF MEDALLIONS

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Democratic women co-leaders of the city's assembly districts met in the Hotel Biltmore yesterday in connection with the sale of Roosevelt-Garner medallions which is expected to reach 1,000,000. Every contributor of $1 to the campaign will receive one of the medallions.

Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, chairman of the Roosevelt-Garner Women's League, was the principal speaker, outlining in detail her donation of $10,000 as prizes to workers in the drive.

The Democratic National Committee announced last night that Mrs. Hearst will speak over the radio at 10 o'clock tonight, just prior to Gov. Roosevelt, in an appeal to the women of the country to push the sale.

Remittances are to be sent to The Treasurer, Shareholders of America, Hotel Biltmore.

The awards are:

One thousand dollars to the woman making the first sale of 5,000.

One thousand dollars for the largest sale in cities of from 100,000 to 200,000, and $1,000 for the largest number in cities of from 50,000 to 100,000.

Also, $1,000 for the largest sale in cities below 50,000.

One thousand dollars for the highest percentage sold in Congressional districts, based upon the 1928 vote, and $1,000 for the best percentage sold in any county, also based on the vote of 1928.

There are $2,000 to be given in lesser awards.

CHARGE DENIED BY FRANCIES

Former County Treasurer John Francies denied on the witness stand at the trial of a Negro woman charged with election fraud today that he ever had told her to make wholesale purchases of tax receipts, but upon objection of prosecution counsel, he was not required to say whether he had told any other person to obtain receipts in such manner.

The defendant, Ina Wayne, political leader of the Hill district, had sought to place the blame for her wholesale tax receipt purchases on Francies. She testified that as chairman of the women's division of the Republican ward organization, she took many voters to Francies' office to have them assessed and pay their poll taxes.

Only the Wayne woman and former Deputy Sheriff Clarence Webster remain on trial. Gus Greenlee, Negro alleged numbers baron; James Gross and Walter Rainey, Negro politicians, were taken out of the case on directed verdicts when the prosecution failed to make out a case against them.

Finance Association To Elect Officers

Officers will be elected by the Pittsburgh Association of Personal Finance Companies at its annual fall meeting in the Fort Pitt Hotel tonight. The present officers are C. W. Loupe, president; W. R. Smith, vice president; C. O. Dornhoefer, secretary, and A. L. McCarthy, treasurer.

Havana Governor's Kin Shot By Rivals

MELENA DEL SUR, Cuba, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Adolfo Mesa, brother-in-law of Gov. Antonio Ruiz, of Havana province, was shot twice and gravely wounded yesterday. Authorities blamed rival politicians.

papermen to prevent further questioning.

NEWTON'S STATEMENT:

Newton's statement in behalf of the President follows:

"Commander Smith stated to the President they wished to pay their respects, tender their support and pledge their loyalty to the President and the Constitution of the United States.

"The President expressed his pleasure at that statement and told them they would recognize he disagreed with the point of view of some of their objectives. He said he had to consider 25,000,000 families in the United States in these times of stress as well as members of special groups.

"He was glad they had determined to present their proposals to Congress through proper committees rather than to repeat the scenes that occurred in Washington during last spring and summer.

"The President said he was pleased they were not presenting him with a petition which had been reported in the press, as it contained statements offensive to the office of the presidency, and that he was glad they decided not to present it at the White House.

"Every group in the United States is free to present its views on every public question and they undoubtedly will be given every facility in the expression of their wishes to Congress."

GRANTED AUDIENCE

The veterans were granted an audience with the President after a morning of uncertain waiting while Capt. Smith conferred with Newton.

They were ushered into the President's office and there found not only Mr. Hoover but Gen. Hines. It was to Gen. Hines that Capt. Smith formally presented the B. E. F. resolution, the last paragraph of which read:

"We, the assembled representatives of the B. E. F. do hereby censure you and those of your administration who took part in, and the means used in the forceful eviction of the B. E. F. from the District of Columbia on July 28 and 29, 1932."

Then, calling attention to the fact that $50,000 was appropriated to entertain French veterans in this country last year, and bedding was loaned the American Legion by act of Congress, the resolution demanded the same consideration as was shown "our more fortunate comrades."

Specifically, the ex-service men at Uniontown had demanded immediate payment of the bonus, a food or cash ration allowance of not less than 15 cents a day, the loan of cots, mattresses and blankets, and the issuance of "underwear, uniforms, shirts, socks, hats, caps and overcoats."

Accompanying Smith to the White House were Mrs. Myrtle F. Crawford and Mrs. Geneva M. Frew, both registered nurses, and William E. Jordan, Burns M. Thomas, Fred Allamong, Arthur A. Tabb, T. A. Charlton, R. Robert Dessoff, P. D. Burke, George J. Spence and E. F. Cornelius.

'BOSSES' YIELD TO STOKOWSKI

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—(INS.)—Leopold Stokowski, leader of the Philadelphia Orchestra, today had won his battle of several weeks for the modern composer.

The issue was settled by the board of directors of the Philadelphia Orchestra Association when it explained that their announcement banning "debatable" music from the program, meant that "under the present conditions the conductor and musical director is to place a reasonable limit upon the number of such compositions selected by him." According to the explanation:

"The board did not intend to exclude the performance of new compositions, but merely to suggest that the majority of the items on the programs would be selections already known to the audiences."

CLARK SEEKING NEW TRIAL

L. C. Clark, Mt. Lebanon Township Commissioner, convicted yesterday on three charges of assault and battery, today asked Visiting Judge W. T. Darr for a new trial, his motion automatically deferring sentence.

Attorney Elmer A. Barchfeld, representing Clark, contended the verdict was against the weight of the evidence and said he wished to present newly discovered evidence.

The jury acquitted four others named as defendants in a cross-suit by Clark, the upshot of a traffic tangle dispute in Mt. Lebanon July 4. They were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gangewere, the former's father, E. J. Gangewere, of Mt. Lebanon, and A. C. Feagan, Dormont.

The speaker and his small party, including Charles M. Mills, executive director of the Economy League, is touring the country in the interest of that organization, the object of which is to present to voters a definite program for elimination of wasteful expenditures in government.

HEALTH EXCUSE FOR RUM FAILS

The condition of Wasil Kulynig's health failed to prevent Burgess Earl C. Shoop, of Springdale, from holding him to court under bail of $500 on a charge of violation of the Snyder act.

Kulynig's home at 528 Willow street, Springdale, was raided by Constable George Buck, who testified at the hearing that he confiscated a quantity of liquor and a still. The defendant told the Burgess yesterday that his doctor had prescribed three glasses of liquor daily for him, and that he was making it for his own use, since it was cheaper than buying it. The explanation failed to move the Burgess.

Looks Under Bed, Finds Burglar Hiding

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13.—(INS.)—Perhaps this business of looking under the bed for burglars isn't superstition after all.

Pretty Miss Bertha Lerner, 21, did.

She saw a man!

Slipping quietly to a telephone, she called police.

TRUCK HIT, MAN HURLED OUT

Steve Negrish, 37, of Valley View, near Springdale, was in a serious condition in Citizens General Hospital, New Kensington, today, as a result of being hurled from his truck as it was struck by a train and dragged 75 feet in Springdale yesterday.

Negrish, father of eight children, and unemployed two years, was driving to a garden plot he was working when the engine of his truck stopped on the Butler street crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

U. S. LOAN BANK TO OPEN HERE

The Pittsburgh branch of the Federal Home Loan Bank will be opened Saturday morning in the former quarters of the Federal Reserve Bank, Ninth street and Liberty avenue.

There will be no ceremonies, according to Francis S. Guthrie, chairman of the board of directors. To start with, there will be three employes and this number will be increased as conditions demand, Guthrie stated. The employes have not yet been selected, he said.

The bank here will not be in an immediate position to make loans on real estate, Guthrie stated. For the time, its chief function will be giving information and recording subscriptions for stock made by the various member organizations.

Beggars' Bootlegger Sentenced 30 Days

Harry Mayhugh, 18, of 625 Emlin street, accused of being a "hip bootlegger" patronized by beggars in East Park, North Side, was fined $25 or 30 days in jail in Morals Court today. He was arrested after complaints that "panhandlers" were stopping persons entering and leaving a North Side community house and were using money they obtained to buy liquor.

'BIG BUSINESS' METHODS HIT IN CHURCHES

By DAVID K. GROSS

International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—The church has neglected God.

It is mimicking the world—mimicking big business—trying to do things in a big way and grasping for big material things instead of clinging to its encompassing and only duty, spiritual leadership.

It is the Rev. Dr. F. H. Knubel speaking. He is president of the United Lutheran Church in America, in biennial convention here. He believed the church has failed and is failing in "one of the most trying periods of our history." He continued:

"The church has mimicked the world. Mimicked it in excitement. In huge undertakings for quick advance, in calls for great leaders and, above all, in neglect of God.

"Born amid the frenzy of Armistice Day in 1918, the United Lutheran Church in America has spun in a period of feverish excitement. Since the post war period, everything must be big, exciting. First page news must thrill us. Staggering news today must be succeeded by colossal projects tomorrow. The thrill just must go on.

"Everything must be exciting, must be big and produce big results and quick. And all of this excitement has centered around two old principles, of 'this evil world'—the bigness of material things and the bigness of man. A change has come in the last few years, but only a change in another form of excitement. The world has not sobered in the least, for its frenzy is now revealed in a dazed bewilderment."

BOND HOLDS UP POSTOFFICE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Treasury Department officials said today that work on the new postoffice at New Kensington, Pa., would be resumed as soon as the department approved a new bond for the Nicholas Company of Philadelphia, contractors for the project.

Work stopped, the officials said, after one of the contractor's bondsmen died. The company submitted a new bond.

One official in the supervising architect's office said he thought labor difficulties which halted the work temporarily before the death of the bondsman would be ironed out satisfactorily to both the contractor and New Kensington workmen.

The latter complained the contractor did not pay the prevailing wage scale as required by law.

DRIVER GUILTY IN CRASH DEATH

William Brown, 29, of Irwin, was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter, as a result of a fatal automobile crash, by a jury in Criminal Court today, with a recommendation of mercy. He was placed on probation for six months by Judge Thomas M. Marshall.

According to testimony, Mrs. Helen E. Kinsman, 40, a widow, of 210 Ninth street, Braddock, a passenger in Brown's car, was killed when Brown, in attempting to pass another automobile, collided with a machine coming in the opposite direction on the William Penn highway, near Burke's Glen May 22.

Directors Named For U. P. Seminary

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Selection of the First United Presbyterian Church at Dayton, O., for next year's meeting, and election of trustees, closed the annual gathering of the Second Synod of the United Presbyterian Church here today.

The Rev. J. P. Lytle, of Xenia, O., and the Rev. W. W. Woodburn, of Greensburg, Ind., were named directors of the Pittsburgh Xenia Theological Seminary.

Widow Succeeds Senator in W. Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—The appointment of Mrs. Mary E. Snodgrass, of New Martinsville, as State Senator from the Second district to succeed her husband, the late Glenn Snodgrass, Democrat, was announced by Gov. Conley.

Mrs. Snodgrass' appointment is until December 1, when a successor to be elected in November will assume the office.

Linesville Motorist Killed on Crossing

MEADVILLE, Pa., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Failing to see the warning lights, G. I. de Bel, of Linesville, drove his car in front of a Pennsylvania passenger train and was killed. The accident occurred on the Linesville crossing near this city late yesterday. De Bel was a former resident of Erie.

Socialists Ask Spain To Recognize Russia

DRIVE PLANNED TO STIMULATE BUYING

A proposed campaign to stimulate buying and increase employment in the district will get under way at a meeting of the Pittsburgh branch of the Community Builders of America in the Fort Pitt Hotel next Thursday night. Invitations have been sent to more than 500 business leaders to attend the gathering, which is to be open to all interested persons.

A letter from President Hoover, in which the executive indorsed the movement, was made public today by H. B. McNeal, of the Pittsburgh Pretzel Company, president of the local organization. It read:

"I am glad to have your letter regarding the organization of the Community Builders of Pittsburgh. It would seem that the prices of commodities have now reached a point where it would be to the advantage to urge your people to make normal purchases. If such could be done, this would soon stimulate manufacturing and result in greater employment.

"I wish you success in your movement to encourage retail trade."

In explaining the campaign Mr. McNeal said:

"Despite the numerous movements afoot to bring about a resumption of business in the country, the consumer interest still is very apathetic. This prosperity campaign, justly termed a "Buy at Home" movement, is directed at this particular group. It is not to be confused with a boycott against other communities, but is merely a move to stimulate business in general here. It is in keeping with similar movements in many other cities."

Briefly the object of the movement is to encourage buying of Pittsburgh products, he added.

The program of the campaign includes parades, newspaper advertising and circularizing of the city; radio broadcasts, sermons, minute addresses in theaters by volunteer speakers, special window displays and various other events to drive home to Pittsburghers the necessity of resumption of buying if business and employment are to be raised out of the slump into which both have fallen during the past few years, Mr. McNeal concluded.

Bundles of Clothing To Aid Ross Needy

Ross Township will help its needy by gathering bundles of old clothes and shoes tomorrow and Saturday. Harry Dippel, chairman of the township's Unemployed Relief Association, requested that children take the bundles to school with them tomorrow. Those who are not able to do this are asked to hang a white flag in front of their homes on Saturday and the bundles will be called for.

Charred Body Found After Cottage Blast

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 13.—(INS.)—The charred body of an unidentified man was found yesterday in the smoking timbers of a cottage destroyed by an explosion.

Nearby the ruins of the cottage, police found license tags issued to Samuel Hardmon, 346 East Mechanic street, Germantown, Pa.

800,000 Women Hold Pennsylvania Jobs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Of Pennsylvania's 3,356,081 women 15 or more years old in 1930, more than 800,000 worked for their living. A total of 1,999,302 were married.

Seven of every 10 of those who worked were single, two were married and one was divorced.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanished and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets will help save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c. All druggists.

PAIN DEADENED CHEST COLDS LOOSENED WITHOUT DRUGS

Get quick relief from neuralgia pain, sciatica pain, neuritis pain, rheumatic pain, lame back, stiff neck, headache, strains and chest colds by rubbing plenty of Baume Bengué (pronounced Ben-Gay) on the spot. It doesn't blister or stain. Rub it in till it sinks down and soothes the pain or breaks up the chest cold. Take no drugs, for any drug that is powerful enough to "deaden" pain or loosen a chest cold may not be good for you.

But beware of imitations. Ask your druggist for Baume Bengué by name (called "Ben-Gay" in English). There are many analgesic baumes, mostly cheap imitations of Ben-Gay made out of synthetic drugs. That is why they are cheap. That is also why they are ineffective. Insist on Ben-Gay and you will get real results.

Suede Velour makes this dashing tilted brim. Kitten's-ear bow centers interest in front.

The popular side-turn trend inspired this model. Grosgrain ribbon in contrasting color trims the upstanding felt quill.

CHAPLIN LIKELY TO ABANDON CLOWN ROLE

By TED SMITS

International News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 13.—Charlie Chaplin today stood at the crossroads of his career.

Within the next few months the little man who has made millions laugh will decide whether to continue as a clown or whether to embark on the making of serious motion pictures.

If the decision calls for him to discard the cane and funny shoes, his first serious picture will be a dramatization of the early life of Napoleon, his favorite historical character.

SERIOUS THOUGHT

It was learned definitely today that Chaplin is giving serious consideration to the Napoleon picture.

Alfred Reeves, manager and long-time friend of Chaplin, admitted that there was more than a possibility that the world has seen the last of Chaplin "comics."

Even more important will be the fact that Chaplin will enter the "talkies" if he decides to make serious pictures hereafter.

Chaplin has always shunned the "talkies," holding that for the character which he has always portrayed hitherto on the screen, pantomime was better suited than the use of voice.

READS BIOGRAPHIES

Reeves said:

"Yes, it is true that Mr. Chaplin is studying the possibility of the Napoleonic role.

"He has read a great many biographies of Napoleon and has even made some tests in the role and, if the decision is made, he will be ready for it.

"It is not generally known that he has a good speaking voice for the screen. It is deep and rich. The reason he did not talk in his recent movies was that he never could make up his mind just what kind of a voice should go with the character that he had created."

Institute Opens Art Exhibit Season

One hundred and fifty-seven paintings owned by the Carnegie Institute, the works of American and European artists, are being exhibited at the first art exhibition of the season at Carnegie Institute today. The exhibition will close October 27.

Music Conservatory To Hold Fall Dance

The fall dance of the Penn State Conservatory of Music will be held tomorrow night in Grotto Temple, 107 East Montgomery avenue, North Side.

Industrial Health Talks Set Tonight

Dr. Cassius H. Watson, medical director of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, will address the Pittsburgh Personnel Association in the Board of Education Building tonight on the subject "Health In Industry."

D. W. Wait, chairman, announced that Dr. W. M Holtz, of the Philadelphia Company; Dr. R. R. Jones, of the Bell Telephone Company, and Dr. T. L. Hazlett, of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, will discuss medical activities of the organizations.

ORDER REMOVAL OF DOG'S ASHES

UHRICHSVILLE, O., Oct. 13.—Carl Hamilton Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, custodian of the Memorial Building here, was notified today by the Uhrichsville lodge of the Order of United American Mechanics, which erected the structure, to remove the ashes of "Bing," dog mascot of Uhrichsville and Dennison overseas veterans, from the building.

The post may resort to court proceedings. Civil and Spanish War veterans objected to the urn being in the building.

EVAN FONTAINE LINKED TO CLUB

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—(INS.)—Investigators of the police department revealed today that they had uncovered data showing that Jack Lynch and Evan Burrowes Fontaine, internationally-known dancer, held under bail as proprietor and hostess, respectively, of the Friars' Club, raided last week, registered last Saturday in the thirteenth division of the Eighth Ward here.

Lynch registered as a club manager, according to registration commission records, while Miss Fontaine registered as an actress. She gave her age as 33 and said she had been in Pennsylvania one year, the records revealed.

Lynch and Miss Fontaine were arrested with 24 others when the night club was raided.

Stephen C. Foster's Kin Buried in N. Y.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Funeral services were held yesterday for Mrs. E. A. Reed, a granddaughter of Stephen C. Foster, the composer. She died at her home here Monday. Mrs. Reed, who formerly lived in Pittsburgh, leaves a brother and sister there, Matthew Welsh and Mrs. A. D. Rose, of the Foster homestead.

LILY PONS GIVEN SCREEN TEST

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Mlle. Lily Pons came to Hollywood to sing grand opera, but she may go away a film actress as well.

Mlle. Pons' secretary said today that the French operatic star has taken a screen test at a major studio, although "she cannot think of going into films right away."

Several studios have expressed an interest in the singer, who came here recently to appear on the program of the Los Angeles opera season. The secretary added:

'She has her grand opera to think of first, but it is possible that she may return to Hollywood later in event the test is successful."

Wife Killed, Man Wins $7,000 Award

A verdict of $7,000 damages was awarded Pete Sepede, 3144 Mt. Hope road, in his suit against the Yellow Cab Company for the death of his wife, Rose Sepede. Crossing California avenue at Bainton street, North Side, January 2, 1930, she was struck by a cab, dying the next day. Sepede asked $50,000 damages, through Attorney S. C. Pugliese.

FINE COUPLES FOR 'PARTY'

Two girls and their boy friends, who made a drinking night of it, were fined $10 each in Morals Court today. One, Thelma Meeker, 23, of Steuben street, testified the escorts put her out of the car near the Ohio River boulevard. The other appeared with her face a mass of bruises and scratches. She was Mary Krivinich, 24, when arrested, but today she said her right name was Rose Kelly.

The escorts were Jerry Nelly, 31, of Emsworth, and Julius Hujack, 27, of Carson street. When Nelly testified they had bought three quarts of whisky in Lombard street, Magistrate Thomas D. Jones did not ask him the address of the place.

PAIR CONVICTED IN WIFE KILLING

DETROIT, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Alex Wysocki, 38-year-old retail meat dealer, and Ira Sams, 23, were convicted yesterday of first degree murder for the death of Wysocki's wife, Mary, in what the prosecution termed a plot inspired by the merchant's affection for another woman. Sentences of life imprisonment will be imposed.

In an 11-day trial Wysocki stuck to his story that his wife was killed by a holdup man, May 28.

Sams, who once described himself as a "Missouri horse thief," repudiated at the trial an alleged confession, which, as read to the jury, said he killed Mrs. Wysocki because her husband offered him $500 to commit the crime.

The "other woman," Florence Marsh, 20, testified for the state, saying Wysocki promised to marry her and that she went to his home as "housekeeper after Mrs. Wysocki's death.

2 CONSTABLES FACE CHARGES

KITTANNING, Pa., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—William Richardson, Manorville, president of the Armstrong County Constables' Association, today faced charges of extortion on which he was arrested on information filed by J. B. Wingard, another constable.

Richardson, who made a similar information two weeks ago against Wingard, posted bond for a hearing.

Wingard charges Richardson charged excessive fees for serving warrants and subpenas in three cases tried recently before Judge J. Frank Graff. He also accused Richardson of charging fees for work he did not do. Richardson made a similar allegation against Wingard.

Dr. Boots to Speak At Study Club Meet

Dr. Ralph S. Boots, professor of history at the University of Pittsburgh, will speak tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the East Liberty Y. M. C. # WRIGLEY DOLLARS FOR WRIGLEY USERS

Many Carry Gum, and Collect Dollar Bills.

By MISS MINT

There is certainly a real thrill in passing out dollar bills to Wrigley users. I meet different people with different ideas, and all are interesting episodes in the day's travels. Day after day I go roaming about asking, "Have you a package of Wrigley's?" and what fun it is to watch the changing expressions. Some are happy—they are getting a Wrigley Dollar. Some are sad—they've missed a golden opportunity. Just the same, they all get a "kick" out of being stopped, at least.

I stepped into the West Park Pharmacy, yesterday, and a pleasant young man, LEONARD PIRILLA, asked to serve me. "A package of gum, please," I asked. And a package of Spearmint was passed across the counter. When I gave Mr. Pirilla that dollar, he was speechless, then his face broke into one huge smile. "Well, the depression's over. Say, I can hardly believe this. Am I lucky?" It's not a case of luck, Mr. Pirilla, it's sound judgment.

I gave away many other Wrigley Dollars, too, and here are a few of those who collected:

HARRY HAHN, 431 Island Ave.; VIRGINIA HALL, 3872 Wind Gap Road; C. B. LEYDIG, 1117 Chartiers Ave.; FLORENCE LEONARD, 3200 Brunot St.; FRANK ROSCOE, 231 Churchill St.; JOSEPH MAGNELLI, 911 Highland Ave.; MRS. MARIE GEYER, 729 Broadway; LUCY MAG, 430 Island Ave.

Keep several packages of Wrigley's on hand—at home, at the office, and always in your pocket. I am still seeking Wrigley users. Why not be among the fortunate? Collect your dollar!

ROOSEVELT, MRS. HOOVER -:- Madge Kennedy Leads Stage Stars With Rudy -:- ON AIR

Democratic Nominee Speaks From Albany; 'First Lady' Addresses Girl Scouts

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, speaking from the executive mansion at Albany, N. Y., again is heard by a nation-wide audience when he speaks over an extensive Columbia network tonight at 10 o'clock. Gov. Roosevelt's address, scheduled for 30 minutes, is carried locally by WJAS. Ogden L. Mills, Secretary of the Treasury, speaks over an NBC network, including KDKA, tonight at 9:30 under the auspices of the Republican National Committee. The broadcast originates in the Coliseum, Chicago.

Miss Kennedy

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, whose address before a group of Girl Scout leaders at Virginia Beach, Va., last week, failed to go on the air due to technical difficulties, repeats her talk over a nation-wide NBC and CBS networks, including WCAE and WJAS, tonight from 6:15 to 6:30. The broadcast is a condensed version of the one originally planned.

Madge Kennedy and Otto Kruger, stars of Noel Coward's "Private Lives," do a scene from that production as a highlight of Rudy Vallee's variety hour on WCAE tonight at 8 o'clock. The program also features Borrah Minnevitch and his "Harmonica Rascals," Helen Broderick, currently starred in Earl Carroll's "Vanities," and Sergent and Ross, singing and piano-playing duo.

On WCAE at 9, the second of Capt. Henry's Show Boat programs with the Hall Johnson Choir, of "Green Pastures" fame; Charles Winninger, the original Capt. Andy of Ziegfeld's "Show Boat."; Annette Hanshaw, Jules Bledsoe, Lanny Ross and Mable Jackson, is presented. The program includes special choral arrangements of "Joshua Fit de Battle of Jericho" and "Hold On," and Winninger's version of "Alchohol Blues."

Jack Pearl, alias the modern Baron Munchausen, tells about some of his most thrilling experiences as an exponent of fine, antiquated automobile racing during the Dance Hour on WCAE at 10. The musical portion of the program is provided by Abe Lyman and his orchestra.

The NBC Music Appreciation Hour, the world's largest music class, will be called to order for the fifth consecutive season over the combined NBC networks, including the Pittsburgh outlets, WCAE and KDKA, tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Walter Damrosch, who inaugurated the series four years ago, again directs the weekly broadcasts, to be heard each Friday at the same hour.

Program Pointers

Ray Perkins, aided and abetted by his pet baby grand piano, Clarence, offers the comic "Prune Song" and "I'll Get By" on WCAE at 7:30 . . . Two of WJAS's most popular local acts, the Singing Strings and Thomas Hacket, tenor, are combined in a special program presented tonight from 7:30 to 7:45. Their selections include "One Alone" and "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling." . . . On the same station at 6:45, Marty Schramm's orchestra inaugurates a new series of Thursday night dance programs.

Mr. Perkins

Sigmund Spaeth, the "Song Sleuth," traces the origin of the lullaby theme in instrumental music and song on KDKA at 8:15.

Raymond A. Tucker, secretary of the Aero Club of Pittsburgh, discusses that organization's activities as guest speaker during KQV's "Pittsburgh Today" presentation at 9.

E. Hall Downes, contract bridge expert, gives some tips on bidding when he speaks from the studios of KDKA at 10:45.

A humorous version of an episode from the "March of Time" presentations is offered by Georgie Price, with Georgie assuming a variety of roles, on WJAS at 7:45.

Dr. Hugh Greer Carruthers, well known psychologist, addressing nearly 2,000 Pittsburgh business men in the William Penn Hotel tonight, is heard on WJAS at 6:30 p. m. The topic of his talk is "Reconstructive Psychology."

"Rose of My Caravan," an original composition, is presented for the first time on WJAS tonight at 9:30 during the second episode of the musical-dramatic series, "The Life of Omar Khayyam."

Members of the editorial staff of the Carnegie Puppet present their "laugh" machine, the Pupprodyne, which tunes in anywhere—the office, the home or the gridiron—with no regard for privacy, on WWSW at 7:45.

"Back to Newton," a popular talk based on a new astronomical theory directly opposed to the Einstein and Eddington theories, by Edward Godfrey, is scheduled on KDKA at 4:15.

For the dancers: Abe Lyman, WJAS at 8 and WCAE at 10; Isham Jones, WJAS at 10:45; Paul Whiteman, WCAE at 11; Don Bestor-Art Jarrett, WCAE at 11:15; Lloyd Huntley, KDKA at 11:20; Ben Bernie, WCAE, at 11:30; Cab Calloway, WCAE at 12:05, Dick Gasparre, WCAE from 12:30 to 1 a. m.

Listening In

'Bring 'Em Back Alive' Buck to Open Radio Series

Frank Buck, the famous "Bring 'Em Back Alive" man, whose newest thriller, "Wild Cargo," starts today in the Sun-Telegraph, and who frequently has been heard on the air, opens a new series of dramatizations depicting his adventures in the jungles of Sumatra, Java, Siam, Borneo and India over an NBC-WEAF network, of which WCAE is the Pittsburgh outlet, Sunday, October 30. Buck has wrestled for his life with a giant king cobra; he once knocked out a man-sized orang-outan in a fair fight without weapons; he has captured, alive and kicking, a score of man-eating tigers and has brought back to America from the jungle shiploads of elephants, leopards, snakes, hyenas, bears and monkeys. The first broadcast will deal with the escape of a ferocious spotted leopard on shipboard, and the narrow escapes involved in its recapture. The programs will be heard weekly at 5:45 p. m.

Mr. Buck

Pickups . . . Irene Taylor was born in Cape Girardeau, Miss., and was educated in Texas . . . Frank Luther's real name is Frank Crow . . . When her broadcasting days are over, Veronica Wiggins says she wants to own a toy shop.

While a prisoner in a German detention camp in 1917, Victor Young, the maestro, once played for the crown prince. Later a group of officers with whom he had become friendly as a result of his participation in camp entertainments, assisted him to escape and eventually return to America, and he's never been in Europe since.

Buck Bannister, the barnyard imitator, occasionally loses his speaking voice so completely that he can't talk over the telephone . . . but at such times he continues to do his imitations as well as ever.

Bing Crosby is back in New York looking over various offers. . . . Georgie Price is collecting material for a book on comedians which he intends to write . . . and a wag asks, "Have you seen the Congressional Record, Mr. Price?" . . . Reports have it that Phil Cook will return to the air before Christmas and that the Mrs. may be at the microphone with him . . . Walter O'Keefe's modern hill-billy songs are being recorded in a series . . . The Four Eton Boys are making a new series of movie shorts.

Lovely Slip
Pattern 2363
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

If you really want dainty lingerie that fits well and is very simple to make, this slip will answer all requirements. Its few seams have been planned to achieve the perfect fit so necessary under new frocks this season. If you desire a more tailored finish we suggest omitting the lace. Lovely in satin or flat crepe.

Pattern 2363 may be ordered only in sizes 32 to 44. Size 34 requires 1⅞ yards 39-inch fabric and 1¼ yards lace. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with this pattern.

Send 15 CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

The choice of a smart, sensible and economical fall and winter wardrobe becomes very simple with the aid of THE NEW ANNE ADAMS PATTERN CATALOG. This beautiful book contains 32 pages of select Anne Adams models for every FALL and WINTER need—house, street, afternoon, formal frocks and lingerie for adults; pages of lovely models for juniors and kiddies; special styles for the larger figure, and many delightful suggestions for Christmas sewing. SEND FOR YOUR COPY. PRICE OF CATALOG, 15 CENTS. CATALOG AND PATTERN TOGETHER 25 CENTS. # YOUNGER COOKS DEFENDED

Young husbands who chide their wives for not being able to cook "like mother used to" are often under a chronic hallucination, according to Miss Helen S. Wedenkamm, cooking specialist in Pittsburgh this week. She said:

"Young cooks are apt to be more careful in following cook book directions to get exact measurements of ingredients than old cooks. If mother's hit-and-miss methods more often resulted in success than failure, it was due to the good judgment of her experienced measuring eye, rather than her scorn of cook-book methods."

Miss Wedenkamm, a representative of General Foods Corporation, is conducting a cooking school at Joseph Horne's this week to instruct hundreds of Pittsburgh women in using accurate measurements and tested recipes for greater cooking economy. She said:

"Economy in the kitchen consists in the preparation of accurately planned, well-balanced meals, rather than in buying cheap foods. Nourishing food instead of doctor bills, is the soundest investment in health."

Stomach Pain, Heartburn, Belching, Ends

"After suffering terribly with heartburn, like fire in my stomach, and pain, belching and sour stomach, I found almost instant relief taking ACIDINE," says Mrs. Bertha Williams, Atlanta, Ga. "Please use this letter to help other sufferers."

Just another of thousands who are astonished at the way ACIDINE succeeds when other known remedies fail. The reason is it is different from other medicines. ACIDINE contains Japtase, which, in laboratory tests, digested 800 times its own weight of certain heavy, starchy foods that cause trouble. ACIDINE stops burning acid, soothes irritated stomach and intestinal linings, ends gas, headache, sleeplessness from acidity and helps digest starchy foods and meats.

Don't run chances of dangerous painful troubles from acidity. Get ACIDINE today from your druggist and note quick relief from sourness, pain and belching. You can eat, drink and smoke as you like. Maker guarantees results that satisfy you or money back.

BUTLER TELLS YOUTH TO LEAD

The present generation has made a mess of things, and it is up to the youth of the land to straighten out matters, Gen. Smedley D. Butler declared in an address to members of the Downtown Y. M. C. A. last night. He stopped off in Pittsburgh on his way to Butler, Pa., where he spoke later in the evening in behalf of Franklin D. Roosevelt's candidacy for the presidency.

The meeting at the "Y" was the first in the campaign for new members being conducted by the Downtown, Allegheny, Hilltop and Center Avenue branches of the association. Gen. Butler said in part:

"I like the "Y" because it is working with boys and young men. My generation has made a mess of things in this country, and it's up to the youth of today to lead us out. Any agency like the "Y," which seeks to guide and supervise the young, providing them with a healthful, sane, spiritual and practical program, is worthy of support.

Seven Driven Out By Republic Fire

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 13.—Seven persons escaped from the blazing home of Michael Unitich at Republic after being awakened by cries of a small child. The fire caused $4,500 damage.

Mace to Discuss 'Home and Future'

James C. Mace will present an exposition of the international Sunday school lesson at noon tomorrow in the assembly room at the Downtown Y. M. C. A. His subject will be "The Home and the Future." He takes the place of the Rev. S. S. Lappin, pastor of the Central Christian Church, who has been called out of the city.

Plans for the $60,000 maintenance campaign fund to be inaugurated Sunday night by the Y. M. and W. H. A., were to be furthered at a tea for women workers in the association building, Bellefield avenue, this afternoon, under direction of Miss Sally Mazer. Several hundred women were expected to attend. The campaign will be under direction of Edgar J. Kaufmann.

A workers' meeting will be held in the association tonight when speakers will be Mr. Kaufmann, Hyman Rogal and Philip R. Goldstein.

Bear Scatters Crowd at Fair By Escape

DOVER, O., Oct. 13.—Spectators at the Tuscarawas County Fair Grounds ran for shelter yesterday when a black bear escaped from a tent where he was a part of a wrestling stunt. The animal soon was captured.

Former Ukrainian Priest Admits Killing

SUDBURY, Ont., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Chief Constable David Louden said today Theodore Paul Hucal, former Ukrainian priest, held here on a charge of forgery, has admitted the killing of the Rev. A. B. Balknot, at Lead, S. D., in 1921. Authorities in South Dakota and in Philadelphia, where Hucal is alleged to have a police record, have been advised.

Two Alarms Rung For Residence Fire

Two alarms were sounded when fire broke out in the kitchen of a two-story frame house occupied by Daniel Mars, at 200 Semicir street, North Side, last night. The blaze was quickly extinguished with damage estimated at $200.

The second alarm was sounded as a precaution, firemen said. The dwelling is owned, they said, by Supreme Court Justice James B. Drew.

Pet Rabbit Bites Too Familiar Dog

AUBURN, Neb., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—So the rabbit bit the neighbor's dog and went on eating clover.

That's the way J. L. Stivers tells the story. He has a large pet rabbit in his back yard. The neighbor's pup became a bit too familiar. The rabbit reared on its hind legs and nipped its tormentor. The dog fled.

Activity Increased At W. Va. Steel Mill

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 13.—Announcement was made by the Wheeling Steel Corporation yesterday of increased activities in the plants for the coming week. The plant at Benwood will resume in full Monday, and the skelp mill, one butt-weld furnace and one lap-weld furnace will resume, returning a number of furloughed employes. Six mills at the Yorkville plant resumed in full yesterday.

Gas Group to Meet In Chicago in 1933

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Chicago was selected for the 1933 convention of the American Gas Association at the closing session of the 14th annual meeting yesterday.

Dr. John T. Madden, dean, school of commerce, New York University, in a speech on "taxes" bitterly scored wasteful expenditures in government, the encroachment of government on business, and present taxation systems.

MIXTURE OF ART AT CARNEGIE OPENING

Lack of Arrangement Of Drawings Is Confusing

By PENELOPE REDD

Carnegie Institute's season opens today with an exhibition of 150 or more drawings from the permanent collection which will be on view through October 27. The collection is hung evidently without the realization that a considered arrangement might have given a flavor to what is now but a miscellaneous show. The exhibition could have been developed to present the drawings either in their chronological relations or for comparison or contrast of similar ideas.

Miss Redd

As it is, drawings are so skillfully mixed that not even the most retentive eye can reassemble them satisfactorily into their cognate groups.

If this could be done briefly, one would find the following principal divisions:—drawings representing the French painters of the Barbizon group; drawings by the American landscape painters that formed the bulwark of the American sections of early internationals; drawings by men distinguished in the graphic mediums; and an adequate representation of the heyday of that peculiarly American contribution to the pictorial arts—illustration.

SAD REMINDER

As a background for the many American illustrators, the work of Charles Keene and Du Maurier serves as a sad reminder that technical excellence has only historic value when lavished on ephemera.

Charles Dana Gibson, closely allied in manner with Du Maurier, Frost, Steele, Remington, Keller, F. Hopkinson Smith, Maxfield Parrish, and others, echo the gala Rooseveltian years when ladies were graceful ornaments and gentlemen were resolutetly strenuous.

Abbey, with "The Tinker's Song" from the poem of that name by Robert Herrick, marks the zenith of that day when to be an artist was to be a professional romantic.

In the collection are a few artists of national prominence associated with Pittsburgh. C. J. Taylor, friend of Abbey, is represented by a pungent sketch of Etaples. E. M. Ashe, one of the most distinguished illustrators, E. L. Blumenschein, Charles S. Reinhart and John W. Alexander are all ranking Americans.

STUDY OF CHILDREN

Certain of the drawings compel one's imagination to tarry. Howard Pyle's colloquial tribute to Durer in a study of children is such a drawing. Others that so invite are Glackens' report on Edwardian elegances; Weber's crisp nautical comment; and Orpen's obligato for Heine's "Florentine Nights."

The contrast between La Farge's reluctant response to the rhythm of the "Sitting Siva Dance" and Maurice Sterne's canonization of a potent Balinese maiden is one of the exhilerating jackstraws extricated from the congeries.

The only drawing in the collection that stressed expression into expressionism is that by Boardman Robinson of "The Sea." See it and share the one sensation in the show.

Well, here we are breezing down the West Coast of South America. If there ever was a country that the airplane was a god-send to it's these. The American Consul just told me they get 367 inches of rain—he said a year, but I think it's a month. We are kinder getting into the revolution neighborhood. Almost every two South American countries are paired off. I have been promised reserved seats at all that I will attend. I am stealing a march on Floyd Gibbons this time. Well, the plane is whistling to leave. Yours,

CHAPTER I.

Some animals are born lucky. Bad fortune never pursues them. After untroubled lives they depart this world without a wrinkle or a gray hair to show for their presence on earth.

Other animals are forever experiencing tough luck. They just never get the breaks. With luckless feet they instinctively tread on all of Fate's banana peels and, without quite knowing what it's all about, go skidding into Old Man Trouble.

Such an animal was The Patsy, a young female elephant I brought out of Ceylon some years ago. (In the Far East the term "The Patsy" is still widely used to designate the one—man, woman, child or beast—who is forever getting the worst of it.) No living creature I have handled in many years as a collector of animals, birds and reptiles for the zoos and circuses had a run of bad luck comparable to this elephant's.

The fates started plotting against The Patsy when three natives of Ceylon—Singhalese—set out one day from Kandy for the interior. Harmless-looking natives they were, too. Aside from work-knives they carried no equipment with them as they stepped into the jungle, and anyone observing them and guessing at their vocation would hardly have written them down as elephant-catchers. Yet that's what they were.

CAPTURING LIVE ELEPHANTS

In India, Burmah and Siam the capturing of live elephants is an elaborate process frequently calling for the services of hundreds of men and much equipment. The elephants are rounded up and driven into a keddah or corral. In Ceylon, where they are content to catch one elephant at a time, the method is much simpler, as witness the performance of the three Singhalese.

Shortly after stepping into the jungle the trio started plucking lalang, a tall wiry grass. They also cut down jungle creepers, stripping off and retaining the outer peeling and throwing the rest away. As they walked along they busied themselves with the task—a simple one for these experts—of weaving these tough jungle fibers into a rope. On they moved, plucking the raw material and, when it was ready for use, braiding and twisting it in the prescribed Ceylonese manner.

After two or three days of this, in the course of which they slept in the jungle and lived largely on wild fruits, they had a rope about 75 feet long and about two inches in diameter—a rope neat and pliable and of well-nigh incredible strength.

HUGE ANIMALS HERDED TOGETHER

Then they entered upon the second phase of their job. It was the business of locating a small herd of wild elephants. This accomplished, they calmly proceeded with the next step, the ticklish task of getting the herd headed toward a narrow, wooded ravine (which these men had found convenient once before in their elephant-catching exploits). In carrying out this part of the assignment the trio from Kandy had to bring all their knowledge of pachyderm reactions into play. Occasionally one of them would sneak around the herd, remaining in view just long enough for the animals to see him and get it through their heads, in case they had any doubts, that they were being pursued.

In a chase such as this, the quarry frequently veers off the course and has to be worked back cautiously to the right direction. This requires a tremendous amount of patience, a quality in which the Singhalese are not lacking.

Once they had the herd definitely headed for the ravine, two of the men ran around till they stood facing the far side of the gorge toward which the animals were moving. When the beasts were inside the borders of the narrow opening the Singhalese pair dashed forward till they were directly in front of the herd, jumping up and down, frantically waving their arms and emitting ear-splitting shouts designed to halt the elephants in their tracks with a suddenness sure to result in a jam.

The man who remains behind

P.S.C. HEARINGS POSTPONED

A death, illness and postponement by agreement, today prevented Public Service Commissioners S. Ray Shelby and Samuel Walker from taking up scheduled hearings. They said this was the first time they had been prevented from going ahead with hearings, once listed, since they had been on the commission.

The case of George L. Exler, Johnstown, for a certificate to haul freight, was postponed by the death of Albert Mitchell, Punxsutawney, brother of Attorney Lex H. Mitchell, Exler's counsel.

George L. Hannan, Brownsville, cited to show cause why his certificate should not be revoked, is ill. The case of G. S. Hughes & Co., Aspinwall, against the Pennsylvania Railroad, alleging unreasonable rates, was postponed by agreement.

31 New Cases Put Under Quarantine

Fall on Street Fatal to Aged Man

James Carroll 65, of 1609 Tustin street, was fatally hurt when he tripped and fell in Forbes street near Magee street last night, police said. Carroll suffered a fractured skull and was pronounced dead at Mercy Hospital.

'JUNGLE' RAIDED BY DRYS

In a raid on "The Jungle," a roadhouse in Lower Burrell Township, Westmoreland County, prohibition agents reported arresting Joseph Kocutt, confiscating 36 gallons of beer and two pints of whisky yesterday.

Two automobiles in which agents said they found whisky were confiscated and the drivers arrested. Ralph Pagannucci, alleged driver, was arrested in Industry street.

Following the seizure of the car, the agents raided a house in Boggston avenue and arrested Harry Chiocca. Rosarrio Vengelio, another driver, seized at Spring way and Twenty-ninth street, was released on bond.

Whisky and beer were seized in a house in Bingham street, another in Federal street and a third in New Kensington.

Last Tribute to Baker In Church Rites Today

Funeral services for Dr. Simon S. Baker, 65, former president of Washington and Jefferson College, who ended his life Monday, were to be held in the First Presbyterian Church at Washington at 2:30 p m today.

For an hour prior to the funeral the body was to lie in state in the church he attended during his greatest triumphs and sorrows.

Burial will be in Washington Cemetery.

The retired educator, who made his home in Peacock Manor, 724 Farragut street, East End, disappeared Monday morning after telling members of his family he was going for a walk.

A search was instituted for him Monday afternoon. Tuesday morning his body was found on the farm of Miss Anna Quail, near Washington, a bullet wound in his head.

2 WOMEN HURT IN CAR CRASH

Two women were injured slightly when Frankstown avenue and Butler street cars collided early today at 1225 Penn avenue. Police said the Butler street car smashed into the rear of the Frankstown avenue car, which had stopped in Penn avenue, where laborers were repairing tracks.

The injured, both passengers on the Frankstown avenue car, were Mrs. W. A. Smith, 38, of 319 Arabella street, Knoxville, and Mrs. Catherine Gibson, 42, of 1802 Beaver avenue. Mrs. Smith was taken to West Penn Hospital. Mrs. Gibson, refusing medical attention at the scene, collapsed at Sixth avenue and Penn and was treated at Allegheny General Hospital.

G. O. P. Women Plan Wilkinsburg Party

Mrs. Laura J. Hinnau, Republican county vice chairman, announces a bridge party for women will be held at the Penn Lincoln Hotel, Wilkinsburg, October 19, from 1:30 to 4 p. m., with Mabel Meyer as hostess. Speakers will include Mrs. Mary Flinn Lawrence and Mrs William Anderson.

A tea from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., is announced for October 20, at the Dormont New Century Club, Glenmore avenue, for the women members of the Republican county committee. Mrs. Charles Urben will be hostess.

On October 21 there will be a noonday meeting for businessmen at the Penn Lincoln, Wilkinsburg.

STEEL LEADER CITES OUTLAY FOR PLANTS

Economic Crisis Laid To Speculation, Not High Wages

American industry has pledged $50,000,000 for rehabiliation to express faith and confidence in the future, E. T. Weir, chairman of the board of the National Steel Corporation and vice chairman of the National Committee on Industrial Rehabilitation, told the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce today.

Weir attacked the inefficiency in politics—federal, state, county and municipal—which he declared would mean ruin if applied in private business.

CLEAN UP POLITICS

The time has come for the business man to get into politics for his own protection, Weir declared. He said:

"We have overlooked the great stake we have in politics for it is our money that is spent so badly. Let us organize and line up with the better class of politicians and the better men in office to insist on the business management which they can and must provide."

Weir favored an improved standard of living and higher wages.

He recorded a number of pledges from industries for plant maintenance, repairs and improvements. Among these were funds announced by the United States Steel Corporation, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Remington-Rand, Westinghouse Electric, National Steel and Pittsburgh Plate Glass.

URGES LEADERSHIP

Loose thinking and irresponsible planning are so confusing the problems confronting the business man today as to threaten the social and economic order, Weir declared. He made a plea that the business man accept the responsibilities of leadership. He said:

"We are not broke—we have untold, everything in abundance, with no debts except among ourselves. We are allowing ourselves to be beaten by many abstract problems, which through fear and uncertainty distract our consideration from our really impregnable position."

The cause of the depression, Weir said, was not in the higher standards of living in the homes but in the growth of speculation in 1928 and 1929. This mad rush to make money without work was joined in by millions, he declared.

SCORES SPECULATION

Describing the excesses of the financial boom, Weir said:

"It seems incredible, as we look back, that such unsound practices could have carried on without such a wave of protest from business and business men, fearful of results, that would have carried such a warning as to have stopped this wild speculation before it reached proportions that meant ruin, and yet this was not done."

The support of the rehabilitation work bespeaks confidence, courage and determination, Weir declared. Business has been very sick, is now getting better, and the business man must put it on its feet, he said.

Tons of Words Used to Shatter A Fine Silence

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

After four years of clammish dignity Cal backed his wagon up to Madison Square Garden and unloaded a ton of words.

He sang of Republican humanitarianism and the glories of the Grand Old Party. A lullaby that used to put children to sleep but now frightens them to bed.

We don't censure Cal for extolling the virtues of G. O. P. prosperity. No man should speak ill of the departed.

But in reference to those Hooveristic triumphs we must say with King Prryhus, "one more victory like that and the boat is sunk."

We realize that Cal didn't want to talk. But the G. O. P. is desperate. It could use Lincoln and Grant also.

And we can picture those three big bears of the Republican party rumbling into the White House and growling, "Who's been sitting in my chair?"

TABLELAND DELEGATES TO VIEW CITY'S SIGHTS ON TOUR

GUESTS TO SEE NEWSPAPER EXHIBIT

Delegates to the Allegheny Tableland Council convention were to be given a sightseeing tour of Pittsburgh neighboring districts today. About 100 were to make the tour.

A caravan of private automobiles was scheduled to assemble at the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon to carry the delegates through the South Hills, Schenley Park, Highland Park, through Forest Hills to the new Westinghouse Bridge and back by way of Bigelow boulevard.

For the many visitors expected at Kaufmann's Allegheny Tableland celebration tomorrow, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph has arranged a diversified program built around the production of a daily newspaper.

GLOBE TROTTER THERE

Louis L. Kaufman, Sun-Telegraph Globe Trotter; William Black, the recently discovered "Popeye," George Seibel, dramatic and literary critic, and Quin Hall and Paul Bower, cartoonists, will appear on the program. The latest Hearst Metrotone newsreel, and "The Making of a Newspaper," a three-reel film, will also be shown.

Rosenbaum's store has offered visitors to the city during the convention, the use of the store roof for one of the city's best views of the downtown section. The store is at Sixth, Liberty and Penn avenues.

McCreery's store will be the host at a luncheon to the Gilbert Brown Boys' Band, of Oakland, Md., here for the Tableland Exposition Saturday. Executives and business men from Tableland districts will be guests of the store in its restaurant.

Today, tomorrow and Saturday Frank & Seder will present a style show, which will be free. Similar shows will be staged tomorrow at Boggs and Buhl, and at Rosenbaum's on Saturday. At noon Saturday Boggs & Buhl will entertain the Somerset String Band at lunch, after which there will be a concert in the store.

COOKING SCHOOL

Today and tomorrow at the Joseph Horne Company store, Albert A. Horne, former Somerset resident, will have charge of a cooking school. He will demonstrate new methods of preparing food which will be of special interest to the women visitors.

Tomorrow night there will be a good fellowship banquet for Allegheny Tableland visitors and their Pittsburgh friends. The banquet will be held in the Chamber of Commerce.

The Somerset String Band will broadcast over KDKA at 11:45 a. m. Saturday. Inasmuch as the studios of the broadcasting station are being remodeled, visitors cannot be entertained.

Kline to Preside At Hoover Rally

Mayor Kline will preside at the Hoover-Curtis campaign rally in Syria Mosque Saturday, October 22, Republican headquarters announced today. The Mayor will speak for the entire Republican ticket. Councilman M. J. Muldowney and Congressman Harry Estep also will speak.

STATE TROOPS WIN HONORS

In the presence of police officials and other guests, the police pistol championships for Pennsylvania were shot out yesterday on the Thomas A. McGinley estate, Sewickley.

Troop A, of the State Police, Greensburg, carried off first honors by a score of 1,047 out of a possible 1,200. The Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation team was second with 1,025, and Troop D, State Police of Butler, third with 1,023. Troop D was the runner-up last year.

Walter Kunkle and J. Eshelman, of Troop A, carried off individual honors, Kunkle having 275 out of a possible 300, and Eshelman 273.

The Pittsburgh Police Department, of which Detective Guy Dailey is captain, scored 979, and the Sewickley Heights, with a score of 974, led boroughs and townships.

MAN, SON HELD AS TORTURERS

NEWARK, O., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Two men, neighbors of Perry Fowler, 62-year-old farmer, who was tortured when he refused to reveal the hiding place of his money, are under arrest here.

The men, Henry Rowe and his son Ralph, were accused by Fowler in an affidavit of being the men who tortured him in his farm home near Johnstown.

When he refused to divulge the hiding place of his money, Fowler said, they beat him with a club, inflicting internal injuries. Still refusing to reveal where the money was hidden, Rowe and his son seared his feet and hips with a heated poker, he said.

POLITICIAN HELD IN 'RIDE' DEATH

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—A baffling mystery confronted the authorities today as they sought further details of a fatal shooting, of which Carl H. Reese, 45, former prohibition agent and reputedly wealthy racehorse owner and bookmaker was the victim.

Reese's body, punctured by two bullets, was found near Libertyville late yesterday.

Louis L. Howell, suburban politician, was held by Lake County authorities while they investigated the affair. Howell said he and Reese were forced to halt by four men in an automobile and that the four fired several shots at Reese. Two of the men, Howell said, got in his car and forced him to aid in disposing of the body. The men, their own car following, forced him to drive to Chicago, he said, where the pair in his car got out and disappeared with their companions.

Because of discrepancies in Howell's story, police said, he was held for further questioning.

UNITED CHURCH PLAN BEATEN

Ben Avon's plan for a federated church, involving the three leading Protestant denominations, had been defeated today, two of the three churches having rejected the proposals.

The United Presbyterian and Presbyterian churches held meetings last night, while a scheduled meeting of members of the Methodist denomination was postponed.

Under the plan the federated church would have had a common pastor and place of worship.

Mrs. W. J. Wiley Injured in Crash

Mrs. W. J. Wiley, 28, of Holiday's Cove, W. Va., well known in Weirton and Steubenville, was recovering in the Washington Hospital today from injuries suffered yesterday in an automobile accident near Atlasburg. She was returning from the Columbus Day races at the McNary Farm, near Greensburg, when another car forced hers from the road. She suffered fractures of the jaw and collarbone.

Officer Exonerated In Fatal Shooting

Patrolman William Hingley was exonerated by a Coroner's jury today in the fatal shooting of Peter Voras, 46, of 1616 Colwell street, shot as the officer pursued following an attempted robbery, September 27. It was testified Voras fired first at the officer. The jury held Hingley shot in self-defense and discharge of his duty.

Boy Struck by Car, Two Others Escape

Injured seriously when struck by an automobile near his home last night, Paul Bastian, 11, of 914 Federal street, was in Allegheny General Hospital today. A brother, Fred, 14, and a sister, Betty, 8, walking with Paul, jumped out of the path of the car, police said. The automobile was said to have been driven by Mike Spinella, 31, of Millvale Terrace.

Allegheny's B. E. F. Has Beds for 400

Allegheny B. E. F. will open its new headquarters at 1120 Pennsylvania avenue, North Side, at a meeting tonight, Pat O'Mara, Allegheny County unit commander, announced. Sleeping space is available for 400 homeless ex-soldiers, he said. Only requisite for admission to the organization's room is their discharge papers, according to O'Mara.

Patterson Denounces Crime-Politics Link

'Racket War' Judge Columbus Day Speaker

Tribute to Christoper Columbus was paid at many meetings in the Pittsburgh district yesterday and last night when special programs were arranged in honor of the discover's anniversary.

Nineteen councils of the Knights of Columbus attended a dinner in the Fort Pitt Hotel last night, at which speakers were Judge Frank P. Patterson, of Common Pleas Court; Justice John W. Kephart, of the State Supreme Court, and the Rev. James M. Delaney, head of the Holy Name societies of the Pittsburgh district.

Speaking on law enforcement Judge Patterson said:

"The men who foster crime are those who sponsor the minor offenses and create racketeers who elect men to our legislature who are not concerned with the righteousness of the laws they pass, but the effect of such laws upon the enhancement of their power, and use those positions to protect and to promote the racketeer.

"There can be but one interpretation of this situation and that is that the minor offender is necessary in the welfare of the office-holder."

DISPLAY FARM AND DOMESTIC PRODUCTS

Hundreds of farm, garden and home products were on display at Gimbels today, as the first Allegheny Tableland fair opened. The fair, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, will continue tomorrow and Saturday.

Products from farms in eight counties in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland are on display. Fourteen judges were to award cash premiums and ribbons to the winners today. The entries will be arranged according to counties, and a silver cup will be awarded the county agent whose county has the best general display.

The exhibits range from candy made by high school girls to large pumpkins, shrubs and small pine trees. Among the more than 1,000 entries are grains, vegetables, dairy products, fruits and nuts and field products.

Other phases of the housewives' art will also be presented, with canned fruits, jellies, preserves, cakes and candies, embroidered pillow cases, towels, bedspreads and hemstitched handkerchiefs.

Notable guests of the tableland council will include John A. McSparran, state secretary of agriculture; Ross B. Johnston, of the West Virginia Agriculture Department, and Nat T. Frame, of the agriculture department of the University of West Virginia.

BULLETS HALT AUTO THEFT

Arrested after a chase of several blocks during which two shots were fired at him, Tony Pope, 21, of 50 McClain street, was held for investigation when arraigned in Central Police Court today. Elmer Lang, proprietor of the Lang Service Station in West Carson street, testified he found Pope tampering with an automobile outside the station. Pope fled and Lang fired at him, causing him to halt.

Robert Wagner, 21, of 838 Lillian street, arrested when he came running to where Lang was holding Pope, also was arraigned and was held over today. He said he did not know Pope, but had been attracted by the shots. Two of Wagner's companions fled when they saw Lang hold him for police.

County Sleuths Raid McKees Rocks Homes

County detectives raided two houses in McKees Rocks today. At 108 Sproul street, they reported finding a still, moonshine and John Stefanic, who was arrested. At 236 Helen street, where home brew was reported found, John Dorish was arrested and later held for court. Both raids were made on complaints received by Judge Frank P. Patterson.

Texas Police Let Women Do Talking

HOUSTON, Tex.—Pity the poor policeman. Regardless of what they do or don't do, they may be considered rude.

Believing a policeman couldn't be rude if he didn't say anything, the police department here passed a rule that policemen were not to speak when handing a woman a ticket for traffic violation.

BANDITS SLUG, ROB OWNER OF MARKET

Beaten and robbed near his home last night, Walter Youcheck, 19, of 7444 Monticello street, was in Pittsburgh Hospital today suffering a fractured jaw and bruises.

Youcheck, proprietor of a fruit market, was returning home with the day's receipts when two bandits attacked him. The two beat him unconscious with revolver butts and robbed him.

Youcheck was unable to tell the amount of his loss.

Family heirlooms, including a wedding ring, several bracelets and other old jewelry, were reported stolen last night from the home of Samuel Saul, 5629 Woodmont street, Squirrel Hill.

Burglars also ransacked the home of Charles P. Held, 1453 Wightman street, police reported, entering by breaking the glass in the front door.

Robbers jimmied a cellar window to enter the Lincoln Public School, where they took $4.

W. H. Steele was near his home at 562 Oakwood street when two gunmen relieved him of $8.

'DIAMOND LIL'S' GEMS STOLEN

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13.—(INS.)—Mae West, Broadway's "Diamond Lil," here appearing in motion pictures, was held up and robbed by an unmasked outlaw of $16,000 in jewels and $4,500 in cash as she sat in her automobile in front of her apartment two weeks ago, police reported today.

Since September 28, when the holdup occurred, district attorney's investigators secretly had worked on the jewel robbery, with police not notified until last night when a roundup of underworld characters was started.

Officers expressed belief that the holdup was an "inside job," perpetrated or planned by some one who knew Miss West's penchant for wearing dazzling diamonds.

Walter Winchell ON BROADWAY

Recompense

My literary compositions may
Not qualify me for the hall of fame;
When I, at last, expire and pass away,
Folks may not even recollect my name.

My songs will be forgotten with the years,
Contemporaries never see my face;
When poetasters die, someone appears

I realize I'm no immortal guy,
I know that I will be a long time dead;
In spite of that I'm figuring that I
Am lucky as the deuce and way ahead.

—Van H. Eshelman.

Sock!

Lewis Milestone, the director, was ankling along the United Artists' lot in Hollywood with three well-known phony directors.

Clap Hands!

Those of us who fume and fret in phone booths over poor service are comforted with this item. When you use a pay station, can't get your party, and lose the nickel, the company will send you a check for the amount. When you can't get your party, you dial the operator and tell her about it. She takes your name and address and they send you a check for 5 cents.

In fewer words, they lose on the deal. There is the cost of the check, time, plus 2 cents for federal tax and 3 for postage!

Play Newark, Salem, Lynn or North Adams . . . Work in the summer . . . Care what critics said . . . BUT—if you use this will you send me a dime for a cuppacawfee?

Boomerang

The author of a show, by the way, who had been belittled by a critic, threatened to write a letter about the reviewer to his editor.

The critic encountered the author on Broadway yesterday.

"I hear you're sending my paper a letter condemning me," said the frightened-to-death critic.

"I am not," replied the author, "it will be a very funny letter."

Bullets

In Harry Salpeter's interesting essay on Alexander Woollcott he reminds some of us of the Woollcott-George Jean Nathan bickering, and how Nathan once referred to Woollcott as "the Seidlitz powder of Times Square."

Salpeter, however, offers the amusing rejoinder of the victim, which was irrelevant to the play Woollcott reviewed, to wit:

Oop!

A West Coast weekly's Al Cohn has this scallion to offer:

"Tracy is a tremendous improvement over Winchell, who has about as much color as an alley cat and as much humor as a prohibition enforcement officer. Walter should study Lee's portrayal with a view to improving his personality."

Well, I Like That!

Rudy Vallee, with whom we have swapped blows and scallions for a long spell now—and who isn't as sensitive as many other notables are, put us on the spot again in Cleveland recently. It appears that in an interview with the Plain Dealer's William F. McDermott, the subject of columnists came up.

Mr. McDermott then reports that Mr. Vallee remarked:

"Anything Winchell says of me is all right. I think Winchell is a great man. He is a genius—I don't mean a genius like Shakespeare—but a genius. When Winchell dies he will go down in history as a great man. He has been a good friend of mine. Saved me from a couple of frame-ups."

Whaddya mean not like Shakespeare! Like Vallee?

Six Players Added To 'Goldie' Cast

Six new names were added this week to the cast of "Goldie," being prepared by J. G. Bachmann for Radio Pictures. Those signed were Don Alvarado, popular leading man; Lucien Littlefield, Nat Pendleton, Arthur Hoyt, Henry Fink and Bradley Page. This brings the total number of players up to nine—Lily Damita, Charles Morton and Sam Hardy were previously signed. "Goldie" is an expose of a beauty contest racket.

Title Selected for Kay Francis Film

"Trouble in Paradise" was selected today by Paramount as the title for Ernst Lubitsch's current directorial vehicle, previously called "The Honest Finder" and "The Golden Widow." Miriam Hopkins, Kay Francis and Herbert Marshall are heading the cast with Charlie Ruggles, Edward Everett Horton, C. Aubrey Smith and Robert Greig in the featured supporting roles.

New Role

Denny Cast in First Villain Role

Reginald Denny, known wherever they run celluloid through a projection machine for his gay comedy, turns villain for the first time in his screen career in "Strange Justice." But it is a pleasant villain that Denny impersonates. For when the hero of this stirring tale, Norman Foster, is in the death house awaiting execution, it is Denny, who contrived to put him there, who wins his release.

-:- Plays and Players -:-

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

After next week, which will be a dark one for the Nixon because music trouble was not settled soon enough to keep "Forward March" on the books, there will be an uninterrupted sequence of plays for a while at least. Ed Wynn and "The Laugh Parade" will be here October 24. Other musical shows of the near future will be the Earl Carroll "Vanities," November 14, and "The Cat and the Fiddle," November 21, for Thanksgiving week.

* * *

Productions of the Edwin Vail Players, so far in the Pitt, have been presented in a single stage setting, but next week's offering, Philip Barry's "The Animal Kingdom," will have two, exact replicas of the original settings. They are being built and painted now on the Pitt stage by Claude Allan Lewis, scenic designer of the company. Shirley Booth and Alden Chase will play the lead roles in "The Animal Kingdom."

* * *

The Co-operative Playhouse of the Y. M. & W. H. A., Bellefield avenue, invites authors to submit one-act plays, to be sent to Isabelle Jones. The "Y" players contemplate staging six bills of one-act plays in addition to its major productions.

* * *

Another little theater group is being formed in Mt. Lebanon, an outgrowth of a benefit recently staged in that suburb for the unemployed. Prominent in the movement are Mrs. Ralph Burt and Edward W. Blaine, Tech drama graduate, formerly associated with the Pasadena Community Playhouse, who will direct the first production. Definite selection of the play has not been made, but it will be shown the second week in January for the benefit of the Mt. Lebanon Relief Association.

* * *

The Greensburg Little Theater Players are rehearsing their first play of the season, Sutton Vane's "Outward Bound," which will be presented in the High School auditorium, November 15-16.

* * *

The Green Room Studio of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement is receiving manuscripts in its annual one-act play competition. Winning scripts will be presented in a single program in the settlement playhouse. Ed. H. Siegal, care of the Settlement, Center avenue, is the man to whom to send scripts.

Lawson Is a Bold Pioneer In Theatric Forms But a Realist

By GEORGE SEIBEL

John Howard Lawson, who is in town with "The Pure in Heart" in the Nixon Theater, is unlike most dramatists. They are a self-satisfied and superior tribe—if kind, they pity those who do not approve their plays; if less kind, they despise them. Lawson wants to know why. He has been rewriting scenes of his newest drama every day, while his other recent play, "Success Story," put on by an auxiliary organization of the Theater Guild, seems to be growing into a success on Broadway.

Mr. Seibel

Lawson, to use his own phrase, has always taken his plays from "the rush and roar of things as they are." He's as contemporaneous as the morning paper—as up-to-date as the milkman. He says himself:

"I have endeavored to create a method which shall express the American scene in native idiom, a method as far removed from the older realism as from the facile mood of expressionism.

"The blood and bones of a living stage must be the blood and bones of the actuality around us."

HIS FIRST PLAY

His first play, "Roger Bloomer," produced in 1923, dealt with the eager boy who leaves home to escape from small-town middle class reality to Utopia, a happening that is a familiar pattern of American life. This play put Lawson on the theatrical horizon as a playwright with possibilities.

"Processional," his best-known piece, which created lively discussion when the Theater Guild produced it in 1925, was a vivid panorama of a mining town on strike. Through it, in jazz tempo, marched workers, Ku-Klux Klanners, soldiers, sheriffs, a small-town storekeeper, the business apostles of law and order, and life-hungry Sadie Cohen. Uneven, some said of it, grating to delicate sensibilities, others said, but none could deny its aliveness, its theatricality, and its poetic power—attributes common to all of Lawson's plays. "Processional" was put on here by the Y Players.

A POLITICAL SATIRE

Lawson's third play, "Loud Speaker," produced by the New Playwrights in 1927, cocked a derisive eye at the antics of electioneering, and gaily pulled away the curtain to reveal behind-the-scenes of political life. "Face the Music," "Of Thee I Sing" and "Merry-Go-Round" have come since then, and made this play of Lawson's look like a prologue to a new school of American farce.

"International," produced in 1928, again by the New Playwrights, of which Lawson was a member, was a play of big business imperialism and revolt against it. Again the technique, which employed music, a chorus and other methods of presentation puzzling to the average playgoer, prevented it from attaining an audience.

In his preface to the published "Processional," Lawson give a clear idea of his own feeling about American life as material for the theater. He dislikes the "drably humorous play about Main Street," and says:

"All around me I see the grotesque of the American environment, the colorful exaggeration of the American language. These are Rabelaisian in their intensity . . . There are a thousand facets of American middle-class life."

BACK FROM HOLLYWOOD

Lawson tells little about himself as a rule. He was born in New York City in 1895, attended Williams College, became a newspaperman, and began to write plays. He served overseas in the ambulance service during the war, and then returned to his country to continue play-writing. He spent two years in Hollywood, and made brief excursions thereafter to the motion picture capital.

Most authors come back from Hollywood giving one version or another of "Once in a Lifetime," or never come back at all. Talking about his work with the movies recently, he remarked that he regarded his assignments there as a job, a job to be well done from its point of view. He said he learned something in Hollywood, something about facility, conciseness in the development of character and situation, a good deal about dialogue and action, audience reactions and box office psychology.

Contest Winner Gets Picture Part

BITS OF LIFE

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

On the Level.

THE FADING blue eyes sparkled. The gray hair contrasted with the black shaggy brows. The feet made little shuffling noises as they trod across the stage to the speaker's stand. The voice was subdued.

''My dear friends,'' he began, ''and when I say that, I mean it from the bottom of my heart—my dear friends, I am happy for the first time in my life.''

The fading blue eyes surveyed the small audience. One or two persons coughed. The rest looked attentive and smiled appreciatively.

"You are all well acquainted with my history. You all know the life I led. A life of sin and wickedness. A life of misery and prison.

"I had always thought the path of the righteous was not the one for me. I went through life stealing. I gloried in my ability to escape detection. I was satisfied to be an outcast.

"But now, the wisdom of age is close upon me. When you, my friends of the Welfare League of Newtown, called on me in State Prison, I was at first inclined to laugh.

"Then I started to think. I looked at myself for the first time. I was getting old, I found. And gray. And a bit feeble. What had life to offer me? Nothing. Life didn't want me. Life would be happy if it were rid of me and men of my kind.

"And so I awakened. I found that the Welfare League of Newtown was willing to lend me a helping hand. (Applause.) That they didn't care how bad I was. They were willing to believe in me. And give me another chance.

"I took that chance, ladies and gentlemen. And I thank God that I took that chance.

"Now I am a free man. Whatever I owed to the world has been paid in full. My debt is squared. I can say good morning to a policeman now. (Laughter.) And I can look upon my fellow man and smile and say 'I'm as you are. Regular. Square. Decent. Honest. And happy.'"

Applause. Applause. Applause.

The man sat down with a modest bow among the officers of the Welfare Society of Newtown. Then Mr. Effington Julius Tropp, president of the society, arose. He smoothed out his coat tails as the carried a small package to the old man.

"Mr. Jones," he said loudly, "we reflect your happiness. We want you to realize that, in the four years since you have come from behind those high walls and bars, you have established yourself as a righteous citizen.

"Mr. Jones, you have been law abiding and a leader in our group. You have exceeded our fondest expectations. And thus we bestow this gift, this rare watch, as a token of our esteem, to you, a man among men."

Applause. Applause. Applause.

The fading blue eyes dimmed. The hand shook as it held the red plush case. The watch glittered in the light of the auditorium. It was indeed a rare watch. For a man among men.

Jones tried to speak. Only a hoarse whipser could be heard. Finally, he could speak no more. The applause was deafening.

Jones carried that watch home as a mother would carry her first born. He placed it in a bureau drawer and looked at it lovingly. Then he closed the plush case and locked the drawer.

The world, he felt, was very kind. Very kind.

Jones wouldn't think of wearing that watch. It was too precious for wear. It was too expensive to take chances with, and besides, it was a symbol of his new freedom. A symbol of a man among men . . .

Jones became obsessed with reform after that. He thought of the countless men in prison. Couldn't those men be honest and law abiding? Of course. So Jones visited the state prison.

I'm afraid he didn't find much co-operation there. His old cronies behind bars were inclined to laugh at him.

They called him an old fool. A sap. A good guy gone wrong. They accused him of losing his old courage. But that didn't stop Jones. He remembered back to the time when he hated reformers himself. He called them "buttinskis" then. Now it was different.

So old Jones kept up the good work. Once in a while, he'd find a crook who would listen to reason. Then he would smile with pride as the man returned to the world with honesty in his eyes.

But in trying to help others, Jones was neglecting himself. He had a small job as bookkeeper in Newton. And, in making so many trips to the State Prison, he was absent from work too much.

So the old man walked into the office one day to find an envelope on his desk. It contained a week's salary and a notice that he was no longer needed.

The old man never batted an eye. He determined that he wouldn't annoy the Welfare League with his troubles, so he went out and looked for a job himself.

It wasn't easy. Most of the places he visited, told him that he was too old. The others said that there were no vacancies.

Within a short time, Jones was down to his last nickel. He suddenly discovered that there was a depression on. That business men were firing, not hiring. And what few jobs there were, were quickly filled by younger men.

Finally, there was but one course open to the old man. He must call on his friends. The Welfare League of Newton. So, dressed in his best clothes, he went to the people who had made an honest man of him. He explained his case. He said that he didn't like the idea of asking them for help again. But he had no money. No food. No job.

They all smiled sadly and shook their heads. They would love to help, of course, but he knew how conditions were. Depression. Salary cut. Cut throat business competition. Oh, there were a thousand-and-one reasons why they couldn't help old man Jones.

So, somewhat sadly, Jones went home. He was tired and he was hungry. He must raise money some way. A man must eat. So he thought of the watch. He could raise a little on it, and get it back when conditions improved. No. He wouldn't do that. He couldn't. After all, that was a rare watch, and he was a man among men.

After two days, he changed his mind. His stomach was torturing him with pain. He had to eat. He couldn't starve to death. So, with loving hands, he unlocked the drawer and lifted the red plush case from its hiding place.

The fading blue eyes had tears in them when he snapped the case open. But those eyes almost popped from his head when he looked at the watch; the watch that had come from honest people to an honest man.

It had turned black. The rare watch was brass! . . .

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Ingrown Nail Turns Right Out!

Pain Stops Instantly!

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

BACKACHES

Not always due to Female Complaints

. . Says doctor who advises on care of kidneys and bladder

Backaches, nervous spells, bearing-down pains, dizziness and headaches are not always due to sicknesses peculiar to women.

Slight or temporary disturbances of the kidneys and bladder are frequently the cause of these pains. However, the condition can often be remedied quickly by Santal Midy Capsules, obtainable at most any drug store.

Santal Midy Capsules contain a precious East Indian extract which soothes the kidneys and acts as an antiseptic on the bladder. Don't wait until kidneys and bladder get in a serious condition. A small amount spent now for Santal Midy Capsules may save you hundreds of dollars and untold suffering. Get Santal Midy from your druggist—today.

SOCIETY SPECTATORS AT THE COLUMBUS DAY HORSE RACES

THREE AMONG THE FASHIONABLES AT THE COLUBUS DAY RACES AT HUNTLANDS, THE GEORGE R. M'NARY FARM . . A M'NARY HORSE WON THE MAIN RACE

—With—

Patricia Pitt

The cold, bleak winds whistling over "Huntlands," the George R. McNary place near Greensburg, yesterday afternoon caused many a fur coat to be rescued from moth balls to keep spectators warm at the annual Columbus Day races.

Others, lacking the foresight of their sisters, wrapped automobile robes over their smart autumn costumes to keep out the wintry wind.

Just everyone was there, watching the races, and walking about greeting friends. Among those donning furs were Mrs. Roberdeau Green Annan and Mrs. John McKelvy, both of whom had full-length coats of mink.

One of the most striking costumes was that of Mrs. Alan Magee Scaife. Long ago I noticed that red, any shade of red, was her favorite color. Her coat yesterday was of soft, rose-red wool with a luxurious collar of white fox. And her hat, with a dipping brim, was in the same shade.

Dress of Blue Wool

Mrs. T. Howe Nimick looked colorful in a sapphire blue wool dress, a vivid red suede jacket, a beige lapin jacket and a fabric hat to match her dress.

Ellen McClay wore a baby leopard fur jacket over a dark green wool frock and a green felt hat trimmed with the same fur and she carried a muff.

* * *

Mrs. William Penn Snyder looked smart in a brown and beige herringbone tweed, having a cape of the material buttoned on beneath the narrow collar.

Two Debs On Car

Perched on a car parked near the roped-off race track were Nancy Byers and Bertha Brooks, two of the debs; Shirley Tunnell and Patsy Mellon.

Nancy wore a smart sports coat, woven of red and beige and black threads to suggest plaid. Patsy Mellon had a coat in polo style of diagonal woven red and white and a pert red beret with a white accent. And Bertha Brooks chose a blue wool dress with a silvery thread woven in and a beige coat and blue felt hat.

Mrs. George H. Love was there, Mrs. A. P. Woolfolk, Mrs. Robert Carson, Jr., Betty Childs, Virginia Willock in a jaunty hunter's green wool sports coat, fitted to the figure, and a brown felt hat; Mrs. W. Edgar Reed, Mrs. T. M. Jones III, Mrs. Charles Flaccus, Mrs. George O. Burgwin, Mrs. William Standish, Miss Edith Wills, of Greenwich, with her hostess, Mrs. David M. Gilmore.

* * *

Susan O'Neil was strolling about, and so were Betty McKay, Margaret McCready, the Raymond Hilliards, with Mrs. Hilliard wearing a chartreuse green wool crepe plaided with narrow brown stripes, Mrs. W. McCook Reed, Louise and Phyllis Totten.

Nancy Brown, dressed all in brown, a brown wool tailored coat and a brown felt hat, was with the Totten twins. Harriet Ramsburg had a red wool turban to match her dress.

Smart Costumes

Debut Date Set

It will interest you to know that Mrs. Henry Vaughn Blaxter is introducing her daughter, Dorothy, to Pittsburgh society on Wednesday, November 2, at a tea in the Pittsburgh Golf Club.

Near the tallyho were Richard King Mellon, Louise Reed, Mrs. A. Rex Flinn and in the judges' stand I noticed George R. McNary, John W. Lawrence, J. Frederic Byers.

And at last the committees are all ready to be announced for the Women's Industrial Exchange's annual rummage sale, to be held November 3, 4 and 5 at 532 Penn avenue. Mrs. W. C. Robinson is, as you know, the chairman, and on the appraisal committee are besides Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Willion Booth Trainer, Mrs. W. C. Moreland, Mrs. W. P. Snyder, Mrs. W. L. Jones, Mrs. John B. Heron, Mrs. J. H. Rose, Mrs. A. Rex Flinn, Mrs. H. Norton Van Voorhis, Mrs. William Zang, Mrs. B. F. Jones III and Mrs. Childs. Vice chairmen, by the way, are Mrs. William B. Trainer, Mrs. A. P. Snyder and Mrs. William Zang.

In Charge of Glass

In charge of the china and glass will be Mrs. George L. Claypool, the first day; the second day will be Mrs. Harry Darlington, and the third day, Mrs. John Gibson, Jr., aided by Mrs. Neil Stewart, Mrs. Thomas C. Wurts, Mrs. Howard S. Evans, Mrs. Herbert DuPuy, Mrs. Gordon Fisher, Sr., and Miss Sarah Bissell.

Mrs. F. C. Irish will be in charge of furniture and books the first day; Mrs. Simon T. Patterson, the second day, and Mrs. Albert Wells on the third day, assisted by Miss Martha Jamison.

Mrs. John P. Penney, on the first day; Mrs. Richard Hawkins, the second day, and Mrs. D. D. Gill, on the third day, will have charge of the ornament and lamp sales, assisted by Mrs. McKee, Mrs. Charles Arbuthnot, Mrs. Horace Forbes Beker, Mrs. C. A. Foster, Mrs. Wade Elphinstone, Miss Beatrice Hawkins and Mrs. Henry G. Myers.

On the first day Mrs. Fred Atwood will be in charge of pictures and draperies; the second day will be Mrs. George D. Macbeth, and the third day, Mrs. Charles S. Heard, aided by Mrs. W. H. Rowe, Mrs. B. K. McMechen and Mrs. C. J. Wharton.

To Sell Jewelry

Jewelry and silver will be in charge of Mrs. B. F. Jones, Jr., the first day; Mrs. Leslie Johnston, the second day, and Mrs. William S. Moorhead, the third day, aided by Mrs. R. B. Mellon, Mrs. Atwood, Mrs. Harmar D. Denny and Mrs. Carroll Davis.

Mrs. T. H. Nimick, Mrs. Lewis Park and Mrs. Donald Bakewell will have charge of clothing, shoes and hats the first, second and third days respectively, with the assistance of Mrs. William Blair, Mrs. W. H. Parke, Mrs. T. J. Hilliard, Mrs. Virginia Timmins and Mrs. J. M. Lazear.

Federation Hears Teachers' Pay Defended

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—The Edmonds law, governing salaries of teachers in Pennsylvania, was defended by its sponsor, Franklin S. Edmonds, president of the National Tax Association and a former member of the state Legislature, in an address today at the convention of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Women's Clubs. He said:

"Teachers have been adequately paid only since 1921, and their salaries should be kept at a figure which enables them to maintain higher studies. There should be no general revision of salary schedules until the value of the dollar has become stabilized."

Edmonds recommended a two-year moratorium on statutory salary increases and a temporary reduction of 10 per cent over a two-year period of school costs, varied to fit the salary scale.

Dr. S. S. Huebner, professor of insurance and commerce in the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, advocated compulsory life insurance for all couples intending to start homes.

Dr. James N. Rule, state superintendent of public instruction, urged immediate abolition of the 100 one-room schools remaining in Pennsylvania.

United States Psychology World's Worst, Club Women Told

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

American psychology is the worst in the world; it is defeatist psychology, the Rev. Dr. John R. Ewers remarked before the educational department of the Congress of Clubs yesterday. Germany is "busted but happy;" England is muddling along; but for abject, hopeless, dour, pessimistic, completely licked spirit, one must go to New York or Pittsburgh, he stated.

Dr. Ewers was talking on "The Danger of War," and it was a grim picture he drew of each of the principal countries of Europe. England and France went to Versailles "to grab;" the Versailles treaty is "a vengeance document," and the desire to defeat it has animated every act on Germany's part since it was made. Germany, he observed, has given enough and more to rehabilitate France. France is completing $1,000,000,000 worth of forts, is armed to the last place; and in his opinion is the greatest block to peace in Europe. He referred to the League of Nations as "a raft, but the only vessel there is on a stormy sea."

Mussolini's apparent change to a more peaceful attitude is not conversion but a move of convenience; Germany has at least three great armies; Japan's militarists are drunk with power and apt to do anything and in Russia the only class well clothed, fed and sent to school are the soldiers and there are even battalions of women.

Dr. Ewers said he wanted his audience to see the picture of Europe objectively and not idealistically, which is woman's usual way of looking at anything. Women seem to think that because a thing ought to be it must be, he remarked.

Miss Edna Staley sang, with Miss Betty Storer at the piano. Mrs. Charles S. Miller presided.

Mrs. C. W. Kenney, Miss Isabel Kenah and Miss Eleanor Kenah will assist the hostess, Mrs. George Eckels, of Gladys avenue, Beechview, when she entertains the Irving College Club on Saturday afternoon.

Revision of By-Laws Before State P. T. A.

YORK, Pa., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania Congress of Parents and Teachers yesterday considered a revision of its by-laws. The most important change was adding two members to the nominating committee, two to be appointed by the board of managers and the other seven, one from each district, to be elected by the respective districts.

The principal speaker was the president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Mrs. Hugh Bradford, of Sacramento, Cal.

If a Man Won't Save to Wed He Probably Never Will

Should Jacky marry the big boy on a shoestring—or insist that he save a few kopeks before she says "I do?"

She has plenty of ideas on the subject herself, but he won't listen.

"Why should I salt away my money while I'm single?" sez he, "What's the use? Marry me, and then I'll save, because I'll have something to save for!"

Should she fall for this line? Would you?

"Dear Sally—

"I read your column every day, and now here I am with a problem myself. I hope you won't throw it in the waste basket, because it's pretty important to me, and I don't know what to do about it.

"I am in love. He is a cab driver. I've known and gone out with him for over a year. Once, about four months after we began going together, he asked me to marry him, but I refused because he had no money saved. I told him to start saving, and when he had enough money ahead so we could make a home and start living in it, without being afraid of going broke, I would marry him. He never answered me on that.

"Then, some time later, we had an argument and broke up. We didn't see each other for three weeks, but I thought I'd go mad, so I finally went and called him up and asked him to come back. He came, and we started going together again, but he didn't say anything about marriage.

REFUSES TO SAVE

"One day last month he told me he'd been out with another girl the night before. I never said a word against that, but when I told him about my going out once in a while with other fellows, he flared up and started telling me I was two-timing him.

"Finally, with patience, I quieted him. Then he begged me again to marry him. I answered the same as I did before, and he said he would not start to save until after he was married, and had someone to save for.

"I don't know what to think. He has a married sister, who always says to him, 'Why don't you get married and live with us? I'll give you and Jacqueline a room until you get on your feet, then you can open up a home.'

"But I don't like that idea. I don't want to live with her, because I'm afraid he'd take advantage of it to still not save, and then I'd be in a hole.

"So please help me, and give me your advice, won't you? Do you think he really would save his money if I married him?

"JACQUELINE."

SHOULD INSIST

Do I think he'd save his money if you married him?

No—right flat out—I don't, youngster. And if he were worth a hill of beans, and really cared for you, he wouldn't be peddling any such hooey.

Nor would I go and live with Sis. That might look rosy enough, especially to him, but he'd likely use it for just another loophole to go on refusing to hoard his nickels. And even if he didn't put the jinx on the combination, the relatives would, relatives being that way.

So I'd make him fish or cut bait, kid. Put it up to him once more that you won't trot in double harness unless and until he shows gumption enough to have a nest egg—and if he won't get that nest egg, cut him out.

Yes, I know it'll hurt. But a hurt now, however bad, won't hit you half so hard as marrying him and getting hurt later on. Now if you break with him you have a chance to rebuild your life. If you marry him, the chances are a hundred to one of wrecking it permanently.

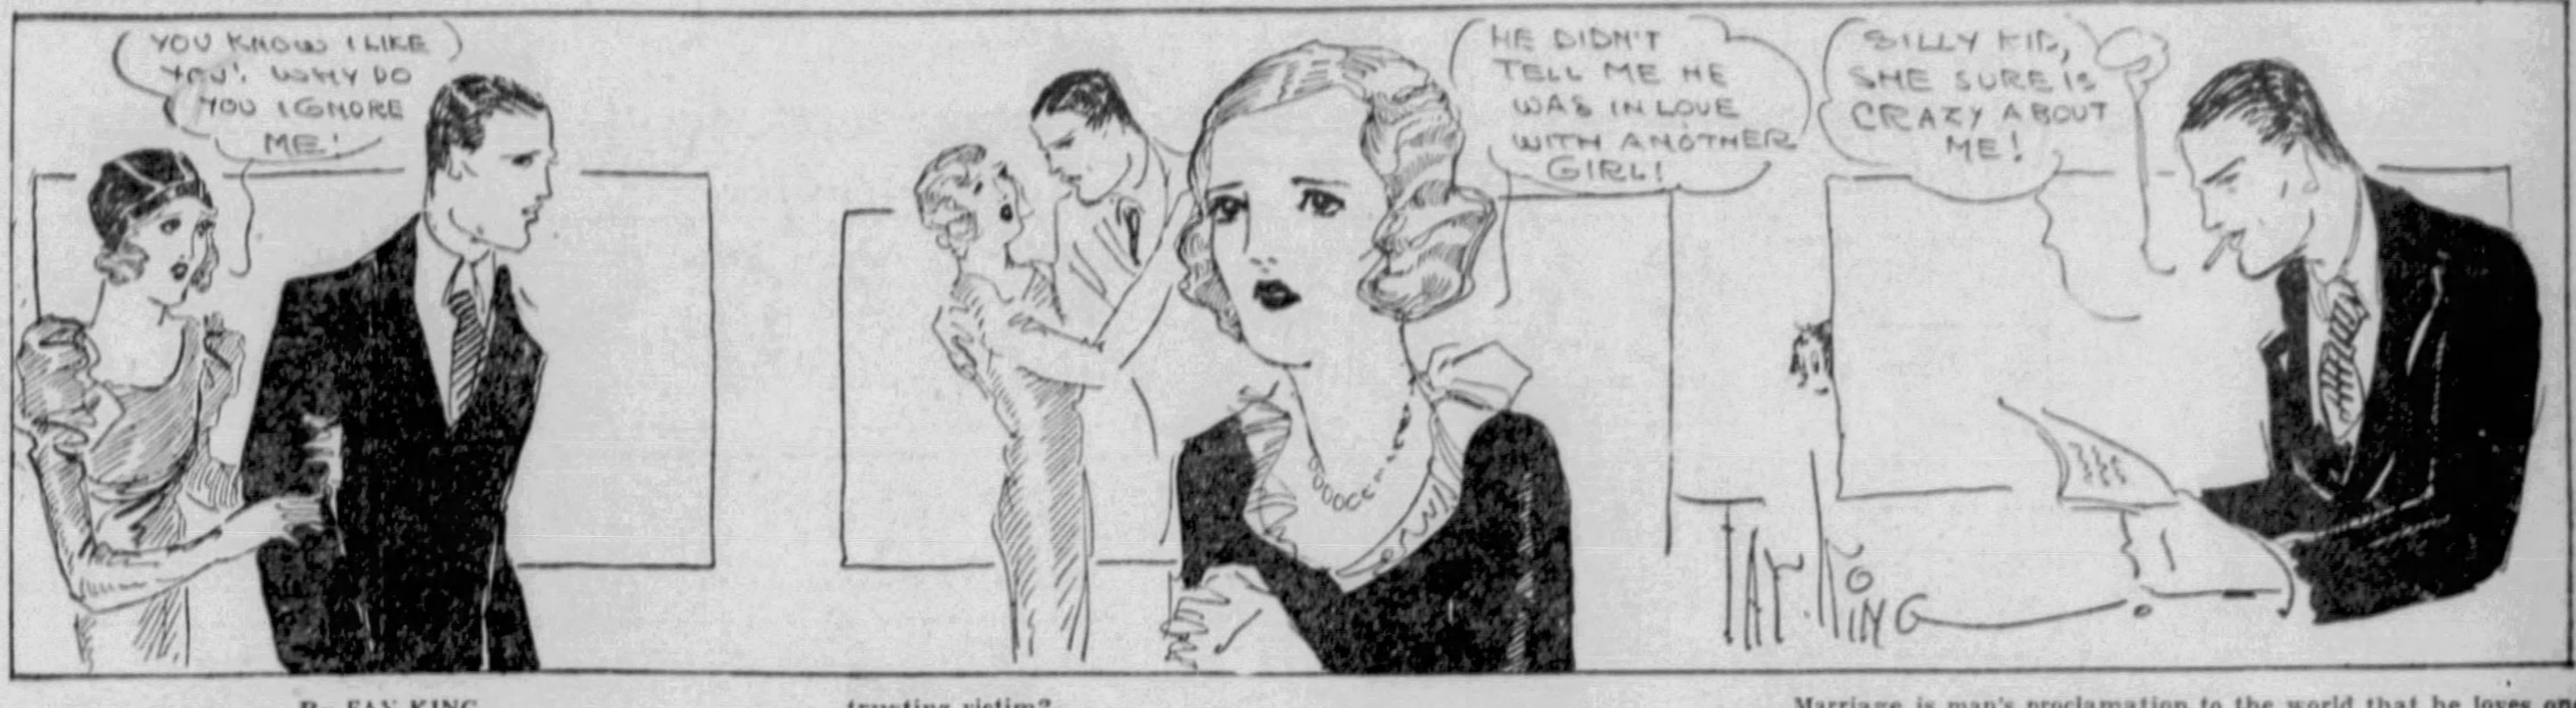
Free Love Bunco Game of Romance, Fay King Insists



YOU KNOW I LIKE YOU! WHY DO YOU IGNORE ME!
HE DIDN'T TELL ME HE WAS IN LOVE WITH ANOTHER GIRL!
SILLY KID, SHE SURE IS CRAZY ABOUT ME!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

When will women realize that free love is the bunco game of romance, with man usually the slick swindler, and woman the trusting victim?

Like all shady deals, free love calls for the most eloquent persuasion.

Just as it takes a great glow of artificial light to make fake jewelry look real, so it takes the most brilliant argument to make free love seem as good as marriage.

But that matter-of-fact contract means more than a trunkful of ardent letters, offering and asking only free love.

Give Children the Benefits of Health-Saving Science

There is consolation in knowing that a recent health survey reports a marked reduction in the number of cases of infantile paralysis. It is just about a year ago that we had a mild epidemic of this dreaded disease, and even now Philadelphia is troubled about it. Many mothers have been unduly alarmed, fearing that the country might again suffer from an epidemic similar to the one experienced in 1916.

Dr. Copeland.

During the past summer months we have had mild outbreaks of scarlet fever, measles and diphtheria, while in some communities an unusual number of cases of typhoid fever was reported. But, as a whole, the health of the nation has been comparatively good.

In what I have said I do not mean, of course, that acute infectious diseases have disappeared, or that the dangers of childhood and adult life have been removed. We have not yet reached this ideal state of affairs, but things are getting better.

There are infectious diseases, nevertheless, that continue to take a heavy toll of innocent young lives; and these tragedies are particularly disturbing because many of them might have been prevented.

We are indebted to and should make greater use of the brilliant work of scientists and medical research men who have discovered cures for and means of prevention of certain diseases. I refer particularly to such ailments as diphtheria, scarlet fever, smallpox and typhoid fever.

Unfortunately, many mothers worry over the health of their children, but do not take advantage of the protection that is available. Much has been accomplished in the preventon and treatment of certain diseases of childhood, but these diseases can be prevented only when the mother reports to the doctor. She must go with her children periodically for health examinations.

I cannot overemphasize the importance of vaccination against smallpox and inoculation against diphtheria. In communities where scarlet fever is particularly prevalent, protection and prevention can be promoted by the administration of scarlet fever antitoxin.

All medical men are familiar with the value and importance of recent advances made in medicine. You readers should all take advantage of their knowledge and protect your households from all diseases that are preventable. You may have the consolation, too, of knowing that intensive studies are being made to master other infectious diseases, particularly pneumonia.

Take stock of your health and the health of your family. Precautions should be taken before illness knocks at your door. If you have health guard it and protect yourself against its destruction by infection and disease.

Answers to Health Queries

K. L. M. Q.—I am troubled with biliousness, what foods should I avoid?

A.—Avoid sweets and excessive starches. For full particulars, restate your question and send a stamped self-addressed envelope.

"A Constant Reader." Q.—I am a boy 16 years old, 5 ft. 7½ inches tall, what should I weigh? 2—How can I gain weight?

A.—You should weigh about 133 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of the age and height as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance. 2.—Eat plenty of good, nourishing food. Get plenty of rest and sleep, practice deep breathing and as a tonic take cod liver oil after meals.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Conserve perfume by using it on garments that are kept in closed bureau drawers. Tuck sachet bags in handkerchief and glove boxes. Spray furs with perfume; they have a miserly way of hanging on to floretted odors. Woolen frocks hold scents better than silk ones. After bathing, dust the body with talcum the same odor as the perfume.

Smartly sophisticated is a newly designed coiffure, the side parting of which extends straight along to the back of the neck. From this parting, wide undulations ripple in an up and down line, a short fringe of button curls finishing the hairdress along the rear hair line. Partings are taking new turns, giving to the hairdress interesting geometrical effect.

Eyes don't change, but mouths do. A mouth is pretty much what a woman makes it. If she clicks it together like a bear trap, it is bound to assume a hard, stern look. Those sophisticated young things who like to assume an air of boredom, an expression that savors of discontent, will be in for beauty troubles later on, considering face lifts, trotting to beauty shops for treatments, investing heavily in tissue creams that are supposed to whisk wrinkles away. By keeping up the corners of the lips the whole fiber structure of the human countenance retains its youthful firmness and smooth surface on into the years.

Invitation Addresses

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A few months ago you printed in your column the correct way to address wedding announcements when sent to several members of one family. Will you kindly repeat this information? F.

If it is possible, it is, of course better if we can send one invitation to Mr. and Mrs. . . . and a separate one to each member of the family who is old enough to receive formal invitations of this kind.

If this isn't possible, then it always seems to me that the form of address on the envelope that gives the next most personal feeling of compliment is the listing of the names on the envelope. (And right here, please, let me say, that it is never correct to address the envelope to Mr. and Mrs. . . . and family.) This is the form I recommend:

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Curtis Wells
The Misses Wells
Mr. James Wells

Or if there is room, the names of the daughters may be written singly:

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Curtis Wells
Miss Mary Wells
Miss Jane Wells
Mr. James Wells

If there are several daughters to receive the invitation, they may be grouped under "The Misses Wells," and several sons may be grouped as "The Messrs. Wells."

The Hope Chest

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you kindly tell me if it is customary for a young girl's fiance to present her with a hope chest? I am planning to be married next spring, and mother is planning to give me a hope chest. I do not think this is correct. Will you please tell me just who is supposed to give a girl her hope chest? J.

There isn't any rule about this giving of the hope chest. The girl may buy it herself, or her mother may give it to her, or her fiance may give it to her. It is for the girl herself to decide which she prefers. Perhaps, if you have decided that you would like to have your fiance give you your hope chest, your mother would be willing to change her gift to one of a part of the contents of the hope chest.

If you think yellow, stained, unsightly-looking teeth are natural, start using Kolynos—a half-inch on a dry brush twice daily. In 3 days you'll see your mistake. Your teeth will look 3 shades whiter!

Kolynos—unlike any preparation you've ever used—contains two important ingredients that clean and whiten teeth remarkably. One—the finest cleansing agent known—erases stain and tartar, foams into every tiny fissure and washes away decay-causing debris. While the other ingredient kills the millions of germs that cause most tooth and gum troubles and helps to make teeth absolutely clean.

Thus Kolynos gently cleans teeth right down to the natural white enamel and soon makes them more attractive than ever. It refreshes the mouth and stimulates the gums. Buy a tube of Kolynos today.

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

A Lead Out of Turn

If a player finds himself in a grand slam contract and sees the wrong opponent lead, it would seem that this should be an occasion for rejoicing, particularly if the contract seems to be one dependent on a finesse. It has been the experience of many players, however, to have a lead out of turn cost the successful fulfillment of a contract of this kind.

Playing in a pair game in Philadelphia, a hand was overbid outrageously, but with the idea that plenty of match points were needed and that the only way the players could keep in the running was to score some absolute top or, in other words, make a certain number of points which no other team could possibly equal. This contract actually could be made and would have been made had not one of the opponents blithely led out of turn and caused the crumbling of the bidding edifice. The hand and the bidding follow:

North—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

North:
♠ A K Q 9 6 3
♡ 9
♢ A J 7 6
♣ K Q

West:
♠ J 7 4
♡ K Q J 8
♢ K 5 2
♣ 10 5 3

East:
♠ 10 5 2
♡ 10 7 6 4 2
♢ 10 9
♣ J 4 2

South:
♠ 8
♡ A 5 3
♢ Q 8 4 3
♣ A 9 8 7 6

The bidding:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | Pass | 2 ♣ | 2 ♡ |
| 3 ♠ | Pass | 3 NT | Pass |
| 4 ♢ | Pass | 7 ♢ | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | | |

South's earlier bidding cannot be criticized, but the eventual bid of seven diamonds was certainly an unwarranted gamble. However, North was rather conservative, and on her strong bidding South felt that the hand must at least contain some play for the Grand Slam. Besides, they needed points badly.

While North was recovering from the shock of hearing South bid seven, after having previously shown nothing but minimums, West calmly opened the heart King. An expression of delight spread over North's countenance and she immediately called a trump lead from East. East, without an instant's hesitation, laid down the diamond 9, which North won in her own hand with the Knave. She now studied the situation very carefully in an endeavor to decide which hand held the diamond King and whether it was now singleton. Finally, after some silent prayer, she laid down the diamond Ace and the contract was defeated 1 trick.

Note what would have happened had there been no lead out of turn and had East made his normal opening of the fourth-best heart. North would have seen immediately that the hand looked fairly hopeless, but she would have made the only play possible under the circumstances—namely, the finesse of the diamond Knave at the second trick.

East would have dropped either the 9 or Ten, depending on his false-carding propensities, and now North would have seen immediately that the only hope for the hand lay in the play of the Queen from Dummy in the hope that the two missing high diamonds would fall together. This would actually have happened, since, if West covered the Queen, the missing 9 or Ten would drop from the East hand and the 8 would be good for the third trick.

The actual Opening lead was a forced lead, and I cannot blame North for her inability to read the situation correctly.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Neither side being vulnerable, South bids one spade on a bare 2½ honor tricks. West bids two clubs and North makes a Jump bid of three hearts. East passes. Is it now compulsory that South bid again after North's Jump, since West had made an intervening bid?

Answer: In the above situation, West's intervening bid has no bearing on North's Forcing Takeout of three hearts, and South is obliged to keep the bidding open even though he holds a minimum hand.

If South holds a stopper in the club suit, he should now bid three notrump. If he does not hold a stopper in the club suit, he should rebid his spade suit, providing he does not have another suit to show, even though the spade suit is a non-rebiddable one and the hand, as a whole, is of minimum strength.

"so tired"..."no strength"

you dare not be "half-well"

—pause a moment and reason in a common-sense way what may be the cause of that tired feeling and its relation to the blood

Is your body receiving full benefit of all the oxygen you breathe?

Every human body in its vital processes needs so much oxygen every minute. Nature has arranged for this by a delicate system of balances.

Every minute the lungs take in so much oxygen from the air, the heart forces so much blood into the lungs, and the hemoglobin in the red-cells of the blood pick up this oxygen and take it to the various parts of the body where it is needed in the vital processes by which the body is nourished and given energy. Normally, and in health, the system is thus supplied with just the amount of oxygen it needs.

You know what happens if the air is shut off from your lungs so that you do not get enough oxygen into them. You stifle, you sicken, and if enough is shut off, you die.

If the heart fails to send enough blood to the lungs to take up the oxygen, you know how serious that is. How the lungs pant to get more oxygen in to compensate for the slowing down of the blood supply!

The thing which you may not know is that the amount of oxygen the blood can take up and carry away from the lungs depends on the number of red-blood-cells and the hemoglobin which they contain.

If you suffer from a deficiency of hemoglobin—low blood count or low red-cell count it is commonly called—the supply of oxygen to the blood is diminished just as effectually as if you had shut off the air supply to the lungs, or as if you suffered from heart disease. Nature strives to compensate against a deficiency of hemoglobin, as it does against an impaired heart action.

SCIENCE tells us that overwork, worry, colds, sickness and diet neglect frequently reduce the red-cells and the hemoglobin content of the blood—and when these are reduced the body and mind are not normal.

The reason of this is that the hemoglobin—in the red-cells of the blood—acts as a carrying agent. It takes up the vital oxygen in the lungs and conveys it to all parts of the body—even to the skin—and brings the accumulated body poison back to the lungs to be thrown off.

Think what this means to you

With the right amount of hemoglobin in your red-blood-cells, your body will have the benefit of more of the vital and purifying oxygen and the poisonous carbon dioxide will be more rapidly thrown off.

Oxygen in the blood . . . organs . . . tissues . . . is so necessary for the proper conversion of nourishment into body heat, energy, muscle tone, tissue repair and for giving vitality to the disease-resisting cells of the body.

S.S.S. builds up the blood

S.S.S., in addition to being a valuable general tonic, has the special property of increasing red-cells and restoring hemoglobin content of the blood, when deficient.

Remember, your system may not have run down in a day or week—such a condition is usually a gradual process—and time may be needed to repair the damage done. S.S.S. is usually effective from the start . . . and as it increases your red-cells . . . and restores your hemoglobin . . . you will begin to feel better . . . look better.

Furthermore, S.S.S. promotes a keen appetite and improves digestion—so necessary in food assimilation.

Proved by scientific tests

A distinctive thing about S.S.S. is that it is made from fresh roots, barks and herbs . . . and being in liquid form it is readily absorbed by the system. It will not interfere with any other treatment you may be taking. Its efficacy has been proved by scientific tests and by use for more than 100 years.

Try S.S.S. yourself. Get it from any drug store. In two sizes: regular and double—the latter is more economical and is sufficient for a two weeks' treatment. It may be the means of bringing better health and more happiness to you. Then why not begin the S.S.S. course of treatment today? Insist on S.S.S.—the proven blood tonic. © The S.S.S. Co.

ONLY EIGHT EASTERN FOES TRIP JOCK

Jock Sutherland

A FINE RECORD against eastern foes stretches behind Jock Sutherland as he prepares to invade West Point with his Panther team for Saturday's battle with the Army at Michie Stadium. In the better than eight years that Jock has been head coach at Pitt, his elevens have met 58 eastern opponents, and of that long string of games they have lost only eight, while winning 46 and tying four. Not since 1928, when Carnegie Tech and West Virginia scored October victories over Pitt, have the Panthers bowed to an eastern team. With a possible chance to get into the lead for the 1932 championship of the Atlantic seaboard by winning over the Army, they are certain to fight even harder than usual to keep this great record unsullied.

The eight wins registered over Pitt by eastern rivals since Sutherland took charge in 1924, have been distributed among four teams. Carnegie Tech and Lafayette each accounted for three, and Wash-Jeff and West Virginia one apiece. Lafayette grabbed three in a row in 1924-25-26; Carnegie took the decision in 1924-26-28; W. & J. was successful in 1924, and West Virginia won in 1928.

GEORGE SHOTWELL, lanky sophomore from Wilkes-Barre, who has been shoved into the breach to hold up the middle of the Pitt line while Joe Tormey spends his afternoons on Trainer Bud Moore's rubbing table, doesn't look like the typical Panther center. He is of a different build and doesn't weigh any too much, a mere 165.

Shotwell is what is known as an instinctively good football player. On the defense he always manages to be in just the right spot. How, he doesn't know himself. But he's always there. He has a lot of spirit, is a good passer, making few bad heaves, and charges like a man of twice his weight.

TORMEY'S UNDERSTUDY PLAYED his prep school football in the same section as did Fullback Izzy Weinstock. These two sophomores, both strong-looking first-year men on the varsity, prepped respectively at Hanover Township High School and Coughlin High School in the Wilkes-Barre district.

Shotwell will get his first real test Saturday against the big, well-drilled Army line in the game at West Point, and should he come through, as Coach Sutherland believes he will do, Pitt will again be well fortified in reserve material for the center post.

PITT HAS BEEN noted for crack centers. A long list of stars stretches back through the years, including Jack Turner, Polly Galvin, Bob Peck, Herb Stein, Charley Bowser, Marsh Johnson and more. And particularly since 1925 there hasn't been a year in which the Panthers were hard up for middle men. Usually they had a double supply. In 1925-26-27, Coach Sutherland had Andy Cutler and Dick Goldberg. In 1928 he had Ray Montgomery and Markley Barnes. In 1929 there were Ralph Daugherty and Barnes. In 1930 and 1931, Daugherty and Tormey took care of the position, and now the Blue and Gold is prepared to carry on with Tormey and Shotwell.

Lew Fonseca

THAT LEW FONSECA will be back in action next year to give the major baseball leagues the unusual total of five playing managers, provided Marty McManus is retained as leader of the Red Sox, is assured. The White Sox pilot says he intends to play regularly at first base.

That amounts to an announcement that Lu Blue has played his last game for the Pale Hose. It bears out reports of strained relations between Blue and the Sox management. The veteran first sacker is said to have resented being lifted from the lineup near the close of the 1932 season and given no further chance to play, despite the fact that he was the most reliable regular on the club.

ONE RUMOR IS that Cleveland wants Blue to replace Eddie Morgan at first base, and another is that Connie Mack would welcome Lu, figuring that he could use him to advantage at first base and shift Jimmy Foxx to third.

Meanwhile the White Sox heads are planning a couple of additional deals. There are two pitchers on other American League clubs that they would like to get, and they hope to land the pair before spring if money will do the trick.

THE FIRST PART of the Petrolle act that had aimed to soften up Tony Canzoneri last night, so that the second part could accomplish his overthrow the more easily in a later match with the lightweight title at stake, didn't click very successfully. Instead of assisting Brother Billy by taking some of the steam out of Canzoneri, Frankie Petrolle, knocked out in the third round, served only to aid the lightweight champion for the fight on November 4 by giving him a helpful little workout.

MANAGING A MAJOR league ball club used to be considered a steady job, but it can no longer be called that. In a single year, exactly 50 per cent of the outfits have changed pilots, only eight of the 16 clubs in the big show still presenting the same leaders they had at the close of the 1931 campaign.

Four new skippers have bobbed up in the National in George Gibson, Bill Terry, Charley Grimm and Max Carey, with a fifth to come in Cincinnati. Only Bill McKechnie, Burt Shotton and Gabby Street hold over from 1931. The American has three new ones in Lew Fonseca, Marty McManus and Joe Cronin. The survivors of 1931 are Joe McCarthy, Connie Mack, Roger Peckinpaugh, Bucky Harris and Bill Killefer.

ONCE MORE PROMINENT in the public eye by reason of his success in driving the Newark club to the International League pennant and then to victory in the little world series, Al Mamaux is taking another fling at vaudeville. He has signed a contract for six weeks.

Mamaux will have quite a job of rebuilding on his hands in Newark next year when the Yankees have taken away from him some of the main factors in his 1932 success, such as Brennan, Murphy, Weaver, Rolfe, Saltzgaver, Walker and Hill. But in the chain system he can always expect strong replacements from the rich club in New York, which is one advantage he has over the average minor league manager.

Kid Chocolate

KID CHOCOLATE, one real champion who has remained uncrowned in the fight game, barring the acquisition of the synthetic junior-lightweight title, finally will ascend a throne tonight, in all probability. The winner of the 15-round bout in New York between Chocolate and Lew Feldman is to be recognized by the Empire State commission as featherweight champion. This may bring about another of those title tangles, as the National Boxing Association lists Tommy Paul as the champion. But inasmuch as Feldman recently defeated Paul in an over-the-weight match, Lew is recognized as having proved himself Paul's superior, so that tonight's winner will have a stronger claim than Paul to the title. Chocolate, generally conceded to be the best 126-pounder in the game today, already holds a couple of victories over Feldman, and it will be surprising if the Kid doesn't win again tonight to take the championship.

REDS TO TAKE TIME CHOOSING NEW PILOT

Honus Wagner

Honus Wagner, one of baseball's brightest stars, was expected to return from Cincinnati late tonight with some kind of tangible information relative to the report that he would be the next manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

Wagner yesterday had a conference with Sidney Weil, president of the Cincinnati club, who is considering Dan Howley's successor from among a score or more of luminaries. The reliable advices are to the effect that Wagner applied for the position.

DUE HOME TONIGHT

At the Wagner home in Carnegie today it was stated that Honus would return from Cincinnati late tonight or perhaps tomorrow. The family said it had no definite knowledge of the plans of the famous player. The Wagner-Traynor Company also had no real line on the probable actions of the firm's official.

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph stated exclusively several weeks ago that President Weil had offered the job to Harold (Pie) Traynor, Pirate captain, during the last jaunt of the Buccos to Cincinnati. The Pittsburgh officials would not do business with the Reds on this point. They wish to retain Pie.

Weil also considers Donie Bush, Frank Frisch, Jim Bottomley, Billy Southworth, Walter Maranville and others in his long list of probable pilots. Bush has asked for a salary said to be as high as $25,000 per season. Donie and Southworth are thought to be favorites for the job.

William E. Benswanger, president of the Pirates, has no definite information on the status of the former Buccaneer star, nor has Samuel E. Watters, vice president. Benswanger said:

"I only know that Mr. Weil has a very high admiration for Wagner."

WEIL UNDECIDED

Weil remains reticent on all talk concerning the new manager. Weil said:

"We have many applications on file, and each will be given consideration. We are not in a hurry to select the new leader, and it may be near Christmas before he is chosen."

Wagner retired from actual play about 15 years ago to enter business, but the call of the sport has also been strong in him. He has kept himself in good condition, and only a few weeks ago took part in the oldtimers' game in Cincinnati. He was warmly received on that occasion, Redland fans being very fond of him.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: AN INDIGENT AMERICAN TREASURY—Martin Van Buren had been president of the United States only a short time when a financial crash occurred which precipitated the greatest panic the country had hitherto experienced. On May 9, 1837, all the New York banks agreed to suspend payment, and all the banks of the country—with only a few exceptions—followed suit. This general and almost simultaneous suspension of special payment completely denuded the Treasury of funds. The government funds in those days were distributed among the banks of 26 states. The President, who had to wait for payment of his salary, initiated steps which led to the separation of the Treasury from the banking institutions of the country and to the establishment of the Sub-Treasury as an agency for handling of government funds. The financial collapse followed a period of speculation and credit-expansion lasting from 1825 to 1835.

M'KEEVER NEW DODGER PREXY

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—The election as president of Stephen W. McKeever, 78-year-old majority stockholders of the Brooklyn National League Baseball Club, yesterday marked a reorganization that ends the long period of factional strife within the Dodgers' official family. McKeever succeeds Frank B. York, who returns to his law business after a three-year term as president.

When the death of Charles H. Ebbets in 1925 removed the dominating executive in the club, McKeever led the fight for the removal of Wilbert Robinson. The latter assumed the duties of president, as well as manager, with the support of the Ebbets heirs, but quickly became involved in disputes with the McKeever interests.

Grant, of the Red Lights, was high for one game with 196, and also was high for three games, with 488.

McGraw Will Not Pilot White Sox

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13.—(INS.)—John J. McGraw will not succeed Lou Fonseca as manager of the Chicago White Sox, at least not for a year, Harry Grabiner, secretary of the Chicago club, here to arrange for spring practice, declared today.

FIGHT CHAMPS EASY VICTORS

BROOKLYN, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—In the chill breezes of Ebbets Field, Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion, opened his assault on the Petrolle family with a smashing three-round knockout of the junior member, Frankie, in a non-title bout scheduled for 10 rounds. Next month he is to defend his crown against the older and more experienced Billy Petrolle.

Although outweighed by nearly eight pounds, Canzoneri left little room for argument. He checked Petrolle's advances with a steady flow of punches to the head in the first two frames and then put him out completely after a little more than a minute of the third.

The other champion on the charity card, Maxie Rosenbloom, who is recognized in New York as light-heavyweight titleholder, gave the 12,000 frigid faithful a few laughs as he took an easy 10-round decision from Jack Redman, lanky South Bend, Ind., Negro. This also was a non-title affair, as Maxie weighed 181¾, and Redman 184.

Fuchs Sells Stock In Boston Club

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Judge Emil Fuchs, head of the Boston National League club for the past decade, has disposed of his stock holdings in the Braves to Charles Adams, one of the partners in the ownership of the club. As a result of the deal, it is understood, Adams is to become the new president of the club.

The deal was consummated through the office of John A. Heydler, president of the National League, and the price paid is said to have been $189,000.

At one time he came close to taking a piece of Willie Davies, of Charleroi, whom he thought he could maneuver into a spot to win the flyweight title, but the deal fell through . . . A smallish man, with white hair, and eternally chewing on a cigar, often unlit . . . That was Jimmy De Forest, who just missed out at getting some of the big money in the heavyweight class by being the man behind the champion.

Whenever anyone tells Lew Raymond, the Arena matchmaker, that a fight doesn't figure to be a good one, he starts off Lew in a reminiscent mood . . . Lew'll tell you that Jack McCormick, a fifth-rater (how bad must a fighter be to be a fifth rater?), knocked out Kid McCoy when McCoy was champion; that Al McCoy was a semi-final fighter when he hit George Chip on the lug and became middleweight champion; that Willie Jackson was just a fair lightweight when he knocked out Johnny Dundee in one round; that Isidoro Gastanaga was virtually an unknown until he kissed out Charley Retzlaff in one round, and that Johnny Datto, while decisively beaten by Lew Massey in their bout here last Friday night, always had a chance, as he proved by twice spilling his man.

Well, the idea of bringing up the subject at this time is to let you know that Raymond thinks Meyer Lichtenstein, of Rochester, N. Y., whom he is bringing in here to fight Ted Yarosz tomorrow night, has a fine chance of grabbing the first duke over the Monaca welterweight . . . Somebody has to be the first one to beat Yarosz, Raymond points out, and it might as well be Lichtenstein . . . Another Jewish fighter, Eddie (Kid) Wolfe, of Memphis, has given Yarosz trouble in two fights recently, getting a draw last Friday night to halt Ted's consecutive winning streak . . . And Lichtenstein has fought many tougher ones than Wolfe.

Ray Alvis, manager of Jackie Fields, Tony Herrera and others, is said to be implicated in a marathon dance now being held in Chicago . . . Harvard and Penn State meet in football for the fifth time Saturday. Two of the games have ended in ties, 13-13 and 21-21. . . . 'Member that dreary, misty day last fall, when Pitt and Army met at the Stadium here, and Pitt's most spectacular display of open football within memory, with all four touchdowns coming from forward passes? . . . The Panthers

Pro Grid Player Limit Increased

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—The National Professional Football League, by a telegraphic vote, has decided to increase its player limit for each club, from 20 to 22, effective this week. This restores the 1931 limit, which was cut down as an economy measure last winter.

WOMEN STARS GAIN FINAL

HOT SPRINGS, Va., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Two former national champions, Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, of Philadelphia, and Miss Helen Hicks, of Hewlitt, Long Island, clash today in the finals of the fall golf tournament here.

Both favorites won their semi-final clashes yesterday with comparative ease, Mrs. Vare defeating Mrs. Kenneth M. Seggerman, of Rumson, N. J., 4 and 3, while Miss Hicks was eliminating Mrs. Dorothy Vare Hulme, of Philadelphia, 4 and 2.

In the men's division, George H. Flinn, Jr., of Pittsburgh; Stanley Stone, of Milwaukee; William H. Platt, of Philadelphia, and Thomas R. Hulme moved to the semi-finals after close decisions in quarter-final tests.

Minor Loops Fail To Draft Players

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Three Class AA baseball circuits failed to select a single player from the lower class circuits during the initial period of the annual minor league draft, it was announced by the office of John H. Farrell, secretary of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

The leagues which did not move to select any players this year were the American Association, International and Pacific Coast.

Centre Defeated By Boston College

TECH TO MISS HOOKS AGAINST WASH-JEFF

By JESS CARVER

Pete Henry

It begins to look like a tough and rough year on the linemen. Most football campaigns are far from kind to the boys in the forward wall, but so far, star members of the Pitt, Duquesne and Carnegie Tech ensembles have been crippled, and crippled, seriously.

Right now, the Panthers are figuring to get along with Joe Tormey at center and the Dukes have a doubtful starter in Jack Donohoe, hefty tackle. Tech enters the picture with its Co-captain, Hooks Sample, apparently out of action for the important tussle with Wash-Jeff Saturday with a bad leg.

The loss of Sample, if he is lost, comes as a severe blow to the Tartans. Carnegie is none too well off for veteran and experienced material, and if it is necessary to go into the scrap with the Presidents with Sample riding the pine (bench to you), the outlook will hardly be rosy. Sample's very presence will serve to inspire, there is no doubt of that, but the team figures to get along a lot better with big Hooks busting 'em high, wide and handsome. All he'll do on the bench will sit there and look pretty, or as pretty as a guard, and a Sample, can look.

HEINZER IN LINEUP

With Sample out of the picture, Coach Bobby Waddell has shifted Clyde Heinzer, the Butler lad, to left guard and placed Bunny Burzio on the right side of the line. Tony Kebe, who played some excellent football last year, will alternate with Heinzer.

Coach Waddell is going into the matter of Tech's defense very carefully as he preps the Plaid for the Wash-Jeff test. The Tartans have come through two minor contests without being scored on, but by no stretch of the imagination, yours or mine or even Mex Hannum's, can Wash-Jeff be classed as a minor foe. The Tartans will have a double worry on their hands Saturday—worry over scoring themselves and worry over keeping W. and J. from punching holes in the goal line.

Coach Hank Day and his two able assistants, Athletic Director Wilbur (Pete) Henry and Bill Ashbaugh, have no slouch of a ball club ready to show off here. The team handles the ball in Day's tricky and deceptive offense like a set of Houdinis, or a lineup of Thurstons—not Thurston, the Brooklyn pitcher, but Thurston, the magician. Tch, tch, tch, such a mistake! The line has been well drilled, it functioned splendidly against Detroit last week, only poor running and blocking by the backs preventing the Presidents from winning, and you can bet that dollar you've been saving it will be "right" for Tech.

The Tipoff

So another football coach passes on at West Point and the Cadets must prepare for a new system of play. Maj. Ralph Sasse, after three years at the Point, will return to duty in the Army after this year and his place will be filled by Lieut. Garrison H. Davidson, end on the 1925 and 1926 Cadet elevens. Graduating in 1927, he has served as assistant coach ever since and will be the first officer with a rank of second lieutenant to coach an Army varsity eleven.

Until the coming of Maj. Sasse as head coach, a rule was in force at the Academy that prevented a coach from remaining more than four years. Then he was transferred to active duty at some other Army post. He received no pay for his work, only his ranking salary. Maj. Sasse, however, became the first professional coach at the Point, and had he so desired, might have remained, but the Major, who is a great guy all the way around and a fine soldier, desired to return to duty with the troops, even as did his predecessor, Biff Jones, and will leave West Point after this year.

I first came in contact with the Major in California with the Army team that was taken apart by Stanford in 1929—Red Cagle's last eleven. The Major was then one of the assistants to Biff Jones, now at Louisiana State. It was Sasse who introduced the Warner system of football, or his interpretation of the system, to the Point. Sasse was so taken with Warner's double-wing back formations in that game at Palo Alto, that he introduced it at the Point the next year, his first as head coach. The Cadets enjoyed considerable success employing such offense tactics. Pittsburgh saw Sasse's team here last year, which was not his best, the 1930 eleven, the one that came within a point of tying Rockne's greatest machine in Chicago, being his best.

World Marks Set In Outboard Meet

BAY CITY, Mich., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—World records in three divisions of outboard motorboat racing fell here yesterday as drivers ran a short series of time trials over a statute mile course.

The best speed ever attained in an outboard was established by Art Sauerberg, St. Louis, Mo., when he drove his boat at an average of 58.915 miles an hour, eclipsing the former world record of 56.525, held by Tom Estlick, Waukegan, Ill.

TURF TRAINER INJURED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(INS.)—Freddie Hopkins, 36, a trainer for the C. V. Whitney stables, was severely injured about the head when a taxicab in which he was riding overturned here early today. Hopkins was taken to Emergency Hospital after the accident, where an X-ray will determine later whether he suffered a fractured skull.

CASEY REGARDS PITT AS LIKELY EASTERN CHAMPION

EDDIE FAVORS PANTHERS IN ARMY CLASH

CASEY'S SELECTIONS

Harvard to trim Penn State.
Yale over Brown by two touchdowns.
Columbia will flatten Virginia.
Fordham to beat Lebanon.
Georgetown should bow to N. Y. U.
Pittsburgh should nose out Army.
Navy to beat Ohio University.
Holy Cross should beat Detroit.
Middlebury losing to Williams.
Carnegie Tech over W. & J.
Cornell to take Princeton.
Dartmouth to beat Pennsylvania.
Lafayette second to Colgate.
Bowdoin should defeat Tufts.

By EDDIE CASEY

Member All-America Board of Football.
(Reg. U. S. Patent Office.)

All eyes are on Yale and the public is surprised that the big Blue team thus far has failed to win. But traditional rivals and observers of many years' experience are not leaping to early conclusions. It is traditional for Yale to develop slowly. By November you will find the lads from New Haven asserting their claim to serious consideration.

Eddie Casey

A tie game with Chicago was unexpected in some quarters, but Yale has the power and the reserves to bring them along rapidly despite a poor start. Saturday's game against Brown will find the Blues up against another hard assignment, but the reaction to the Chicago tie game should make a vast difference, and I pick Yale to win Saturday by a pair of touchdowns.

Yale is not the only important football team to encounter early season obstacles. Upsets and setbacks have been numerous from coast to coast, and with the caliber of the teams becoming better equalized from now on, the games will be of greater consequence and the competition will be a great deal keener.

COLUMBIA STRONG

Columbia's defeat of Princeton was a great tribute to the thoroughness of the coaching of Lou Little. It appears now that Columbia will be one of the outstanding teams of the East and their progress can be very definitely attributed to their coach. They should win from Virginia rather easily.

Fordham continues merrily on its way, and this week has a breather in Lebanon Valley. The fine score they made over Bucknell last week gives us an idea of their tremendous power. New York University should win over Georgetown. This team has developed exceptionally fast under its new coach, Howard Cann, and he deserves much credit for keeping New York up where it was under Chick Meehan.

One of the outstanding games of the year will be the Pitt-Army game at West Point. Last year the Panthers routed the Army rather disastrously. This year Army is priming for this game, and is out for revenge. However, I believe that Pittsburgh will triumph in a close and very exciting game. As a matter of fact, it becomes more evident every week that Pitt will be a contender for the national championship, and a most likely winner of the eastern championship.

The Naval Academy team is beginning to click and will not have too much trouble with Ohio University.

TECH IS FAVORED

Williams should beat Middlebury, a team that is not having much luck so far this season, and Carnegie Tech should defeat Washington and Jefferson. I pick Holy Cross to take Detroit, but this will be a very hard game for the Crusaders, and if they do win they will know well that they have been in a real football game.

Cornell and Princeton will likewise be an outstanding game and a difficult one to pick the winner. Princeton is coming fast under its new coach, and Saturday may be one of its big days.

WESTINGHOUSE PLAYS SOUTH

By JULIUS LEVIN

First place in Section I of the City League race will be at stake this afternoon when Westinghouse and South High, two of the strongest contenders for the title, tangle on the Langley High School gridiron.

The game originally was scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, but was moved up a day because Langley and South Hills are scheduled to clash on that field tomorrow.

Westinghouse, boasting a 12-6 victory over Peabody, holds first place in the Section I race. A defeat at the hands of Coach Washabaugh's South High eleven, will enable the Tenth street gridders to deadlock Schenley High for the top berth as each would show one victory and one tie game.

The two contesting elevens are considered to be the best-coached teams in the Section I group. South has been held to a 7-7 draw by Taylor Allderdice, a team that was strong enough to earn a scoreless deadlock with Schenley, last season's sectional champion and runnerup for the City championship.

Four more City League games will be played tomorrow. In Section I, Fifth Avenue will provide the opposition to Peabody on the East Enders' new athletic field, while in Section II, South Hills, defending City League champion, opposes Langley at Langley. Allegheny plays at Perry and Carrick goes to Oliver.

Coaches Burton and Washabaugh, of Westinghouse and South, respectively, have their charges in first-class condition for their important battle today.

School Notes

One of the reasons for the mediocre showing of the Wilkinsburg eleven so far this season, has been the absence of Victor Fusia, veteran halfback of the Carroll machine. Fusia is out of action with torn ligaments and Carroll has been having trouble discovering a sub to fill the vacancy.

The annual Rankin-Braddock football game for this year has been called off by mutual consent because neither school has a home field. As a result of the cancellation, Rankin will play at Cecil tomorrow.

Burgettstown Union High will have Elizabeth as its attraction at Burgettstown tomorrow.

Bill Lentz, star punter of the South Hills High team, who has been out of action due to a chipped bone in his ankle, is hobbling around on crutches. There is a possibility that Lentz will be lost to the Tunnelites until the closing weeks of the season.

New Castle High, one of the undefeated elevens in the Class AA Conference race, is not looking for anything soft in its battle with Washington at New Castle tomorrow night. That 27-0 defeat New Castle suffered at the hands of the Little Presidents will serve as an added incentive to crush the invaders.

ARMY PRIMED FOR PITT

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—The Army squad had its hardest workout of the season yesterday in the drive to prepare for the Pitt game. The drill was divided between a stiff defensive drill and an offensive session which featured smashing line plays.

The kickers had a long session designed to correct the weakness of missing the points after touchdowns.

Eastern Briefs

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—The Princeton varsity put on a point-a-minute attack against the scrubs yesterday, scoring six touchdowns on brilliant running by James and Drault and passing by Kadlic. The scrimmage was preceded by a defensive dummy drill against Cornell plays.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Columbia had another three-hour session yesterday, half of it devoted to defense against Virginia plays. The assistant coaches joined with the scrub line to make the assault stronger, but their only gains were on passes.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Fordham reported three injuries yesterday that will keep men out of the Lebanon Valley game. Joe Bonetski has an injured knee, George Fenton a damaged arm and Red Keenan a lame ankle.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Tuesday's changes in the Yale lineup were altered again yesterday as two linemen returned to their old positions and the backfield shift was reversed. The change worked well in a long defensive scrimmage.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Brown's work in its final hard scrimmage yesterday before the Yale game was disappointing. The first team showed so little concerted attack that the drill was cut short.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Harvard had a morning workout yesterday in order to see Boston College and Centre play in the afternoon. Only the third varsity had any heavy work, the first two teams getting only a tuning-up session.

GRINS From the GRID

—By O. W. (Red) Severence—

(Written for Associated Press.)

NO. 3

The Army football team prides itself on being a rough, hard-driving outfit, but Maj. R. I. Sasse, head coach at West Point, tells a yarn in which an humble porter on an overnight Pullman made the squad feel like a group of playful high school boys.

During an overnight rail trip for one of the big games on the 1931 schedule one of the players slipped from his berth in the wee, small hours and collected the street shoes of the entire team. Hiding them, he turned in again and was sleeping blissfully next morning when the shoeless team awoke.

Shouts, complaints and threats went up as the hunt began, and it was toward noon before John, the Pullman porter, located the hiding place. Meanwhile there had been a continuous uproar as the disgruntled players turned the car inside out in their search.

Impressed by the noise and bustle, one of the younger players said to the porter:

The porter replied:

"Ah, no sah. Last week I carried the Notre Dame team on this car, and dey collected the shoes, too. But dey didn't hide 'em: no sah, dey threw 'em off the train."

'CHASE TAKEN BY RED FIRE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

A grueling head-to-head finish between two great horses on top of three and one-half miles of steeplechase competition today gave thousands of Pittsburgh district hunts race lovers a bright topic for warm comment. The gripping event was developed yesterday in the Western Pennsylvania Hunts Cup event which featured the annual Western Pennsylvania Hunts Race Association meeting held at Hunlands, near Greensburg.

The favorite, Barleycorn, scratched. Red Fire and Pink Tipped proceeded to steal the show as these dazzling mounts went into a furious sprint after taking the last hurdles that led into the home stretch. Red Fire, ridden by Mr. George L. McCook, was leading by less than a head as J. E. Ryan, a big winner of the day, pushed Pink Tipped over the finish line.

FINISH CLOSE

The 2,000 or more men and women who witnessed the Columbus Day meet burst into cheers as the two horses and their riders went into the stretch, neck and neck. You could have thrown a blanket on the pounding steeds all the way down to the line, the others in the field far outdistanced. It was a great race all the way, but the sprint performance of the two leaders after conquering the endurance run was something to stand as a high spot in the annals of the sport of this neighborhood.

FLACCUS INJURED

It was feared that Flaccus was seriously hurt, but he responded to medical attention.

The summary:

Westmoreland Cup—Won by Last Cast, J. E. Ryan, Chester County, Pa., weight 164; second, Rienzi, J. C. Hamilton, Warrington, Va., weight, 154; third, Silver Dawn II, John Lawrence, Fox Chapel, 162. Time—:59 3-5. Also ran—Blazeola.

Westmoreland Hunts Steeplechase, 3½ miles—Won by Red Fire, Mrs. George R. McNary, George L. McCook, Pittsburgh; Pink Tipped, R. K. Mellon, Pittsburgh; J. E. Ryan, Chester County, Pa., second; Bandmaster, George C. Davidson, Pittsburgh, third; Reformed, L. W. Robinson, Jr., Alfred Hamilton, Warrington, Va., fourth. Starborn, Bliss Flaccus, Pittsburgh, also ran. Time—:06:46.

Columbus Day Special, 1 mile flat race—Won by Quadrel, Mrs. Lewis A. Park, Sewickley; J. E. Ryan; Flit, A. A. Busch, St. Louis; A. A. Freece, second; Blue Fish, J. T. Hamilton, Warrington, Va., third. Time—:01:47. Value, Rectangle, The Code also ran.

PITT LEAVES TONIGHT FOR ARMY FRAY

Dr. Jock Sutherland will lead his University of Pittsburgh football varsity out of town tonight, head it for West Point, home of the U. S. Military Academy, and trust to train and boat to get it to the Point by tomorrow. Saturday, the Panthers engage in their initial major test of the season, battling Maj. Ralph Sasse's Army eleven in Miche Stadium.

The Panthers will hold a lengthy drill on their practice field this afternoon, the final hard workout before the game. Tomorrow's drill at the Point will be light.

The Panthers went through a strenuous workout yesterday with all hands on deck save Joe Tormey, injured varsity center. Tormey hurt his back the week before the West Virginia game and remained out of the rout at Morgantown. He started against the Dukes last week, but had his hurts aggravated, and yesterday Coach Sutherland was informed that Joe's chances of playing against the Cadets were very doubtful. In fact, the Erie star may be out of the lineup for an indefinite period. His place over the ball will be taken by George Shotwell, rangy sophomore, who has been doing yoeman duty as relief pivot man.

The Panthers will pull out at 11:56 tonight. They will arrive in West Point at 12:30 tomorrow and will hold a final pre-game workout in Miche Stadium.

Reports from New York indicate a capacity crowd, which means about 30,000 people.

For the benefit of the Pittsburgh followers, the Army is going to put on lots of brass band and gold braid parading. They are going to try and reciprocate for the big time they were given in Pittsburgh last year.

Maj. Sasse's footballers also will attempt a little reciprocating of their own. There is that little 26-0 score of last year to be avenged.

MANITOBA WINS STAKE RACE

NEWMARKET, England, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Lord Woolavington's colt Manitoba today won the Middle Park stakes at six furlongs to take the favorite's place for the Derby and other 3-year-old classics of next year.

The Middle Park, one of the leading tests for 2-year-olds, carries an added purse of about $15,000.

The Aga Khan's Felicitation, at 3 to 1, was second, and Lord Durham's Tiger, at 4 to 1, was third. Manitoba was a warm favorite at the short odds of 11-10.

FITZGERALD GETS ACE

Gerald Fitzgerald, well known local minor league baseball player, scored a hole-in-one at Fox Chapel yesterday when he sank his tee shot on the 183-yard sixth hole. Fitzgerald played with Norfolk in the Eastern League and York in the New York-Pennsylvania League last summer.

TUT STOPS FREEMAN

RENO, Nev., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—King Tut, 153 pounds, of Minneapolis, knocked out Johnny Freeman, 150 pounds, of Dayton, O., in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night. Freeman went down twice in the first round for nine counts. The fight was Tut's first since he injured a hand several weeks ago.

KISKI DRILLS FOR NAVY

After three weeks of rough preliminary practice, the Kiski team is looking ahead to its annual game with the Navy Plebes at Annapolis Saturday.

As every regular member of last year's team graduated last June, the coaches have had a big task on their hands.

Jim Reynolds, of Pasadena, Cal., is captain of this year's team and is playing a great game at right tackle. Kelly, of Ford City, likely will play the other tackle. The guards are Bukey, of last year's squad, and Morris, a younger brother of Hart Morris, of recent Pitt fame. Gascoigne, of Swissvale, and Wissinger, of Johnstown, are waging a hot fight for the center job. Lehman, a 190-pounder, of Lancaster, and Gibson, of last year's team, will likely be the ends.

Jim Marks, Jr., son of the Kiski advisory coach, will play quarter and the other three backs will be chosen from Gillander, of Perrysville High; Lafferty, of Altoona; Kuzman, of Saltsburg; Sabatina, of Bellaire; Huston, of Clarion; Lippert, of Pittsburgh; Batdorf, of Lancaster; Lewis, of last year's team, of Pittsburgh.

WARD TOURNEY VICTOR

H. C. Ward, with a low net of 87-15—72, won the first prize in the annual fall golf tourney of the Pittsburgh Bond Club at the Pittsburgh Field Club yesterday. L. M. Arthur was second with a 73 and R. B. Reed third with a 74.

COLLINS ON MEND

ALL-STAR CAST WITH SEALS

An all-America cast of football players will give the fans pointers on the game during the weekly program of the Trained Seals of the Sports Department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph over WCAE next Wednesday evening.

Joe Donchess, end; Jess Quatse, tackle; Ray Montgomery, guard, and Ralph Daugherty, center, now assistant coaches of Pitt's squad, all of whom received all-America mention during their playing careers, will tell how their positions should be played, while Bill Kern, former Panther star lineman, now a scout for Pitt, will tell how a scout works as he observes the play of a future opponent to get a line on the necessary defensive strategy to be worked out.

Capt. Paul Reider and Warren Heller, ace halfbacks of the current Pitt team, will divulge secrets of backfield play. Dr. William D. (Bill) McClelland, a Pitt star in the days when Head Coach Dr. Jock Sutherland also was a Panther player, will quiz the stars of the present and the past, assisting Harry Keck, sports editor of the Sun-Telegraph, in handling the program.

Pitt music will be played by Miss Marian Salmon, WCAE pianist, and Herb McGee, announcer, also will participate.

A talk on the metamorphosis of physical training at Pitt and a series of songs by the Haydn Four, of Grove City, featured last night's Trained Seals' offering.

CURRY TO FACE VALLEY CAMP

The largest soccer crowd of the season probably will trek to South Park on Sunday to see the Keystone League battle with the Curry and the Valley Camp elevens swinging in action.

The changing of the name threw a number of soccer followers off the track, but Valley Camp is practically the old Gallatin club. The team has three wins under its belt to date.

The Zoneys are going to have tough sledding. Valley Camp, Curry and Bridgeville will have teams good enough to win the title, but the big opposition will come from Valley Camp.

Harry Sickles, former Gallatin star, who played with Shannon last season, is leading the Campers. Sickles is smart to surround himself with plenty of talent.

Horse Races Open Greene Co. Fair

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 13.—The eightieth annual Greene County fair opened yesterday at Carmichaels with a program of three running races. The summary:

Greene County stake, 5 furlongs—Peggy (Palosky), first; Gloaming Belle (Rockwell), second; Fred A. (Armstrong), third. Holdfast also ran. Time—1:08.

Greene County special, 5 furlongs—Whiskery (Tennant), first; Frizzle (Bolinea), second; Gloaming (Armstrong), third. Billy also ran. Time—1:07.

Thoroughbred race, 6½ furlongs—Kilmolash (Palosky), first; Fire (Armstrong), second; Louis Rubenstein (Rockwell), third. Graymour also ran. Time—1:21.

HOW TO DRIVE TO PITT GAME

The country's most beautiful autumn scenery awaits the motorist who plans to drive to West Point tomorrow for Saturday's game between the Pitt Panther and the Army Mule. James A. Hemstreet, travel director of the Automobile Club of Pittsburgh, today outlined a 424-mile route to the battlefield, as follows:

U. S. No. 30 to Chambersburg; U. S. No. 11 to Harrisburg; U. S. No. 22 to Bethlehem; turn left on State No. 12 to Sciota; turn right on U. S. No. 209 to Stroudsburg and Milford; take U. S. No. 6 through Port Jervis, N. Y., to the Hudson River at Bear Mountain Bridge; turn left on U. S. No. 9W and follow that highway to West Point.

The route may be retraced to Pittsburgh, but those who wish to spend Saturday night in New York City should take U. S. No. 9W south along the Hudson to the Bear Mountain Bridge, cross to Peekskill and take U. S. No. 9E to Manhattan, entering by Riverside Drive and Broadway.

From New York to Pittsburgh, leave Manhattan by the Holland tunnels, take U. S. No. 1 and New Jersey No. 25 to Elizabeth, N. J.; turn right on U. S. No. 22 and follow it through Easton to Harrisburg. From Harrisburg take either U. S. No. 22 on to Pittsburgh, or U. S. No. 11 to Chambersburg and U. S. No. 30 to Pittsburgh.

PAPALES LOSE MORBITO AND GOLDBERG

SANDLOT STARS HURT, MAY BE OUT FOR YEAR

By TOM BIRKS

Seeking to bolster the club for the remaining battles in the West Penn Conference, Charley Papale, owner of the East Liberty Papales, and Manager Mark Knapp, have been scouring the district in search of talent to replace casualties suffered last Sunday.

Winning the Bellaire game was costly to East Liberty, for Hymie Goldberg, star halfback, and Joe Morbito, fullback, were injured and probably lost to the club for the remainder of the season.

Goldberg received a slight brain concussion, and Morbito had a few ribs injured. Pete Susanno, of Uniontown, a highly touted ball carrier, and Charley Overley, of Greensburg, a tackle, have been signed.

KLINZING STAR

The veteran Boots Klinzing has been bearing the brunt of the attack, so Susanno should prove to be a big help. Susanno and Overley will be in the lineup against West View Sunday.

The smashing offensive of the Burns eleven again was in evidence last night at New Kensington when the Firemen defeated West View, 24 to 0 in a game that found Stanley Berkman starring with long runs.

The Rooney-Erie Pro game drew a fair crowd at Greenlee Field, and the highly touted former Duquesne University star thrilled the crowd with four periods of passing. Some were completed, some were intercepted, some went astray, but none scored any points.

PASSES FAIL

The Rooneys could not be credited with playing smart football at times, and the Erie outfit never seemed to stop trying to score by throwing passes. The crowd got a thrill in the third period when Franklin Hood started throwing passes. He threw one 40 yards to Harp Vaughan, standing out in the open over the Erie goal line, but the ball got away from Harp.

A large crowd watched the Etna Sycamores and the Scott Morgans battle to a 6-6 tie game at Etna High School Field. The game was a lightweight Conference affair and meant much to both clubs.

Peeny Newlin and Lynch starred as Christy Park walloped the Brownsville Independents at Olympia Park last night, 39 to 0. Newlin scored three touchdowns. Lynch returned a Brownsville punt 95 yards for a score in the longest run of the game.

The Burns-West View and Rooney-Erie lineups:

Hopes to Beat Yarosz

MEYER LICHTENSTEIN . . . BOXES HERE TOMORROW

Now that Ted Yarosz' winning streak has been halted at 56 with a draw in his bout with Eddie (Kid) Wolfe in New York last Friday night, Lichtenstein hopes to be the rst man to win over the Monaca star, in their battle at the Arena here tomorrow night.

AUSTIN TO FACE OHIO STATE

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—A home town boy who made good at the big university will be on display before his neighbors when the Michigan football team battles Ohio State in Columbus Saturday. Tom Austin, sophomore tackle whose home is in Columbus, has been announced as probable choice to start at right tackle by Coach Harry Kipke.

Ayton to Return To Native Scotland

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Laurie Ayton, one of the first Scotch golf professionals to come to the United States, is going back to his native land to live.

Ayton long has been known as one of the game's outstanding players, but recurrent illness has forced him out of the important championships. He plans to leave for Scotland November 18.

AMATEURS BOX TONIGHT

Two amateur boxing shows are scheduled for tonight, one at McKeesport, taking the place of the weekly professional card there, and the other at the Allegheny Elks' Club.

Mushy Callahan vs. Hooks Wargo, Fritz Waldeck vs. Shorty Washko, Anson Greaves vs. John Chapman, Johnny Aeles vs. Dutch Weir, Teddy Movan vs. Tony Norris, Morrie Reiter vs. Jack Bailey, John Bodnar vs. Ray Poskin, Eddie Schaffer vs. Mike Bukovar, Dummy Joe Pie vs. Joe Baske, Frankie McLaughlin vs. Chuck Kenney, Jimmy Marks vs. Billy Poskin and Young Lowstetter vs. Sammy Crovatta.

GIZZY TO BOX HERRERA AT GARDEN

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Amateur bouts, Palisades Rink, McKeesport.

Amateur bouts, Allegheny Elks Club.

Pete Nebo vs. Young Firpo, 10 rounds, Philadelphia.

By HARRY KECK.

A match long in the making finally has been closed as the headliner of the reopening show of Motor Square Garden, now set for one week from next Monday night. It will be between Battling Gizzy, leading local lightweight, and Tony Herrera, of Chicago, a long-time favorite with the local fans.

Gizzy signed for the match only when the Garden threatened to call off negotiations and rematch Herrera with Eddie (Kid) Wolfe, who gave Tony a tough fight at the Meyers Bowl during the recent outdoor season, and recently held Ted Yarosz to a draw in New York. Rather than lose what should be a lucrative engagement, Gizzy decided to take a flyer which his manager, Abie Witz, has been sidestepping for him since last winter.

Between Rounds

Frankie Carlton, of New York, wants to show here against Battling Gizzy, Charley Baxter or any of the other lightweights. He has just won 10 fights in a row in Holyoke, Mass., and goes to the post again there next Monday night, against Pete Nebo. Lew Brown, of New York, is his manager.

Terry Waner, of the North Side, has been substituted for Mickey O'Brien, of North Braddock, as the opponent of Fritzie Zivic in the second bout at the Arena, tomorrow night, O'Brien having injured a hand in training. Meyer Lichtenstein, who meets Ted Yarosz in the main bout, is due in town today.

The Kid Chocolate-Lew Feldman 15-round bout in Madison Square Garden, New York, tonight, will be broadcast by WWSW, via a telegraphic report from the ringside. The rounds will be broadcast as they are transmitted instantaneously.

Meyer Lichtenstein's record includes knockouts over Dorey Shimar, Freddie Mueller, Gene Cardi, Larry Madge and Kid Sullivan, decision victories over Joe Dundee, former welterweight champion, and Farmer Joe Cooper, and draws with Sam Bruce and Bucky Lawless. He has been stopped only once, by Eddie Ran, and has lost to Lawless and Jackie Brady. Other opponents include Andy DiVodi, Claude (Kid) Capley and Battling Dozier.

Sport Vignettes

Ohio State, fresh from its 7-7 tie game with Indiana last week, must meet Michigan the day after tomorrow at Columbus. And Michigan bumped off Northwestern, 15-6, last Saturday. Ohio State won last year's game, 20-7 . . . The Carnegie Tech-W. & J. football rivalry dates back to 1906, with 18 games having been played and only three of them won by Tech, with three others ties . . . Tech didn't win until 1920, and always has found W. & J. its pet jinx and aversion. W. & J. won last year's frolic, 10-7 . . . It looks like another real battle at the Stadium, Saturday.

HARRY KECK.

CHESS ACES EVEN

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—No decision was reached in the game between Dr. Alexander Alekhine and Isaac Kashdan in the sixth round of the international chess tournament and, after 45 moves the two leaders adjourned their game in a fairly even position. It is expected the result will be a draw.

Fight Results

DUKES READY FOR PETRELS

Both the Dukes and Oglethorpe will drill under the lights at Forbes Field tonight, completing preparations for their tussle here tomorrow night. Oglethorpe's Stormy Petrels are due in from their home roost in Atlanta, Ga., around 8 o'clock and will repair directly to the Oakland ball park for a workout. The Oglethorpe team will establish headquarters at Webster Hall.

Coach Elmer Layden, of the Dukes, has indicated that he will start the same eleven men that heard the opening kickoff in the Pitt game against the Petrels. If Jack Donohoe is able, he'll be placed at his right tackle post and Steve Sinko returned to the bench.

OGLETHORPE STRONG

In addition to the fact that the Oglethorpe team is a greatly improved club over that which the Dukes downed 6 to 0 last year with considerable difficulty, the Southerners boast a kicker who is second to none in the country. Ray Walker, kicking quarterback, is the star around whom Harry Robertson has molded his 1932 club.

Walkers' kicking is expected to keep the Dukes deep in their own territory, despite the best efforts of Silvio Zaninelli, Duke booting mainstay.

The Duquesne eleven has been regaled throughout the week with numerous blackboard drills on the Oglethorpe strategy, Joe Bach having reported an attack which will be hard to stop.

Weak spots which crept out repeatedly in the Duke game with Pitt have been given much attention by the Duquesne coaches.

DUKES HOPEFUL

It will be an improved Duquesne team which meets Oglethorpe but the question in the minds of Duke alumni, students and other followers, is whether or not the Red and Blue will be good enough to withstand the Southerners' onslaught and at the same time push over a score or two of their own.

Knockout Features Amateur Ring Show

INGRAHAM DEAD

Paul G. Ingraham, well known in Tri-state district sandlot baseball circles, died yesterday in the Tuberculosis League Hospital after an illness of several years. His home was in Washington, Pa.

LOOKOUTS WIN

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Cold weather and a stiff wind failed to check the Chattanooga Lookouts yesterday and they defeated the Gallos team, 9 to 4, to take a 2-1 lead in the series.

WCAE OFFERS PITT GAME ON AIR

Followers of the Pitt football team who will be unable to attend Saturday's game with the Army at West Point will have the game brought to them play by play through the facilities of Station WCAE, the Voice of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, it was announced today.

A telegraphic description of the game will be furnished by the Sun-Telegraph and will be reproduced in the studio, with crowd and musical effects. It will be the next best thing to a seat in the Michie Stadium at the Point.

The broadcast will begin at 2 o'clock, when the game gets under way. There will be no broadcast from the field.

New Rifle League To Be Formed

Formation of a Western Pennsylvania Rifle Association, to include the more than 50 clubs located at points between Erie and Waynesburg, and as far east as Altoona, is to be effected at a meeting in the Board of Commerce Building, Meadville, Sunday afternoon. Delegates from many of the clubs, including the Fort Pitt Rifle Club, of Pittsburgh, and South Hills Sportsmen's Association, are expected to attend.

A small-bore rifle match between picked teams of 15 shooters from the Northwest and Southwest districts is to precede the meeting. The teams will fire 20 shots at 50 yards and 20 shots at 100 yards, using any sights.

The Keystone Rifle League, composed of clubs from Pittsburgh, Butler, New Brighton and other sections of the Pittsburgh district, held a meeting at the Tarentum Sportsmen's Association club rooms last night to elect a team captain and two coaches for the Southwestern team that will go to Meadville.

Revolver clubs of the district are being urged to go into the association, and plans are to be discussed for a big Western Pennsylvania series of matches.

Japanese Are Killing This U. S. Industry

By B. C. FORBES

ACTUAL day-to-day experience is demonstrating that America needs tariff revision upward in certain directions quite as much as revision downward.

Mr. Forbes

In some industries money which should rightfully be going into American pay envelopes is going to foreign workers whose standards of living are very different.

The next Congress, regardless of its dominating political complexion, will encounter most vigorous demands that glaring loopholes in our tariff will be patched. In view of the appalling unemployment here, our law-makers are likely to grasp the urgency of giving American bread-winners fair play.

CHARLES M. SCHWAB complained this week that foreign steel was being dumped in this country under unjust conditions which should be promptly and effectively combatted by Washington. Similar complaints have come from such basic industries as lumber and cement.

The last Congress did provide tariff protection in a few directions, notably for copper and oil.

Periodically for a generation the world had discussed "the yellow peril." This peril has overtaken with a vengeance one American industry and is closing factories and ousting workers at this moment

HERE ARE the facts:

When American factories were engrossed in providing materials to fight the war in Europe, Japan seized opportunity to make electric lamps. By 1928 Japan was able to ship to the United States 37,000,000 lamps. Last year the total reached 70,000,000. This year imports are running at the rate of 89,000,000.

THE JAPANESE have a double advantage in competing with American lamp manufacturers: First, extraordinarily low wages, and, second, the present depreciated state of Japanese currency.

The average wage of the Japanese worker is one-seventh to one-fifth of ours. The Japanese female factory worker earns from $100 to $160 per year, against $800 here; the skilled Japanese mechanic, $250 to $300, against $1,500.

THIS RAPID absorption of the American market means, of course, the throwing idle of thousands of men and women formerly engaged directly or indirectly in this industry.

Perhaps worse still, from the customer's viewpoint, is the tremendous increase in the amount paid for current to operate the Japanese lamps because of their grossly inferior efficiency.

Elaborate tests "reveal that the Japanese lamps consume 20.5 per cent more electricity to produce a given amount of light." The excess bill of users of these Japanese lamps amounted last year to $11,000,000. The saving in the cost of the lamps was only $1,900,000.. This year the net loss will be much larger.

IS IT NOT somewhat ironic that most of the 54,000,000 small-sized lamps being imported from Japan this year will be sold for Christmas tree use?

IN 1928, when the Japanese imports equaled 27 per cent of our total domestic consumption, General Electric supplied more than 34,000,000 and Westinghouse upward of 12,000,000 Christmas tree lamps. Now the Japanese product is sold here "below the actual domestic cost of the raw materials essential to manufacture of the lamps."

GENERAL ELECTRIC completely closed its Cleveland miniature lamp factory last fall, consolidated its similar Newark factory with a large lamp factory at the opening of this year, and finally suspended completely operations of its miniature lamp factory at Buffalo this month.

WILD CARGO

By FRANK BUCK
With EDWARD ANTHONY

in an operation of this kind is the one who is handiest with the rope. He also has to be the nerviest of the three, for his is no feat of long-distance roping. His rope is much too heavy and cumbersome for such work, and, besides, these natives know nothing about lassoing.

'THE PATSY' CAPTURED

As the shouting and arm-waving pair started their crazy dance, the elephants suddenly halted in their flight, rearing up on their hind legs and emitting snorts of dismay. The ravine was now choked with milling, trumpeting elephants, struggling to work their way out of the wedge. The man with the rope, the working end of which consisted of a big loop, had been waiting for this moment. His job was to slip cautiously in among the panic-stricken herd and get the loop around the upraised leg of one of the churning and jostling pack—an animal in or near the last row that wasn't too big to handle. Hastily looking over his prospective victims, he selected his elephant—a medium-sized female that was locked between two larger specimens in the rear—and waited for her to lift one of her legs.

The second she did this he slipped the noose around the upraised member and speedily tightened it. Then, without losing any time, he ran back with the rope and worked it several times around the nearest stout tree—one that he had picked out earlier as the likeliest for his purpose.

This done, he shouted to his jumping, gesticulating comrades to notify them that it was no longer necessary to hold the herd at bay. The pair quickly left their posts and rushed to his aid. Simultaneously the elephants in the front rank went tearing straight ahead, releasing the other animals in the ravine, and soon the herd minus only The Patsy, who was caught—were moving along peacefully through the jungle, browsing again as before the Ceylonese three appeared.

CAPTIVE IS TAMED

The next move was to take a half-hitch around the tree with the rope by way of doubly securing The Patsy. Then the animal was worked back till she was flush against the tree—one of the trio jumping up and down and waving his arms as before to accomplish this, his companions readjusting the rope and taking up the slack. When their captive was lashed fast to the tree the natives proceeded with the job of hobbling her front feet with rattan.

Then began the process of taming, which covered a period of two to three weeks, and which I shall not attempt to describe here. It's a story in itself, the details of which are not essential to the present narrative.

The job of taming over, the Singhalese entered upon the final stage of their task – the business of walking their captive home, a long and arduous proceeding.

I had just arrived in Kandy from Colombo where my main business was the assembling of a fine collection of birds and small animals to fill a number of important orders. Among the required specimens which I had been successful in securing were green flycatchers, blue rollers, coppersmiths (beautiful bright green birds whose cry suggests someone pounding on copper), dahl thrushes, golden-throated green bulbuls, red jungle fowl (from which species all modern poultry is descended), bonnet monkeys, langurs and specimens of the long-tailed gray woolly monkey of Ceylon.

NEGOTIATES FOR ANIMAL

Kandy is only a short journey from Colombo and [illegible] made the trip there to see if I could pick up a good-natured, medium-sized elephant capable of being trained to carry children. I had an order for two such elephants.

One of these animals secured (it was in my compound at Katong, outside Singapore), I was now looking for the other. Kandy is the main clearing house for elephants in Ceylon.

I learned from the first trader I visited that a young elephant very much like what I wanted had just been brought in from the jungle. For a fee he agreed to accompany me as interpreter to the open field where the animal was being held. Not long afterward I opened negotiations with the three Singhalese for The Patsy.

They told me how they had captured her, which I described earlier, their story varying only slightly from what I had once observed myself on one of these strange equipmentless elephant hunts. The primitive process is standard among the expert elephant men of the Ceylonese jungle.

First I gave The Patsy a thorough examination. She was a good strong animal and of the right size. Her feet were in good condition and her legs were straight and sturdy. Her only deficiency was that she was full of ticks. The creases in her trunk and behind the shoulders and ears and the wrinkles on the inner side of the upper legs were alive with these little pests.

CAUSE OF ANNOYANCE

I suppose it sounds surprising that as thick-skinned an animal as an elephant can be annoyed by ticks, but it is a fact none the less. The skin where the creases and wrinkles form becomes very tender and these places are the ones sought out by the vermin.

An elephant that has as many ticks as The Patsy (luckless devil!) is bound to be fretful and fidgety. The pestiferous insects make her uncomfortable and as a result the job of transporting her becomes very difficult. I know of few things more trying than the task of traveling with a restless elephant for any real distance.

I told the three Singhalese that before I would consider buying their elephant (they were very anxious to sell) they would have to remove the ticks. The spokesman laughed and assured me that ticks on an elephant weren't anything to worry about. Most elephants had 'em. Surely the white gentleman must be having his first experience with elephants if he did not know that. I didn't trouble to tell him how many dozens of elephants I had handled. I concentrated on getting the interpreter to convey to him that no elephant with ticks had ever entered my compound and that I had no intention of setting a precedent.

BURNED BY DISINFECTANT

Seeing that I meant business, the spokesman promised to have the ticks removed by the following day.

The next day I met the three Singhalese at the appointed hour. They were jabbering away excitedly when I arrived. The Patsy was snorting and stamping around as if in great discomfort, rubbing against a tree by way of scratching himself. I could see at a glance that her skin was badly inflamed in several places.

I soon learned that in de-ticking the animal the Singhalese had used too strong a solution of a powerful disinfectant used extensively in the East. They had employed a mixture strong enough to remove the hide along with the ticks.

The damage done was not serious, but the searing liquid had given The Patsy a severe burning and she was in considerable pain. That elephant simply had no luck.

I bought The Patsy for 2,000 rupees ($720), hoping a change of ownership would change her luck. Three of four days later the entire outer surface of her skin started peeling off, a process involving more pain and discomfort. All over her body and legs and trunk, great patches of peeling skin were curled up ready to drop off. She was pretty much in the predicament of a person who has suffered a severe sunburn.

When the rolls of burned skin finally separated themselves from the under surface of the thick hide, they left the animal a little lighter in color. For about a week she was sore all over.

MORE BAD LUCK

I got The Patsy back to Colombo without mishap. There I found that one of the Blue Funnel boats was due to leave for Calcutta the next day; so I engaged passage for myself, a Singhalese assistant and my live stock. But when the boat came in she had a heavy load of deck cargo and the captain refused to add my freight to it, mainly on account of the elephant, which would take too much room, he said.

This was a tough break all around—but mainly for The Patsy. After an overnight train and ferry crossing from Colombo to the India side, we would entrain at Talaimannar. The trip by rail from there to Calcutta involves three days of the hottest, most uncomfortable riding imaginable, during which time The Patsy would be tied up, one hind leg and one front leg lashed to the sides of an all-metal freight car made sizzling hot during the day by the tropical sun. Had we been able to go by boat the elephant would have had far more comfortable quarters and easier riding. (Lucky indeed is the man or beast who can escape a trip on one of these perpetually jolting Indian trains, run by native engineers who seem to enjoy throwing on their brakes with all possible suddenness.) The Patsy was in for all manner of jouncing and jarring.

STOCKS UNDER TUESDAY'S CLOSING

Industrial and corporate news appearing over yesterday's market holiday indicated further improvement in spots, but was evidently not sufficiently convincing to provide a basis for further advances. By the fourth hour, many issues were 1 to 5 points under Tuesday's close.

An early development in the trading was the renewal of call loans at 1 per cent for the first time in more than a year. There had been "outside" offerings of call money at substantial concessions from the official rate of 2 per cent for some time. In some quarters, it was pointed out that the cut in money rates might be followed by a reduction in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate of 2½ per cent.

Stocks and principal commodities again reacted upon each other, with wheat and cotton selling off. A checking to the recent advances in general commodity price levels appeared in the weekly general wholesale price average of the Bureau of Labor statistics, which sagged 8-10 of 1 per cent for the week ended October 8. Some credit expansion theorists were inclined to attribute the checking of the sag in commodity prices in June to the Reserve System's pumping out of credit through open market purchases of government securities.

Individual reports of railroads on their freight car loadings for the past week were mildly encouraging, indicating that in the aggregate there was a further gain. Corporate news also included regular quarterly dividends by Woolworth and Continental Can.

BRITISH NEWS HITS WHEAT

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Grain prices tended downward early today, influenced by news of acceptance of British tariff preference by Canada. A lowering of British exchange rates was also construed as bearish. Opening ⅛ to ⅝ lower, wheat afterward held near the initial limits. Corn started ⅛ to ½ off and subsequently sagged further.

Corn and oats declined with wheat and as a result of liberal receipts of corn here. Provisions were responsive to upturns in hog values.

COTTON SALES TOP OUTPUT

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The Association of Cotton Textile Merchants reports sales of carded cotton cloths for September at 292,410,000 yards, or 102.6 per cent of the month's production.

Production amounted to 284,956,000 yards, or an average weekly rate of 56,991,000 yards for the five-week period. Billings were 334,242,000 yards, or 117.3 per cent of production.

Unfilled orders at the end of September totaled 444,028,000 yards, a decrease of 41,832,000 yards, or 8.6 per cent from those on hand at the end of August. Stocks decreased 23.5 per cent during September to 160,121,000 yards, a new record low.

Northwestern Asks Tie Purchase Loan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—The Interstate Commerce Commission was asked today by the Chicago and Northwestern Railway to approve a loan of $1,000,000 from the Reconstruction Corporation for the purchase of crossties.

Average Farm Wage Lowest in 30 Years

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Farm wages were said today by the Department of Agriculture to be the lowest in 30 years.

With a country-wide average of $1.19 a day, it said wages run from 60 cents a day without board in South Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi, to $2.50 a day in Massachusetts.

Business Failures Show Further Drop

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Business insolvencies last week, as reported by Bradstreet's, fell to the lowest total since November, 1931. They numbered 438, compared with 467 in the preceding week and 514 in the corresponding period of 1931.

Jersey to Spend $20,000,000 on Properties

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey plans to spend approximately $20,000,000 in the period started September 1, and ending June 30, for maintenance and improvements to its plant and equipment in the United States, it was announced.

The announcement was made by S. B. Hunt, vice president and treasurer of the company, in response to an inquiry by A. W. Robertson, chairman of President Hoover's committee on industrial rehabilitation.

Coal Production Gains Under Seasonable Influences

—By GEORGE H. SNYDER—

BITUMINOUS COAL production has increased sharply during the past month. Pittsburgh Coal Company, largest producer in this district, is operating two-thirds of its mines six days a week. This gives the organization a production of 70 to 75 per cent of capacity. The operating schedule of this organization is representative of most producers in this as well as other districts.

In comparison to the low point for the depression reached in May and June, coal output has shown an expansion of about 65 per cent. This improvement has been far greater than the expansion of industry in general. The gain has resulted from a combination of factors.

During the summer industrial users and dealers supplying the domestic trade allowed stocks to drop to minimum levels. Practically no coal was moved to lake ports for shipment to the Northwest. Residential users delayed making purchasers until they were actually faced with cold weather and empty bins. All these factors built up an acumulation of demand which is coming on to the market this month.

Rate to Continue For Several Weeks

COAL MEN expect the present rate of activity to continue at least for four or five weeks. After that time lake navigation will be impossible and that market will be eliminated. Output will then be dependent on weather conditions and the rate of general industrial activity.

At present the greatest demand is for lump coal which goes to residential users. The increase in industrial demand has been slight although the increased rail traffic has resulted in some extra buying by the steam lines. The failure of industrial buying to keep pace with domestic demand has created a problem for producers in finding a market for their slack. This is made particularly acute in this district by recent changes in freight rates which have cut off industrial markets in Ohio from a large share of the Pittsburgh mines.

Prices Continue At Low Points

IN SPITE OF the revival in demand, prices continue at low levels. Lump is quoted at $1.40 to $1.50 at the mines, with some distress tonnage moving as low as $1.35. Slack has been sold as low as 25 cents a ton.

Coal miners are enjoying more working time at present than at any previous period this year, but their rates of pay are extremely low. Mine operators have been passing the burden of falling prices on to labor in the form of reduced scales. As a result, common labor is getting about $3.10 a day at most mines. Loaders are paid 35 cents a ton, which means that a large share of the miners average only $2.50 a day.

LONE STAR GAS RATE UPHELD

The Lone Star Gas Company has scored in its rate contest in the State of Oklahoma, the rate hearings on Lone Star Gas Company rates throughout the state having been postponed indefinitely. It is learned also that the injunction against Lone Star in Guthrie, Okla., has been dissolved and the company is now operating in that city with a legally voted franchise. The people voted a franchise for Lone Star, but an injunction stopped it. This injunction has now been dissolved.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 13.—The Mayor of this city, the city attorney and the city manager announced to the City Council that it is utterly impossible to proceed to acquire the plants in the city of the Lone Star Gas Company. The acquisition was proposed originally under plan for municipal ownership.

Coca-Cola Suits Again Dismissed

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Four damage suits against the Coca-Cola Company for a total of $10,000,000 were dismissed Tuesday in Supreme Court. The plaintiffs received permission for the second time to file amended complaints.

The plaintiffs are the Pepsi-Cola Company, Loft, Inc.; Happiness Candy Stores, Inc., and the Mirror, Inc. Justice Albert Cohn dismissed the suits this summer, giving permission to amend, and Justice Peter A. Hatting did the same Tuesday.

More Cottonseed Reported Crushed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Cottonseed crushed in the two-month period, August 1 to September 30, was reported today by the Census Bureau to have aggregated 721,840 tons, compared with 508,896 tons in the same period a year ago, and cottonseed on hand at mills September 30 was 666,877 tons, compared with 482,641 tons a year ago.

Month's Building Upturn First Since 1930

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—An increase of 10 per cent in building permits in September over the previous month was reported today by Bradstreet's.

The total value of permits issued in 215 cities amounted to $30,437,268 compared with $27,565,795 in August and $79,589,466 in September, 1931. This is the first advance since November, 1930.

The agency comments that the advance is extremely encouraging and taken in conjunction with the confidence now expressed in other industries indicates that this improvement is being sustained.

G-E POWER PLANT

In line with modernization, General Electric Company is pushing the construction of its big power plant at Schenectady, which will cost $4,000,000. The plant probably will be ready for operation next spring. This station will place the company in a more favorable position to compete for business in the future, the company says. The electrical output of the power plant will be fed into the commercial system of the New York Power and Light Corporation, while the steam output will be used in the Schenectady plant of the General Electric Company. According to the estimates of the engineers, the plant will produce steam and kilowatt hours of energy at a cost lower than has ever before been attained.

ARUNDEL GETS CONTRACT

The Arundel Corporation has been awarded two contracts by the United States government involving approximately $1,300,000. One calls for 3,625,000 yards of dredging of the intercostal waterways from Jacksonville to Miami, Fla., at a cost of about $1,000,000, and the other for the Craighill cut-off in Baltimore to the extent of 2,500,000 yards at $300,000.

SMALL VIRGINIA TOBACCO CROP

The total Virginia tobacco crop this year will be approximately 58 per cent of the 1931 crop and will be the smallest in more than 50 years, according to the State Commissioner of Agriculture. The indicated crop for the state is 56,648,000 pounds, which is slightly lower than an earlier forecast made in August.

LOCAL MARKET QUIET AND NARROW

A few sales of Lone Star Gas were chalked up in the early dealings at figures approximating the previous close. Other fuels were dull and unchanged.

The industrial section was also quiet with a few scattered transactions comprising the forenoon business. Local issues continued to ignore the movement of prices on the "big board." The New York list was steady at the start, but offerings came in later which had the effect of forcing prices moderately lower. Fair support was evident in most cases, however, and the market maintained an orderly tone.

COTTON PRICES WEAK, DOWN

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Cotton futures opened steady, 2@7 lower under Southern selling promoted by more favorable weather. October, 6.63; December, 6.70; January, 6.69; March, 6.80; May, 6.88; July, 6.96.

A moderate accumulation of southern selling orders over the holiday and scattering liquidation sent December off to 6.60, the general list showing net losses of about 9 to 10 points. Trading was quiet at the end of the first half hour, however, and prices showed rallies of 2 or 3 points from the lowest on covering and trade buying.

Sufficient trade buying and covering developed on the early decline to cause rallies of 3 or 4 points, but they were not maintained and the market later in the morning was quiet with prices working off to 6.54 for December or about 15 to 17 points net lower.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 13.—Cotton, 2,000 bales, American nil. Spot, demand fair; prices five points lower; quotations in pence: American, strict good middling, 6.34; good middling, 6.09; strict middling, 5.84; middling, 5.64; strict low middling, 5.54; low middling, 5.39; strict good ordinary, 5.19; good ordinary, 4.89. Futures closed barely steady. October, 5.30; December, 5.26; January, 5.25; March, 5.25; May, 5.27; July, 5.27.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Raw sugar gained another 2 points early today. Futures opened at advances of 11 points on all positions in response to the continued firmness of the spot market and the favorable London cables. Trading was principally in the December and January positions, with little interest in the more distant positions. Refined sugar was unchanged at 4.15 for fine granulated, with a moderate inquiry reported.

BUSINESS PACE ABOVE SUMMER MINIMUM

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Business is still moving in low gear, though it has accelerated its speed somewhat above the midsummer minimum rate.

Contending that appetite and strength are returning, the Wedge, house organ of an enterprising advertising agency, thinks that the country during the gradual revival which it sees ahead will indulge in selective spending. It points out:

Mr. Rukeyser

"It will be intelligent spending—resisting the lure of non-essential trifles so that you may afford worth-while things of 'intrinsic value.'"

Of course, the conception of what is essential and what is extravagant depends on the ideals and material resources of the individual. As the standard of living rises, the extravagances of yesteryear tend to become necessities today. In booms, the shift of standards is very rapid, and in depressions there is some retracing of steps.

OUTLOOK BRIGHTER

In Tulsa, Okla., it has been found feasible to feed indigent persons for 6 cents a day. Obviously, the cost of keeping metabolism going is less than what is needed to pay for what the average ambitious family aspires to.

Conceding this, the Wedge points out:

"Our civilization, such as it is, is built, not on human needs, but on human desires. On aspirations for better homes, cars, clothing and choicer food; on cravings for more comfort, pleasure, culture—for music, sport, escape from labor, time to read, theaters, travel; for key to a fuller life that is in education."

"Business, we believe, faces several years of steady, sober climbing. The country has lost its taste for excitement. Expenditures are based on the pay envelope, not on rosy illusions of a bag of gold at the rainbow end. The trade is apathetic toward jazzy ideals. Credit is no longer dreamy. Money is cash, not phantom wealth. A job is a job, not a stepping stone."

FARM PRICES IMPORTANT

The recent weakness in securities was foreshadowed by a reaction in grains. Likewise, in the second session of the week, a rally in wheat was followed by a partial recovery in stock prices. It will be recalled that the whole of the better feeling this summer started with a late spring upturn in the price of hogs. Speculators are on instinctively sound ground in paying attention to the agricultural situation, because the lack of buying power of 8,500,000 workers on the farms, who have been impoverished by prevailing low prices, has meant unemployment among factory workers in the city and continuing widespread economic distress.

Talking about new industries, expectation of a near-term modification of the Volstead act has induced 25 young men to enlist as students in the United States Brewers' Academy.

Apart from manipulation, there is an explanation of the contradictory moves at the stock exchange. When in recent weeks security prices were rising, traders and investors were looking primarily at the direction in which trade was moving. During periods of reaction, traders were focussing attention on the present low state of trade, despite mild improvement from the lowest point.

Canada Wheat Men To Request Bonus

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Representatives of the three prairie governments and officials of the Canadian wheat pools announced the federal government would be asked for a bonus on wheat production for the present year's crop.

The announcement came after a two-day conference, after which it was also decided to suggest to the Dominion government the advisability of calling a conference of representatives of governments and producers of the chief exporting countries to consider all phases of the wheat problem.

British Exports Lowest in Years

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—British exports for the month of September were valued at £26,228,666 (about $95,000,000) the lowest total recorded for many years, according to trade figures announced by the board of trade.

This amount is a reduction of £2,323,120 under August.

Imports for the month increased £953,838 over those of August and reached a total of £54,266,652, a decrease of £14,027,347 under September, 1931.

Air Express Feels Business Pickup

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The pickup in general business activity in the past few months has spread to the air express business, according to Lamotte T. Cohu, president of American Airways, Inc. He said jobbers and manufacturers had used this speedy form of transportation "to supply urgently needed goods for depleted retailers' stocks."

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The Curb Market today failed to continue its upswing of Tuesday. A few stocks managed to work a bit higher, but a weak tone characterized utility leaders and many other leading favorites.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list, 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Western Railroads' Carloadings Gain

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—A upturn in car loadings was reported yesterday by the Union Pacific Railroad system. Last week 16,530 cars were loaded as compared to 13,455 in the previous week, an increase of 23 per cent. The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy line reported an increase of eight per cent.

Bureau's Wholesale Price Index Lower

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—A decrease of 0.8 per cent occurred in the general wholesale average of all commodities during the week of October 8 when compared with the week ended October 1, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

R. F. C. TO AID GRAIN SALES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(INS.)—Directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation today confirmed reports of their adoption of a policy of financing exports of agricultural products whenever and wherever possible.

They are now engaged in a series of conferences with economists and lawyers, endeavoring to determine the practical and legal means of putting the policy into effect.

The proposed sale of 15,000,000 bushels of wheat to China is being discussed, the directors being anxious to make a loan for this purpose. In addition to this, it was said officially today, inquiries have come from a score of other countries, in the Orient, Europe and South America, seeking information on the financing of purchases from the United States of tobacco, rice, cotton, lard and livestock, in addition to wheat.

Gain in 'Katy's' Net Income Indicates Recovery In Southwest

The Texas lines of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad showed a net income in September for the first time for any month this year, according to J. F. Hickey, of St. Louis, executive representative of the M.-K.-T. now in Texas. While the amount was only $10,000, it is significant as indicating that business has taken an upturn in that territory, he declared. During the first four days of October volume of traffic on those lines was 4½ per cent greater than during the corresponding period in October, 1931, Mr. Hickey stated. Other Southwestern roads, notably the Atchison, have shown distinct improvement in traffic in recent weeks also.

More crude oil buyers fell in line today with the Midcontinent's upward price swing. The Empire Oil and Refining Company, and the Shell Oil Corporation announced they would meet the current advances Saturday. Empire will follow the 10 and 12 cents per barrel increases of the Sinclair-Prairie Oil Marketing Company. It buys throughout the area, except in Panhandle Texas. Shell will pay a $1.10 top in East Texas, as will the Sun Oil Company, first to announce higher prices. The Oklahoma top will be $1.12 per barrel.

The aggregate market value of bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange on October 1, amounting to $40,132,203,281, was a new high for the year, the official compilation disclosed. There was an increase of $59,363,945 in value during the month of September. The total on September 1, was $1,457,499,716 higher than on August 1, and $2,719,499,399 higher than on July 1. As of October 1, there were listed 1,578 bond issues, aggregating $51,780,423,888 in par value, as compared with 1,580 issues aggregating $51,419,183 on September 1.

Cuba's sugar production in 1933 probably will be restricted to 2,000,000 tons—perhaps less. A decree fixing the size of the crop will be given president Machado for signature as soon as the Dutch government ratifies export figures allotted at the recent conference at Brussels. Javanese producers already have agreed to Cuba's demand that she be allowed to export 1,000,000 tons to Europe next year, but their accord must be approved by the Dutch government. Production this year was about 2,700,000 tons.

Herbert F. Boynton, of F. S. Moseley & Co., chairman of the Moffat Tunnel supplemental bondholders' protective committee, said in a statement today that the controversy over the validity of the bonds "has proceeded a long way toward a successful conclusion." He pointed to the refusal of the United States Supreme Court to review the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals in upholding the bonds, and explained the matter is still pending before the Supreme Court of Colorado, but in the event of an adverse opinion by that court, the conflict between the federal and state courts would have to be reconciled. About $8,700,000 of the bonds are outstanding.

Electric output of North American Company subsidiaries has shown a progressive increase for each week since Labor Day as compared with a progressive decrease in the corresponding weeks last year, Frank L. Dame, chairman of the company, announced today. "While the output for the third quarter of 1932 was 14½ per cent less than for the third quarter of 1931," he said, "the continuous pickup in volume during the latter weeks of the quarter indicates improved industrial activity. For the nine months of this year the decline was 10 per cent."

Cleveland Cliffs Iron Mines Resume

ISHPEMING, Mich., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Plans for resuming operations on a two-day-a-week basis in all but one of the iron mines owned by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Company were announced here by William G. Mather, of Cleveland, president of the company. The mines, closed since June 1, will be reopened November 1.

Mather said 1,200 would be returned to work. Recognition of the need for employment rather than any marked improvement in the ore tradew as given by Mather as the reason for reopening.

DEMAND MONEY RATE DROPS

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(INS.)—Call money renewed at 1 per cent today for the first time since May 12, 1931, when it renewed at that rate. On Thursday last, the renewal rate was 2 per cent.

While the 2 per cent rate has long been recognized in the financial district as an artificial quotation, it has been maintained at that figure since early this year. In the outside market call money has been available at times as low as ½ of 1 per cent.

The lowering of the rate today indicates that the pegging arrangement inaugurated by the banks last May, when the money market was extremely weak, has broken down. At that time the clearing house banks in New York made a gentlemen's agreement to maintain the rate at not less than 1½ per cent.

It also represents the irresistible pressure of the large excess reserves which the New York banks have piled up in the past few months with the assistance of the Federal Reserve government bonds buying policy, and the abatement of hoarding.

Decline in the rates may also be considered a victory for the Reserve System program to drive money from the large centers such as New York, where there is a surplus, into the interior, where there is a shortage.

P.R.R., CENTRAL LOADINGS UP

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—Total loaded cars handled by the Pennsylvania Railroad system during the week ended October 8 amounted to 91,771 and compare with 89,897 handled in the preceding week and 116,242 in the corresponding week of 1931.

From January 1 to October 8 loaded cars handled totaled 3,434,067 against 4,743,989 in the corresponding period of 1931.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—For the week ended October 8 loadings on its own lines of the New York Central amounted to 41,166 revenue freight cars against 49,925 in the same week last year and 42,312 in the week ended October 1 this year.

Total loadings for the week of October 8 amounted to 95,561 cars against 94,036 in the preceding week and 111,945 in the similar week last year.

Rail Men to Discuss Credit Corporation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—R. H. Aishton, president of the American Railway Association, told newspapermen discussion of legislation to aid the railroads would be the primary topic at a meeting of the organization's advisory committee in Chicago tomorrow.

Asked if the group would discuss whether to continue the Railroad Credit Corporation after next March, Aishton said it was possible, but he did not consider that question likely to come up until the association's members meet in convention in New York November 10.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The Bond Market moved rather erratically today, obviously paying considerable attention to stocks. United States government department was a trifle irregular. A better tone was displayed by German government 5½s and 7s, French 7s and 7½s, British 6½s, Japanese 5½s and Brazilian 6½s.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

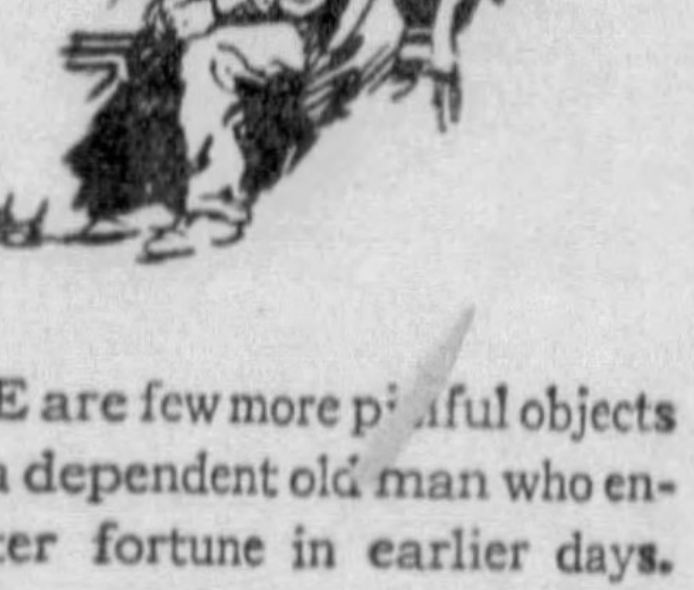
SUNSET YEARS



THERE are few more pitiful objects than a dependent old man who enjoyed better fortune in earlier days. Creating a trust fund with this company before earning powers are impaired insures against poverty in old age.

We are glad to discuss this plan with men who look forward to being independent in the sunset years.

News About Aunt Julia's Misfortune Increases Val's Unhappiness

CHAPTER XLVI.

"Whew!" Lester wiped his brow. "What a break to run into that! Now I do need a drink. Do you suppose we could double back to the bar, or would they join us?"

"No, let's not. Please—"

"All right. We'll go out instead, I need air, too. You say that's your mother-in-law?"

Synopsis

Now Go On

"No? That's good. Thank God for that. But you can't fool me, Val. I know. I know you aren't happy. I knew long ago, from what Marjorie told me, or didn't tell me. No, no, she hasn't gossiped. I'm just psychic where you're concerned, and so I hope . . . Oh, Val, don't pull away—don't cry, darling—"

"Don't say anything," she begged. "Please don't — not now—"

"You're not going to let a little thing like that spoil a whole evening!"

"A little thing! But you don't understand, Les. It's a very big thing. She said my Aunt Julia had lost her home. My aunt, that took care of me all my life. I can't understand it. Aunt Julia never said anything to me about it. I can't imagine how—oh, Lester, I'm so worried—"

"Don't worry about it now. Your aunt's all right. I wouldn't believe the old party anyhow—typical gossip. Besides, all kinds of people are losing their homes, so what of it? Forget it for tonight. Please. You've just got me to think of tonight . . . Val, look at me? This is a night of love. Perhaps it is tonight or never. Perhaps after tonight you'll never see me again—"

"Don't say that. I couldn't bear it. To lose you again—"

YIELDS TO LESTER

In her mind sadness, bitter and sweet, settled like a pall. Aunt Julia . . . her mother and that boy in Los Angeles . . . Joe, back in Minnesota, probably working too hard, probably letting that Pearl Neely make love to him . . . not that it made any difference . . .

"Lester, I'm so lonely, so unhappy—"

"Darling!"

Unresisting she let him take her into his arms, kiss her hair, her lips, her throat. Her soft dark hair slipped from its knot, cascaded over her shoulders. Her face burned, his tense arms crushed her body.

* * *

"Makes me sick," Marjorie scolded. "As if it didn't cost enough to come here, Frank has to play roulette, to try to make them think he's a big shot in the movies or something. And lose everything but 25 cents. If they'd accept two-bit pieces he'd have lost that!"

"Aw, Marj—you were crazy to play, yourself!"

"And if I had we might have won something. I kept telling you 13 on the red, but would you play it? No. And it came twice!"

WORRIES ABOUT AUNT

"Yeh, and if you hadn't spent the 25 bucks I was counting on your having in your purse, we'd have come out all right. How did I know you were going to blow the whole wad on French perfume?"

"How did I know you'd lose every cent we had? Val, I hate to ask you, but have you got any money? Otherwise we'll have to telegraph somebody—"

Val did a little lightning calculating. "I can pay it. Let me pay for us all anyway. My treat—you've been so nice to me."

"Nerts. But I will be obliged to borrow from you, Val. Say, you and Les didn't patronize that bar much, did you?"

"Yes, where were you? We didn't see you in the Casino, and when I finally dragged Frank upstairs it was pretty near 2 o'clock and you weren't in your room yet!"

"I know it was late. We walked miles. I was so unhappy—"

"UNHAPPY! I thought you were so delighted to see him!"

"I was! I am! But—oh it would take so long to tell it. I'm worried about Aunt Julia. Something Joe's mother told me. She's here. We bumped into her last night, and—"

"WHAT?"

"Yes. She's had her hair hennaed or something, too. It used to be blonde, you know, and I suppose it was getting grey. So now it's salmon pink. She's a sight. Really, she—"

MATCH MAKER

"But, hon, who'd MARRY her?"

"I don't know. Its name is Hotchkiss, or something like that. I don't know what Joe will say . . . unless he knew it already, and never told me—"

Marjorie and Frank exchanged glances.

"You know, hon, I've always wondered why you didn't marry Lester instead of Joe. Frank and I watched you dancing together last night, and I said to Frank—"

"Don't be a sil," Frank said. "Don't pay any attention to her, Val. She's always making matches, and then trying to bust them up so's she can make new ones."

"Val, I don't!"

She rose, and Marjorie, tucking a last crumb of bread into her mouth, struggled to follow.

"When are you going to see him again?" she asked. "Lunch time? You look wonderful in that sport silk, Val! Why it's all hand made, isn't it? How swell!"

"It's one Millie had. She gave me a dozen at least. She had them, and she hates sport things. You can have some of them if you want. I'll never wear them all out."

"Hon! But oh, gee, now I'll have to make up something for Frank—he's so funny about some things. He'd never let me take them if he knew. But we can say I found them at a bargain in Hamstein's basement or some place. Gee, I'm sick of being poor and never having anything like I used to have! He won't even let ma send me clothes. Makes me sick. You know, I think we were both fools to marry so young, Val. A girl is an awful sil to marry young, don't you think?"

"If you're miserable," she said, "I must be tragic."

Val, pale, with her dark lashed eyelids heavy, and circles of weariness under her eyes, smiled faintly. "You were young. I was pretty near 21. That isn't young."

"I'm still a fool! I—I don't even know what I want. I'm in love with Les, and I'm still worried about Joe. I want to stay here, and I want to go back to my mother, because I'm worried about her. And I wired Aunt Julia last night, and I won't rest until I hear from her, and go back there to see for myself. Just when I really want to stay her with Les. I KNOW I'm a fool. But I can't help it. And oh, Marjie—I'm so miserable!"

Marjorie turned to wait for Frank, hurrying after them. Frank, with his vest unbuttoned, his coat flying, his hat tilted just the way she'd told him dozens and dozens of times NOT to tilt it. Frank, who wasn't anybody. Who'd never be anybody. Who gambled away a month's salary, and got maudlin drunk.

And then she let her eyes rest on Val. Val, married to a successful architect, loved by the best looking man she ever knew. Val, who looked like a fairy child, dressed in a princess' clothes . . .

"If you're miserable," she said, "I must be tragic!"

STOP COLDS QUICK
—in the Dry Stage!
A cold should be treated promptly the first 24 hours. This is why: A cold ordinarily passes through three stages. The Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. Once a cold gets beyond the first stage it is far more difficult to relieve.
Relief comes quickly if you take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine immediately — because this cold remedy does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels—kills the cold germs and fever in the system — relieves the headache and grippy feeling—tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.
No worry about what you're taking when you take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. It contains no narcotics and produces no bad after-effects. Does not upset the stomach or make the head ring. For years Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine has been the stand-by of thousands in the treatment of colds and grippe. You're playing safe when you take this famous cold tablet! Every drug store in America sells Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Handy, pocket-size box, cellophane-wrapped.

Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Uses the Strategy of a General

"It's like fairyland, Phil!" Mrs. Arlen clasped her hands a bit theatrically, and looked back at Philip Veritzen as we entered our living room, which, with the dining room adjoining, we had transformed into a forest glade for our dinner-dance in her honor and that of her daughter.

Her eyes were shining and I saw that she was excessively gratified at my social gesture in her honor. She probably was unaware that Philip Veritzen had asked me to give some entertainment for her, and the naive, childish simplicity of her pleasure warmed my heart. She was not to blame, I told myself, for her daughter's egotism.

From his place beside me—Dicky had escorted Mrs. Arlen into the room, leading the way for the rest of us—Philip Veritzen smiled back at her indulgently.

"Do you feel like Queen Mab, Fanny?" he asked.

She pouted childishly. "I'm Millicent tonight," she said, and I suddenly recalled a puzzle that had occupied my mind when I first met her.

"Which is her name?" I asked softly, as Mrs. Arlen turned back to Dicky. "Sometimes you call her Fanny, and sometimes Millicent."

"Millicent is her real name," he said. "Fanny is a nickname used much by her intimates. It dates from her schooldays, I believe. But that is trivial. How can I ever express to you my gratitude, my pleasure—for all this." He waved an expressive hand to the room. "I never expected anything like this when I asked you to do something socially for Mrs. Arlen. This is too much!"

GUESTS SEATED

"Indeed it is not," I said heartily. "I am so glad you like it, and that she is so evidently pleased. But shall we take our seats? I imagine our young people will be anxious to dance."

"And the older ones also, in this setting," Mr. Veritzen said gallantly, as we moved to our table at the head of the room.

I carefully had arranged place cards at each table. Lee Chow had asked to be seated in an inconspicuous place, so that he could go back to The Larches if he did not feel equal to staying the entire evening. As I knew that my father and my mother-in-law would not stay for all our festivities, I had seated him with them, at a table with a good view of the whole room, but near the door, so that they could slip away at any time.

At my own table I had placed Katherine and Sam Brixton; at Dicky's Helena Brixton and Hugh Grantland. A fourth table was occupied by Harry with Edith Fairfax, and Lillian with Dr. Jim Paige.

Purposely I had given Charles Owen a place with the younger group, but I had made him an extra man, as were Hank and Bob Trevellan. Bob had relinquished Carolyn temporarily, at my request, to the escort of one of his Yale cronies, he making a fifth, however, at her table.

WATCHES PROCEEDINGS

I had arranged that the older people should have tables on one side of the room, and I had placed Charles Owen with Marion; Bill, another Whitney Hall girl and a cadet directly opposite mine Ronald and Mary with two other young people, innocuous as far as drama went, were at the next table on one side, while at the other I had placed Noel and Avis with Carolyn, Bob Trevellan and his friend.

The rest were grouped indiscriminately. They were already acquainted after five minutes, and as I touched a hidden bell under my table, signaling Katie in the kitchen, I felt that the curtain was rising upon a drama which might prove to be a farce, comedy, or something more serious.

Bill and I had had a long talk the night before, and I had tried to explain to him, without hurting his boyish pride, that while he was taking Marion in to dinner—she owed the boy that for his unfaltering devotion during the summer — courtesy to Mr. Owen, who had no partner at the older tables, might impel her to give the first dance to the older man.

Bill had been gallant, though hurt a bit, I knew, and had promised me to yield the point gracefully if it came up. But I kept my eyes steadily upon that table as the first strains of the orchestra sounded just after the first course, an array of delicate hors d'oeuvres, had been served. What would Marion do?

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Ann Helfgott, "Official Junior Reporter" of the Enright Chapter, who has a great time each Saturday morning at the meetings gathering "news" about the members and their activities, sends in the following:

After spending the summer in the mountains and sleeping out-doors, Jane Fisher reports that her appetite has increased two-fold, but she's trying to eliminate one meal a day. That is she is trying to go to bed without the usual bowl of crackers and milk.

Charles Ross just notified the members of the Enright Chapter that he has received another long letter from his "pal," Dick Powell, from way out there in Hollywood. All the members requested Charlie to say hello for them when he writes Dick.

Rosemary Yeager, sister of the chap that doesn't like ice cream or candy, hasn't the slightest idea of what she would like to be when she grows up. Any suggestions?

One question at a time, please—Little Ruth Pitler, age four and a half, professes to have the most brilliant mathematical mind in the club. Two and two are four—very simple for little Ruth.

Poor Broadway — Little Antoinette Martino has given up hope of ever having a dance team in the family, since sister Florence has decided to be a private secretary.

Perhaps no member of the dancing class missed Ruthie Miller so much as did Henriette Young. She was all dolled up in a new, pretty little brown dancing costume, and Miss Miller was home with a slight cold. However, Henriette, Miss Miller will be back this Saturday. Bring your new costume with you then.

Manager Bill Zeilor, has been away on his vacation for the last week, but he'll be back greeting the members when they attend the meeting this Saturday and he promises to tell them all about his vacation.

NEW MEMBERS

There has been plenty of activity in the Junior Komic Club the past two or three weeks and many new members have been enrolled. Here are just a few of the youngsters in the McKees Rocks section who joined the club in the past week:

Norma Henck, Betty Henck, Althea Beck, Susan Cuppa, Betty Kurtz, George Cuppa, Anna Cuppa, Mary Josephine Bednar, Margaret Sot, Helen Sot, Anna Yurko, Mary Stepanske, Helene Yurko, Joseph Stephanski, Stella Stepanski, Joseph Yurko, Dorothy Deley, Irene Deley, Catherine Deley, Helen Bednar, Andrew Bednar, Matilda Taus, Peggy Yurko, Josephine Yurko and Ann Louise Bednar.

George Brent, 857 Wood street, Wilkinsburg, won the balloon blowing contest at the Rowland Theater Saturday, and was awarded a large marble game. Betty Haslette, ever popular mistress of ceromonies, sang, "Just Couldn't Say Goodbye." Audrey Walters offered for the amusement and entertainment of the members a jungle dance.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAYS

South Hills—George Potter, Ralph Smith, Clara Tebbets, Marilyn Coltman, Elizabeth Rectenwald, Bob Kuech, Bud Benintend.

Belmar—Edgar Bennett, Regena McDemmott, Donny Kaylor, James Miller, Laverne Miller, Neil Prosser.

Manor—Eugene Ligman, Mary Hilliard.

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT

Another New Bridge

Completion of Boston Span Marks Another Step Forward in an Ambitious Program.

The opening of the new Boston Bridge over the Youghiogheny River today marks another accomplishment in fulfillment of the ambitious program of improvements adopted by Allegheny County shortly before the business recession set in.

It is one of four bridges authorized by the people when they gave their approval to the $43,000,000 bond issue. The other three are the McKees Rocks Bridge, first to be completed, and the West End-North Side and South Tenth Street spans, still under construction.

In view of the present temper of the people there is scant likelihood of the authorization of new public improvements of great cost during the next few years. The call is for retrenchment.

There is cause for satisfaction, accordingly, in the fact that the county committed itself to the building of the Boston Bridge and other sorely needed public works. If they had been put off for a year, the chances are they would have been put off for a number of years.

One Way of Finding Out

What Is Going On in the Schools Can Be Learned Through Parent-Teachers' Associations.

A great to do has been made over the visit of a North Side resident to the Perry High School on a tour of investigation. He is said to have represented himself as an agent of Senator James J. Coyne's committee which is investigating the cost of government in Allegheny County. Senator Coyne denies that he authorized the man to visit the school.

If the investigator misrepresented his authority or his purpose, or if he interfered with the work of the principal, teachers or pupils, his conduct, of course, was reprehensible. Otherwise, he is to be commended for being so much interested in the way the schools are run that he took the trouble to visit one. He says he had heard reports of inefficiency, but found conditions excellent.

Not enough citizens are interested in the management of the schools. Not enough would feel concern if they heard reports of inefficiency. Not enough visit the schools.

There is an unobjectionable way in which citizens can find out what is going on in the schools, and that is through membership in the Parent-Teachers' Association.

Tableland Visitors

Pittsburgh Has Much to Show Them, and They Have Much to Show Pittsburghers.

Under the auspices of the Allegheny Tableland Council of the Chamber of Commerce hundreds of visitors from the mountain region to the south and southeast—from Uniontown, Morgantown, Oakland, Md., and a dozen or more other towns—are in the city today for a three-day convention.

The visit of these neighbors is to be welcomed. It will prove to the advantage of the people of Pittsburgh to become better acquainted with the Tableland people, and they will profit by better acquaintance with the merchants, manufacturers and citizens in general of the city. Better trade relations should result from the convention.

Pittsburgh has much to show the visitors. They have much to show us. Exhibits from eight Tableland counties are on display in connection with the convention. The fair should be of considerable educational value, as well as entertaining.

Local Archeology

It Is Doubtful If Expenditure of Money Would Throw Fresh Light On the History of the Aborigines.

The skeletons of 49 ancient inhabitants of this region, unearthed from a hill in the Monongahela valley a few miles above Pittsburgh, have been sent to a state museum at Harrisburg. In this connection Donald A. Cadzow, an archeologist, is quoted as criticizing the Carnegie Museum for sending expeditions to distant states and foreign countries instead of spending the money on local archeological research.

It would be interesting to learn something more about the mysterious race of Mound Builders, but there is no assurance that the search would be worth the money that it would require.

The Carnegie Museum used some of its funds years ago in excavating an Indian mound at McKees Rocks. But the few bones and artifacts found revealed little or nothing that was not already known about the early aborigines, and we suspect that that is also true of the recent discoveries. On the other hand, the museum's paleontological expedition in Wyoming unearthed the remains of the diplodocus, a discovery of great interest and scientific importance, as is shown by the fact that all the great museums of the world have been glad to get replicas of it.

Here, then, we have a case in which an expedition to a distant state proved of greater scientific value than a piece of local archeological research work.

More Women in Prison

The Increase in the Number of Feminine Criminals is One of the Worst Effects of Hard Times

One of the shocking effects of the depression may be found in the quarterly report of the prison population of Pennsylvania. At the beginning of the present quarter there were 817 women in prison in this state, as against 702 a year ago.

This rise was caused by an increase in larceny and robbery cases involving women and can be attributed, in the opinion of Dr. B. L. Scott, director of the Bureau of Restoration, to unemployment.

There is consolation, however, in the fact that the general prison population of Pennsylvania, which had increased steadily since 1929, is now slightly lower than it was three months ago.

'I'll Get It on the Third Bounce!'

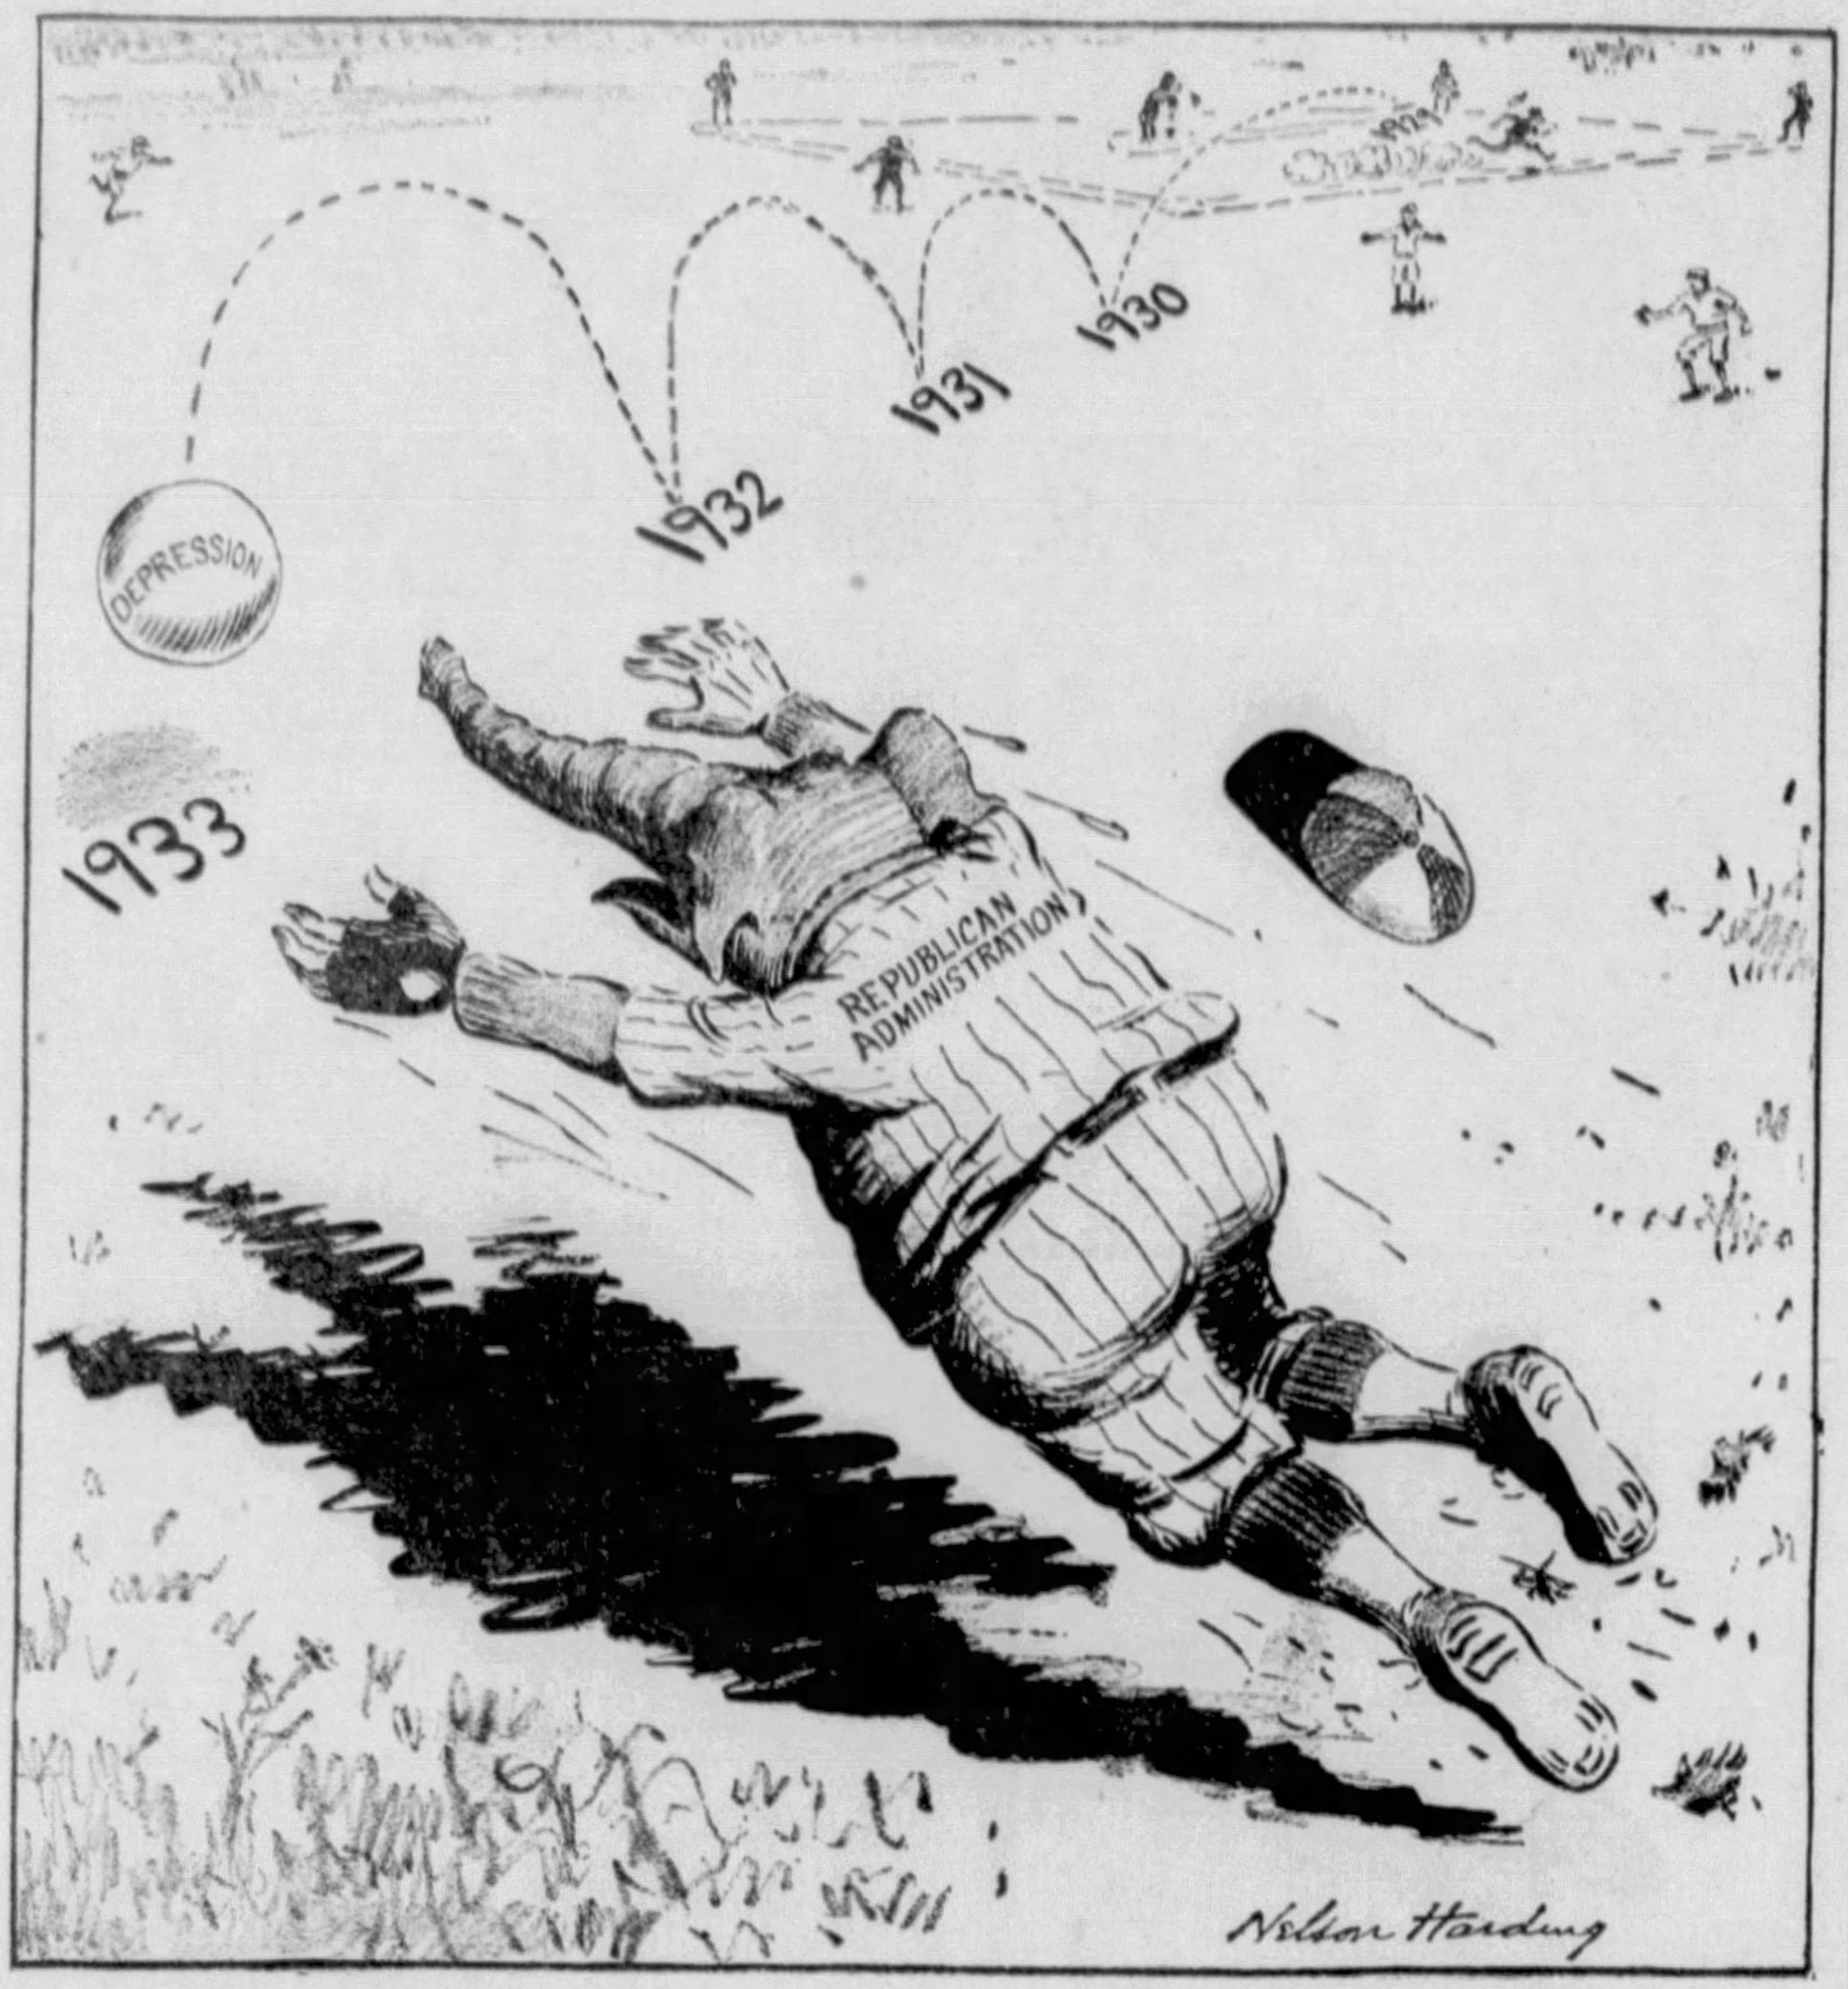
By Nelson Harding



The big star fielder just waked up
And makes a tardy try
To stop the ball although he might
Have caught it on the fly,

"I'll git it on a triple bounce!"
Sounds too much like the cry
Of one who lost a splendid chance

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Mixed Emotions

The first sign of love is a man's readiness to quarrel with you. As long as he's suave and agreeable, he may be only playing — but where there's strife, there's hope!

* * *

A happily married woman is one who has stopped worrying about the state of her husband's emotions and affections and begun worrying about the state of his gastric juice.

A kiss is like a midnight supper—something which one enjoys at night but often regrets the next morning.

* * *

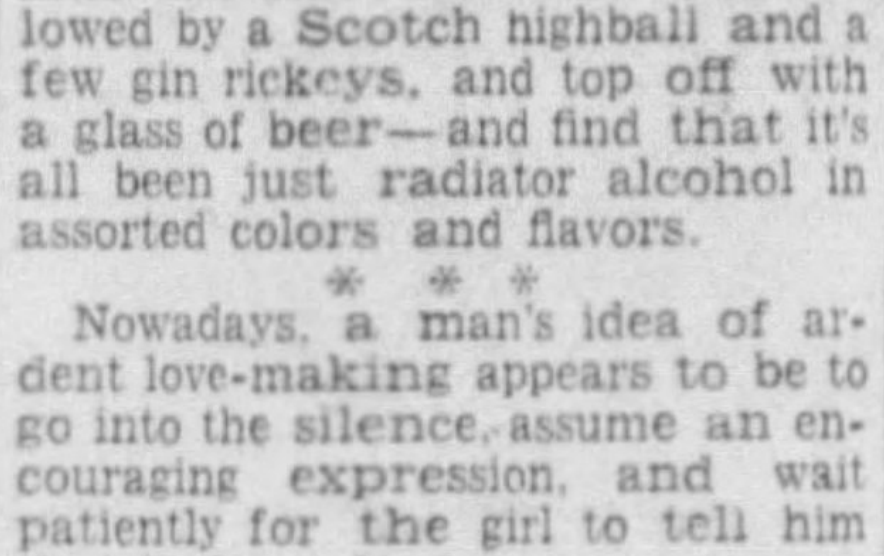
According to a Man-About-Town, there is no danger of "mixing your drinks" these days. A man can start off with rye, followed by a Scotch highball and a few gin rickeys, and top off with a glass of beer—and find that it's all been just radiator alcohol in assorted colors and flavors.

* * *

Nowadays, a man's idea of ardent love-making appears to be to go into the silence, assume an encouraging expression, and wait patiently for the girl to tell him that he loves her.

* * *

Now that women are beginning to regard marriage as a partnership rather than as a graft, a lot of men are beginning to look upon it as an asset rather than as a liability.



Of course, men made love with far more grace and ardor in the old pre-war days. But then, the wine was better, the music was sweeter and the women were harder to please.

* * *

* * *

In every friendship the two vital ingredients are loyalty and perfect understanding. Add tenderness—and you have love.

Isn't It So?

Gossip and tale bearers set on fire all the houses they enter.

A pessimist is a man who, when depression comes, pulls the hole in after him.

The difference between a statesman and a politician is that the former is working for the public, while the latter has the public working for him.

EUROPE DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

VENICE, Oct. 13.—Mention of a gondolier conjured in my thought a romantically erect Apollo, sashed in red, velveteen tam abaft, collar in a John Barrymore flair, gently tugging at a long oar and bursting at intervals into full-throated song. The picture is very ungondolierish.

The gondolier combines all the petty deceits of the lowest grade New York taxi driver, plus something dandy in local chicanery. He usually is filthy, rarely agreeable, and almost always a skinflint. Each one I have engaged appears bloated with grievance and given to surly muttering.

The Piazetta, known to natives as the Molo, is the biggest gondola stand, although one may engage them almost anywhere, in the manner of a taxi, by stepping to the canal edge and lifting a hand. But there is a bewildering custom of the gondolier you hail passing you on to another.

I'm not jerry to this whatever-it-is, but I know it is a phase of trickery. A jungle-like telegraphy races up and down the canals, and if a fare insists firmly upon hiring some favorite oarsman his name swings from gondola to gondola. And soon he glides to you out of nowhere.

No other class in Europe has such a pronounced passion for bicker. Their compelling urge in life is to be overpaid, and they usually are. Off duty, they spend time in the wine shops, where there never is sound of laughter, but instead raillery, abuse and high argument.

* * *

It is but fair to note, every gondola has its tariff posted plainly in several languages. But they take advantage of the fact few strangers notice this. The seasoned traveler goes by this price list, tips accordingly, and the gondolier offers no remonstrance. But he is uncanny in spotting the novitiate and takes every mean advantage of ignorance and timidity.

* * *

Even lower than the gondolier is the rampino—a discarded and venerable scaramouch who hooks the gondola to various steps. When a gondolier loses his agility he becomes a rampino—a beseeching moocher whose hat is always held out for a coin and whose lips await the butt of your cigar or cigaret.

* * *

But Venetians like their gondoliers, using the gondola as we use the ferryboat. Tourists have been over-paying and spoiling them for years. Natives pay exact fare, tipping never entering their thought. And slap them silly if they back talk.

* * *

Every gondolier is a wily capper for some local enterprise, shop, hotel or cafe from which he receives his "squeeze." Another specialty is drumming up trade for the glass blowers. At the glass works they start in trying to sell you a memorial window and usually wind up selling you a string of beads—with mutual expressions of esteem.

* * *

This afternoon, we visited a glass furnace at Murano—the hottest inferno I have graced, up to now. Perspiring wizards magically convert molten blobs into sparkling vases. It is an art I never saw before and is fascinating. They dip a hollow iron rod into a glowing mass and, with a series of twirls and breath blows, like an illusionist's passes, convert the liquid glass into incredibly fragile and symmetrical gadgets. All the time they chaff with each other. One indeed, in performing his convolutions, never removed a cigar from his lips.

* * *

Returning from Murano, we paused a moment where Byron likely halted before he lutanized:

I stood in Venice on the Bridge of Sighs,

But it was, for me, an unfertile Parnassus. No obscure jumble struggled to foliate in burnished lines. Instead, I filled with a disgust for Billy, who has become the parking place for all unemployed fleas in Venice. He trots a few steps, pivots on one hip and, with the dead pan vacuity of Stan Laurel and the bewildering blink of Charles Butterworth, tries to unloose the newest nest. He's readying himself for a swell canal ducking, by the way.

* * *

Floating home from an evening of opera-yelling with my wife, resigning ourselves to the imponderable influences of a Venetian night, the stark grandeur inspired me all of a sudden to let go a clear "O, sole mio!" Across the silvery expanse, an American voice jeered: "I'll be glad when you're dead, you rascal, you!"

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

"I have no reason for living," she whines.

"No, there's no particular tragedy, but somehow life never seems to have started, for me. I am 30, look 40 and feel like a corpse. I eat and grow fat. I sleep and wake up, but I wish I could sleep again.

"I am an utter failure. Sometimes I feel as if I were just wallowing in failure. I made a failure of my chosen work, and then married a failure for companionship's sake. He is one of those people who have only one purpose in life—to get drunk. And I guess I have only one purpose now, too —to get through life somehow, as soon as possible, without thinking.

"His relatives take care of me. They give me food and board. I have no friends, no ambition, no hope. The only thing I do well is sleep. Yet, sometimes, when I am forced to think, I rebel. I feel life hasn't treated me fair. Everyone should have some reason for living. Why shouldn't I?"

A strange letter? Not at all. The commonest of letters. All of us have known moods like that. Some of us have never known any other mood.

"No reason for living!" we whine, huddling in the wallow of our own laziness, ignorance, fear, discouragement and resentment.

AND AS FAR AS LIFE IS CONCERNED, WE CAN HUDDLE THERE UNTIL WE ROT!

IT IS UP TO THAT MAN TO SUPPLY HIS OWN REASONS.

AND IF HE WON'T SUPPLY THEM, IT IS JUST HIS BAD LUCK!

We are born with all the makings of adventure. We are born with curiosity and desire and the will to live burning within us, and a world filled with infinite beauty and wonder waiting without us. We are equipped to be part of our world, with bodies which are mechanical marvels and brains capable of producing any magic.

So then, what?

So then, it's up to us to get busy—to get busy and provide our own fireworks.

And, usually, we make a good start; embark eagerly on some adventure. Then comes our first failure, the first cruel shock of disappointment and like frightened, hurt, angry children we draw back. Refuse to play. Vow we'll never try again.

WE THINK LIFE WILL COME ALONG PRETTY SOON, AND KISS OUR BUMPS, AND TICKLE AND TEASE US UNTIL WE'RE EXCITED, AND COAX US BACK TO PLAY.

But Life doesn't. All around us Life booms and blazes on her triumphant way but she doesn't turn aside for us. She doesn't even look at our bumps and bruises; doesn't stop a second to coax or beguile.

Instead, she leaves us lying where we fell. If we don't want to get up, then we're the losers, not Life. She has made us ready. She has given us opportunity. If we don't want to play, that's our business, not Life's.

Gradually, it dawns upon us that this is so. We don't want to believe it. We pout and peeve. We try to put the blame on somebody else. We weep big wet tears of self-pity over ourselves. But it's all no use.

IF WE WANT TO LIVE, IT'S UP TO US. IF WE WON'T, THEN WE ALONE ARE THE LOSERS.

LIFE DOESN'T WASTE ANY TEARS OVER WHINERS AND WALLOWERS. SHE HAS NO USE FOR QUITTERS. SHE ONLY CRIES "GOOD RIDDANCE!" AND GOES ON HER TRIUMPHANT WAY.

HOOVER BOTCHES IT AGAIN

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

We have often commented in these columns upon the fact that almost every time Mr. Hoover, Mr. Mellon or Dr. Klein has given public assurance that prosperity was just around the corner, there has been a slump in the market the next day. Close observers of the value of Mr. Hoover's assurances have come to assume the opposite of what he says. Thus, in his Des Moines speech, he told us everything had been saved by his magic; and the next day the market suffered a slump.

It appears, however, that his demagogic claim that through some miracle of his the nation barely escaped going off the gold standard has had a disastrous effect. Senator Carter Glass, father of the Federal Reserve System, immediately challenged the presidential claim with the statement that the danger referred to by the President had not existed at all.

But the dollar again is being assailed in Europe—and because of the demagogic blunder of a desperate politician facing defeat in the White House. There is no other explanation offered anywhere for the fall of the dollar. The Paris press gives the Des Moines speech, so vociferously applauded by the organized claque immediately after its delivery, as responsible for the loss of confidence in the dollar abroad. Thus the Paris Midi says:

> "The President, seeking to restore confidence, seems somehow to accomplish the opposite result."

And La Liberte says:

> "What evils can result from an election! . . . President Hoover, to recover votes which seem on the point of escaping, is willing to sacrifice the dollar."

The dollar will withstand the storm raised against it by the demagogic utterance of Mr. Hoover, and the nation will not go off the gold standard, but the less Mr. Hoover says the sooner will confidence be restored. And the sooner we get rid of such inept leadership the better.

* * *

Yet Hoover Agreed To Spend 'Pork Barrel'

Meanwhile, Speaker Garner, who knows his business, continues to analyze the demagogic Des Moines speech with deadly effect. Mr. Hoover, taking his cue from the financial oligarchs he serves, described the Garner bill for public construction as a "pork barrel." We have already called attention to the fact that every building project included in that bill had been approved by the Hooover administration. But Speaker Garner's analysis goes deeper.

The purpose of the bill was to start something to give some of the 11,000,000 jobless men employment—for these millions, with their dependents, represent at least 33,000,000 people in dire distress. Mr. Hoover, in 1928, and again a few months before, had urged something of the sort. But Mr. Hoover, who bitterly has fought every project for the relief of unemployment and every suggestion of using federal money to prevent the starvation of children, changed his mind when action was substituted for words.

To secure the Hoover consent and escape the Hoover veto, the House framed a compromise measure described by Mr. Garner:

> "The Democrats in the House were obliged to force through, over Presidential opposition, an alternative proposal giving to the Secretary of the Treasury autocratic power to determine the extent to which money should be spent for public works, and to the Hoover administration the privilege of designating where these projects should be located."

In other words, the House, having relief and not politics in mind, passed to Mr. Hoover the distribution of the "pork." And that Mr. Hoover, who hates "pork barrels," accepted.

Not One Man Yet Put to Work

Thus the new game was in Hoover's hands, and he and Mr. Mills determined, with the autocratic power given them, to make no use of the powers granted them to give employment to desperate men. Months passed without a wheel being turned. Wagner denounced the cruelty, the inhumanity of this inactivity; he literally commuted between New York and Washington, making personal appeals. Mr. Mills smugly announced that maybe in October he would see what he could do. Meanwhile, with the third Hoover Winter of human misery hurrying on and public indignation rising, Mr. Hoover again reluctantly agreed to start something.

Hoover Spurned Business-like Plan

What is the difference between the Garner and the Hoover plans? They are identical in their elementals. They both contemplate public construction on postoffices and other public buildings—and to that extent both are "pork." They differ in that the Garner plan called for more work and more jobs for the jobless than the Hoover plan.

But there is another difference that business men will note—for all the demagogic attacks on the Democratic plan are addressed to them. Here is one difference:

> "The Democratic Congress arranged for payment of interest and amortization charges for its entire public works program through a tax of one-quarter of a cent on gasoline, while the Republicans will blandly take money out of the Treasury to pay for theirs."

Honor bright, Mr. Businessman, which is the business-like plan? We have our deficit in the Treasury, and common business sense would seem to indicate that instead of increasing the deficit we pay for these projects by a special tax. What do you think about it? Which is the business-like and which the sloven plan?

* * *

Cost Restrictions Are Ignored

But there is another difference. Mr. Hoover complained of the Democratic bill that it built expensive postoffices in small towns. The bill actually provided, as Speaker Garner says:

> "That not more than $35,000 should be expended for a postoffice in any city with annual postal receipts between $8,000 and $10,000 and not more than $100,000 in a city with receipts between $10,000 and $20,000."

Well, what has Mr. Hoover who so hates a "pork barrel," provided in his plan? Mr. Mills in his statement says:

> "As over 60 per cent are in cities of less than 5,000 population, and several are in towns of less than 2,000, the authorization would indicate that the administration has no desire to be hampered by cost restrictions such as the Democrat proposed."

* * *

Hoover Acts Force People to a Change

The plain truth is that he fought every measure for relief; he clamored for almost three years that to supplement the needs of private charity and local communities to prevent starvation with federal money would be a "dole;" and when it was proposed to put men to work on public construction, he called it a "pork barrel." He succumbed to both, to a very limited extent under the lash of an aroused public conscience; and now asks to be crowned with the laurel for the ungraciousness of his surrender.

The fact is Mr. Hoover from the beginning has treated the jobless victims of the stupidities of his administration as potential public enemies; and that is one of many reasons the people are all set for a change.
